HOOVER PREDICTS SURPLUS AS TAX REVENUE PILES UP

Says Payments Dissipate Fears of Corporate-Income Curtailment; Economy Urged on Congress

WASHINGTON, April 4. (AP)—Giving assurance of Treasury surpluses for both this fiscal year and next, President Hoover in a statement today warned that the margin depends upon the "most rigid economy" by Congress and the executive departments.

Mr. Hoover reported that the first installment of income-tax collections for this year shows that "the unfavorable developments of last fall did not affect individual incomes to the extent that many had feared," nor prevent corporations "from reporting for tax purposes a net income substantially in excess of that reported for the calendar year 1928."

The President said the government should be able to finish this fiscal year, ending June 30, "with a very moderate surplus." Careful treasury estimates, he added, indicate a margin of $47,000,000 to be used for the next fiscal year.

However, the President said, Congress already "has imposed a burden of additional expenditures amounting to $30,000,000 during the present fiscal year," which would come out of the $47,000,000 surplus. He said that the "major difficulty" next year arises from legislative legislation already favorably reported by Congressional committees which entails "an additional burden of nearly $300,000,000 in the next fiscal year." This, he said, would "inevitably result in a deficit."

Mr. Hoover's warning to Congress that some of the legislation which he said must be shut off in order to avoid what he fears may end in a deficit.

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

The text of the President's statement follows:

"The information upon the income tax collections for the month of March is not sufficiently advanced to estimate their effect upon the revenue for the current year. As a matter of fact they furnish a close measure of the collections may be expected from this source in the calendar year. The result is most gratifying.

"They indicate that the unfavorable developments of last fall did not affect individual incomes to the extent that many had feared or did they prevent the corporations of the country from reporting for tax purposes a net income substantially in excess of that reported for the calendar year 1928.

"The figures indicate that the collections from individual taxpayers, after the tax-reduction factor, will be somewhat less than collections during the calendar year 1929, but not substantially in excess of collections during the calendar year 1928. So far as corporations are concerned, income taxes paid during the calendar year 1930 will apparently not fall short of collections for the calendar year 1929, notwithstanding a $60,000,000 reduction [illegible] lowering of the rate from 12 per cent to 11 per cent.

ACCURATE ESTIMATES

"The Treasury seems to have estimated income-tax collection for the fiscal year 1930 with remarkable accuracy, and it is apparent that the reduction enacted by Congress was fully justified.

"The figures submitted in the budget message estimated income-

A. W. Mooney of Kansas on Way Across Nation After Secret Take-off Here

Craft Believed Seen Over Albuquerque Headed for Shores of Atlantic

WICHITA (Kan.) April 5. (Saturday) (AP)—Airport attendants here reported that A. M. Mooney, Wichita aircraft manufacturer who is attempting a transcontinental nonstop flight in a monoplane of his own design, passed over the airport here at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

The small plane circled the airport after coming down to an altitude of 200 feet, and then headed northeast.

With the casual remark that "I may as well get going now," A. W. Mooney, Wichita (Kan.) pilot and airplane builder, climbed into his little cabin monoplane at United Airport here yesterday and took to the air at 8:43:37 a.m. headed for Roosevelt Field, New York, on a daring unheralded nonstop flight attempt of 2446 miles.

The first word of Mooney's progress was received at the Kinner Motor Company in Glendale, manufacturers of the 100-horsepower engine on Mooney's ship, from Albuquerque, N. M. The Kinner message stated that a low-winged monoplane believed to have been Mooney's passed over there at 11 a.m.

Mooney expected to make the long solo hop in twenty-five hours, but the 186 gallons of gasoline carried in specially constructed tanks in the passenger compartment would keep him aloft for thirty hours, he estimated.

Absolute secrecy was desired by Mooney. He came to the Kinner plant three days ago from Wichita and requested that a mechanic look

Mishap in East Takes Lives of T. Worden Hunter and R. W. McAllister

Trimotor Ship Preparing to Land When it Carries Angelenos to Doom

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) April 4. (AP)—Plunging to a fiery landing behind a hill near here, a Bach trimotored monoplane tonight carried to their death T. Worden Hunter, president of the Bach Aircraft Company, and R. W. McAllister, pilot, both of Los Angeles.

The craft had just appeared over the field at the end of a flight from Bethany, Ct.

Field attendants who rushed to the rescue drew forth the two charred bodies only after flames had reduced the plane to a mass of cinders and twisted bits of metal. Terrific heat forced them to stand idle spectators until the flames subsided sufficiently to permit them to approach.

SUDDEN PLUNGE

Witnesses saw the plane circle over the field in order to make a landing into the wind, which was rough. Flying over the plant of the Texas Company, in Garden City, the ship suddenly plunged from a height of 200 feet.

Employees of the Texas Company, with hand extinguishers, were the first to reach the scene. But the blistering heat of the fire prevented them from attempting any move to save the men, who occupied the two pilots' seats of the craft. Only the three motors of the plane were spared distortion or destruction by the flames.

Hunter and McAllister, on a business tour of the country, arrived here last Wednesday in their plane, one of the standard trimotored ships of the Bach company. The plane, although in use on several Pacific Coast air lines, was something of a novelty in the East. The ship differs from other trimotored models in that it is made of wood, with a metal framework, while the others are of all - metal construction.

INQUIRY STARTED

Yesterday the two men flew the plane to Bettany, Ct., and were on their way back to Roosevelt Field when the crash occurred. They had planned to leave tomorrow with six passengers for Detroit to attend the air show there. After attending the show and visiting Hunter's parents, who are residents of Detroit, they had planned to fly back to Los Angeles.

George Gardner, Department of Commerce Inspector, and E. A. Cuttrell of Washington, assistant chief of the aeronautical division of the Department of Commerce, immediately started an investigation.

VARIOUS THEORIES

Among the pilots at the field who listened to the evidence of the witnesses of the last few minutes of the ill-fated flight several theories were put forth. The impression that a wing collapsed was said to be an optical illusion on the part of the witnesses. Most of the pilots agree that from the position of the plane and the circumstances under which the crash occurred that the plane was making its last turn preparatory to heading upwind for a landing. With its motors throttled the pilot evidently pulled his turn too hard, causing excess resistance and stalling the plane with its wings at an oblique angle. With the nose of the plane heavier than the rest and with no flying speed to support its weight or slip-stream of air to exert pressure on the control sur-

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, April 4. [To the Editor of The Times:] At a dinner one night at Ambassador Dawes's, I told the Japanese delegate, "Admiral Takahari, I want to shake hands with you. I am going home and in a few months I want to tell everybody I shook hands with the winner."

Japan came to the conference demanding a higher rating. Yesterday she got it. They could have given it to her the first day and saved all this board bill; I have said all the time that if anything was done at London it would be on battleships, and not on cruisers (the thing they went there to settle on.)

You see, England on account of her dozens of coaling stations don't need battleships, and neither does Japan, they want cruisers, so they agree to limit something that they don't want, but we do.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

WARNER TO MAKE IOWA DEAL TODAY

Brunswick Plant Being Bought for $10,000,000 as Talkie Distributing Hub

DUBUQUE (Iowa) April 4. (AP)—Papers are expected to be signed tomorrow in Chicago completing the sale of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company's plant here to the Warner Brothers Corporation, motion-picture producers, it was announced here today by company officials. The transfer will involve $10,000,000.

Warner Brothers plan to make their Dubuque outlay the central plant in the country, which will be the distributing center for the sound pictures made by the company. All of the pictures filmed in New York and on the west coast will be shipped here for synchronizing purposes.

Dubuque was selected for the Warner site because of its central location and excellent rail-and-water transportation facilities.

The deal will involve Brunswick plants in cities other than Dubuque, Brunswick officials said today.

The manufacture of Brunswick phonographs and radio cabinets will be continued at the Dubuque plant and all present employees will be retained. Expansion plans call for an eventual employment of 3000 more men.

Singer Missing on Liner Trip

SAN DIEGO, April 4. (AP)—A woman identified as Miss Helen Irene Fink, 35 years of age, an opera singer, disappeared from the Panama-Pacific liner Virginia last Wednesday night while the ship was 300 miles south of San Diego on its way from New York to Pacific ports. She is believed to have jumped overboard and drowned.

Report of the disappearance was made by Capt. James E. Roberts, master of the Virginia, on its arrival in port here today.

WINSLOW WARREN DIES

DEDHAM (Mass.) April 4. (AP)—Winslow Warren, 92 years of age, lawyer and for twenty-five years president-general of the Society of Cincinnati, is dead here. His son, Charles Warren, is an assistant Attorney-General at Washington.

Woman's Fear of Murder Reveals Death by Poison

DAYTONA BEACH (Fla.) April 4. (AP)—A woman's expressed fear of murder was responsible today for the revelation that there were traces of poison in the viscera of Mrs. Rosa A. Stone, who died here February 18, last, under unusual circumstances.

Not long before her death Mrs. Stone wrote to an undertaker saying she feared she might be murdered, and directing that an autopsy be conducted in the event she died suddenly.

An investigation of the death was begun when Mrs. Stone's will, leaving an estate valued at approximately $100,000 to her servants, was being probated.

Rain Working Its Way Down Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4. (Exclusive)—A storm which formed Thursday off British Columbia is increasing in severity. The Weather Bureau today issued warnings to mariners north of Cape Mendocino and predicted rain for that coastal region, unsettled conditions over the rest of California tomorrow and general cloudiness over all the Pacific Slope.

Rain which commenced falling in Washington Friday had reached down into Oregon today and is expected to descend upon the upper tier of California counties tomorrow.

Monk Chosen by University

CHICAGO, April 4. (AP) — Rev. Father Bernard Halle, a Franciscan monk stationed at St. Michael, Ariz., has been appointed research associate in the department of anthropology at the University of Chicago. He is the first Catholic priest ever to receive academic status on the university staff.

Announcement of his appointment said Father Halle is foremost authority on the language, ethnology and rites of the Navajo Indians of the Southwest.

PRESIDENT TRIES LUCK AT FISHING

Hoover and Party Motor to Rapidan River for Season's Opening

ORANGE (Va.) April 4. (AP)—President Hoover arrived at his recreation camp at the headwaters of the Rapidan River at 6 p.m. tonight on his first fishing trip of the season.

The Chief Executive and his guests tried their luck at fishing before dinner.

At the President's fishing lodge a log fire was prepared for the party in readiness for their arrival at sundown.

In spite of the short time that remained for fishing when the Presidential party reached the stream the members of the group brought several fish with them when they climbed up the banks to go to dinner.

The trip to the camp was uneventful. During the three-hour ride from Washington at several places the Presidential party found roads under repair and the pace was slowed while the machines moved over the rough stretches.

HAWKS AND GLIDER AT COLUMBUS

Landing Follows Trip of More Than Two Hours from Indianapolis

COLUMBUS (O.) April 4. (AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, in his glider towed by a plane, appeared over Port Columbus here at 6:16 p.m. eastern standard time.

The glider cut loose from the tow plane shortly after appearing over the airport and circled and dipped for some minutes before coming to the ground in a perfect landing at 6:31. The tow plane, piloted by Duke Jernigan, landed approximately ten minutes earlier.

Hawks brought his glider to earth here two hours and thirty-nine minutes after taking off from Indianapolis at 2:52 p.m., central time. It was not immediately ascertained if he had flown directly here from the Indianapolis airport.

Padre of Rains Again Very Ill

SAN JOSE, April 4. (AP)—The condition of Father J. S. Ricard, venerable "padre of the rains" of the University of Santa Clara, who has been confined at O'Connor Sanatorium here since January for a heart ailment, is again grave.

He suffered two severe heart attacks today, according to Father C. J. McCoy, president of the University of Santa Clara.

Conquered Oil Well Wild Again

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 5. (Saturday) (AP)—In captivity for seven hours, the Mary Sudik No. 1, giant gusher of the I.T.I.O. Company, ripped loose again at 1:05 o'clock this morning and sent oil smashing high over the crown block.

BED VOW KEPT FORTY YEARS

Woman's Strange Pledge Never to Arise, Although in Good Health, Kept to Her Death

TIPTON (Iowa) April 4. (Exclusive)—Forty years ago Mrs. Mary Wickham took a vow never again to leave her bed. She kept that vow and died today in the same bed she had occupied for more than a generation.

What caused her to make the strange resolution was revealed to only one person outside of her immediate family, her physician, and he has forgotten what it was all about. However, there are various stories told in connection with Mrs. Wickham's decision to remain bedfast, though always in good health.

She came here from England as a girl, according to one story, to wed Mr. Wickham, but he did not meet with her approval and she turned her attentions to his son, marrying him a short time later.

Another story relates that she went to bed when the elder Wickham cut her out of a share in his estate.

Another is that he made a threat which prompted Mrs. Wickham to make her vow if it were carried into execution. It was said Mr. Wickham was devoted to his wife and cared for her until his death many years ago. Mrs. Wickham died as she had lived, alone at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Whan, but she had little to do with them and when strangers visited her room she turned her face to the wall.

Mrs. Wickham's legs were useless because of long inactivity. She owned a farm and other property and left a will, and the public hopes it will reveal her reasons for remaining in bed so long. There are no living relatives. She was about 75 years of age.

HOPE DIES ON FIVE-POWER NAVAL REDUCTION PACT

Early Closing of Parley Expected as Americans Prepare to Sail; Tripartite Agreement Gained

LONDON, April 4. (AP)—Having achieved their major objectives at the London conference in an American-British-Japanese naval agreement, Col. Henry L. Stimson and the rest of the American delegation today reserved cabins on the Leviathan for the homeward journey on the 22nd inst.

Hope for a five-power agreement is being abandoned and the belief is that the conference cannot last longer than that date. It is understood that the American-British-Japanese agreement will cover a five-year period from the expiration of the Washington disarmament treaty in 1931.

Announcement that the Americans were preparing to buy their steamer tickets came during one of the tensest days of the conference and indications tonight are that a crisis exists which may end the many crises of the London conference.

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

France and Italy are as tightly deadlocked as ever over parity and Prime Minister MacDonlad of Great Britain is making strenuous efforts to save the situation. Also the Anglo-French security formula still eludes Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain and Foreign Minister Briand of France, who are diligently seeking it.

Thus the whole trend of events points to a speedy wind-up of the parley with a three-power pact as the main achievement and a five-power agreement on such problems as humanization of submarine warfare and the technical questions of naval standardization and construction.

Mr. Henderson, Mr. MacDonald and M. Briand lunched together today and talked security formulas for nearly four hours. Afterward Mr. MacDonald rushed to American headquarters to keep Col. Stimson posted on the progress of the talks, then went to his country place at Chequers. He will return to London early tomorrow to continue his talks with M. Briand.

The British spokesman declared tonight that political discussions have not broken down, but at the same time a security formula has not been found. The conference situation as it pertains to Great Britain, France and Italy remains much as it has for the last several days.

From both French and Italian headquarters today came statements showing [illegible] the issues which must be met if France and Italy can join the understanding which the United States, Great Britain and Japan have reached.

"It is no longer a question of Italy's claim for parity but of France's claims for superiority," the Italian spokesman said.

From the French came the word, in effect, that the London conference is not their party; that they didn't want to come in the first place but nevertheless have worked hard and earnestly for agreement.

FRANCE REPRIMANDED

The Italian delegation astounded the conference by issuing, through its official spokesman, a statement which observers interpreted not only as a pointed reprimand to France but indicating that Italy is tired of the present Anglo-French negotiations concerning French demands for security.

The spokesman declared that Italy's claim to parity with France is unchanged, although France "wants us to accept inferiority in naval strength."

He furthermore announced that Dino Grandi, chief of the Italian delegation, feels that the security pact, which France demands as compensation for cutting her naval figures is a matter for the League of Nations and should not be discussed at the London conference.

"After all," he said, "we came to London to talk disarmament and not to talk about the League of Nations Covenant."

Senate Again Backs Norris Resolution for Gigantic Federal Experiment

Action of House and Hoover on Alabama Undertaking Remains to be Seen

WASHINGTON, April 4. (AP)—Once more the Senate today voted to turn over the government's $150,000,000 nitrate and power project at Muscle Shoals, Ala., to a government-controlled corporation for experimentation in fertilizer production.

It was the second time in the ten years' controversy over disposition of this gigantic war-time property that the resolution of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, for government operation has been approved. The vote was 48 to 33, with the Republican regulars in opposition.

Two attempts to modify the resolution were rejected in the closing hours of the three-day debate. The measure was sent to the House in practically the same form as it was adopted by Congress two years ago. President Coolidge pocket vetoed it then.

FUTURE IN DOUBT

Considerable doubt covers the future of the Norris resolution in the House. Leaders there have given no assurance for its consideration. Likewise there is some uncertainty at the Capitol over the attitude of President Hoover toward the proposal. It was opposed by administration leaders in the Senate.

Senator Norris led the drive for his resolution in the Senate. He successfully staved off every attempt at serious modification.

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, sought to strike out the provision allowing payments to the State of Alabama and Tennessee from proceeds on the sale of surplus power. That lost on a tie vote, 33 to 33, with Vice-President Curtis absent.

Later Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, announced he had voted under a misapprehension and changed his vote, which made the record 34 to 32 against the Vandenberg proposal.

ROLL CALL GIVEN

Eighteen Republicans voted with twenty-six Democrats and the Farmer-Labor Senator, Shipstead of Minnesota, for the resolution, while two Democrats, Steck of Iowa and Tydings of Maryland, joined twenty-one Republicans in opposition.

The roll call follows:

Republicans for: Borah, Brookhart, Capper, Couzens, Frazier, Hatfield, Howell, Johnson, Jones, McNary, Norbeck, Norris, Nye, Pine, Robinson of Indiana, Schall, Stelwer and Thomas of Idaho—18.

Democrats for: Ashurst, Barkley, Black, Blease, Bratton, Caraway, Connally, Copeland, Dill, George, Harris, Harrison, Hayden, Heflin, Kendrick, McKellar, Overman, Pittman, Sheppard, Simmons, Stephens, Swanson, Thomas of Oklahoma, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana and Wheeler—28.

Farmer-Labor: Shipstead—1.

Democrats against: Steck, Tydings—2.

Republicans against: Allen, Baird, Dale, Fess, Glenn, Goff, Goldsborough, Hale, Hebert, Kean, McCulloch, Metcalf Oddie Phipps, Shortridge, Smoot, Sullivan, Townsend, Vandenberg, Walcott and Watson—21.

Hope for a five-power agreement is being abandoned and the belief is that the conference cannot last longer than that date. It is understood that the American-British-Japanese agreement will cover a five-year period from the expiration of the Washington disarmament treaty in 1931.

ACAPONETA (Nayarit, Mex.) April 4. (Exclusive)—He was quite the most elegant gentleman on the Boulevard as he strolled past the hotel at Mazatlan this morning. His puttees were polished like mirrors. The slender fingers which flicked the ashes from his cigarette were perfectly manicured. He had discarded his officer blouse and his mid-day cap for a jaunty mackinaw and a sombrero which had an air of its own. He was the picture of well-bred scorn. Three soldiers with fixed bayonets walked humbly with him down the street as though they felt his superiority.

He was on his way to a rendezvous for which he had neither eagerness nor reluctance. He had a rendezvous with death. He was on his way to be shot in the old Spanish fort at the top of the hill. The inscrutible squad, squat little soldiers in the bus behind, were the firing squad who were to shoot him to death. He had shot a soldier of the garrison, and in a few moments would be dead. He was on his last walk and he was upstaging death.

It was our last night of lovely Mazatlan before we entered the cruel country to the south where troops of cavalry are pursuing the bandits who are holding the American, Bristow, prisoner. Bristow's son is in Mazatlan with 30,000 pesos ransom money; but the Mexican authorities will not permit it to be paid. They are chasing the bandits from town to town in pursuit. Four were captured and executed on the 1st inst. at Tepic, just below this town.

POLL REVEALS GAIN BY DRYS

Prohibition-Law Supporters Showing Strength

"Digest" Incomplete Returns Disclose Wet Drop

Total of 2,000,340 Ballots Checked to Date

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) Of forty States only two are voting for "bone dry" prohibition enforcement, the Literary Digest announced today in giving the weekly results in its 20,000,000 poll.

The arid States are Kansas, which has been voting dry steadily, and Tennessee.

The Kansas vote is: For strict enforcement, 21,270; for modification, 8119; for repeal, 6000.

In Tennessee the vote is closer: For enforcement, 4853; for modification, 2460; for repeal, 2340.

DIVISION OF TOTAL

The Literary Digest states that of the 2,000,340 votes counted, 848,-751, or more than 42 per cent of the total, are wet; 598,262, or nearly 30 per cent, are moist in that modification is favored; while 553,327 are for strict enforcement without change in the law.

In every southern State except Tennessee the combined vote for modification and repeal is larger than that for enforcement, while in Maryland the vote for repeal is considerably greater than for both modification and enforcement together.

VOTE ON MAINE

Hopping to Maine, the State which is sometimes referred to as "the grandmother of prohibition," this week's tabulation shows that even Maine is damper than it is dry. For enforcement there are 4116 votes; for modification 2589, and for repeal 4035.

Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts are all voting wet.

Editorially, the Literary Digest states that "a little figuring will show that the bone drys have gained a trifle more than a point in ratio value since last week, while modification has gone down almost a point and repeal has lost a fraction of a point.

CONFIRMING OF O'BRIEN PREDICTED

Los Angeles Postmaster Sure of Certification to Post, Observer Says

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4. (Exclusive)—Speedy confirmation of the reappointment of Patrick P. O'Brien as postmaster at Los Angeles, whose nomination was sent to the Senate last Tuesday by President Hoover, is expected at the next executive session of the Senate. Postmaster O'Brien's new term will be his third. His commission for the previous term expired February 27, 1930, and his reappointment is made because of his record and merit in the conduct of his office.

The appointment was made by President Hoover on the recommendation of Postmaster-General Brown, who denied the demand of both Representatives Crail and Evans for an open examination.

STOCKS GO TO RECORD FOR YEAR

Total of 5,931,610 Shares Change Hands at Prices One to Ten Points Higher

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) The largest stock market of the year to date was recorded today when a total of 5,931,610 shares changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange.

Many blocks of from 10,000 to 30,000 shares were traded in, showing that large financial interests are active once more on the buying side. Prices advanced from 1 to 10 points throughout the list, with numerous favorites reaching new 1930 highs.

Merger rumors involving Radio Corporation of America, Columbia Graphafone, American T. & T. and International Telephone helped operations on the bull side.

Convict Killed at Sing Sing in Escape Attempt

OSSINING (N. Y.) April 4. (AP)—A Sing Sing prisoner was shot by a guard with a machine gun as he jumped into the Hudson River today after escaping from the prison by scaling two walls. His body was taken from the water fifteen minutes later.

The prisoner, Alphonse Tarrello, 24 years of age, made his break for liberty from the midst of a large group of prisoners who were at recreation just before they were to be locked up for the night.

Tarrello was sentenced from the Bronx, New York City, in September, 1927, to from seven and one-half to fifteen years for robbery.

Prison officials say it is only the second time in Sing Sing's history in which a prisoner attempting an escape got outside the walls.

Mexicans Shift Case of Barry

MEXICO CITY, April 4. (AP)—The case of Jack Barry, former Omaha newspaper man arrested here on a charge of uttering defamatory remarks against President Ortiz Rubio, has been transferred from the police department of the Department of the Interior and the Department of Justice to decide what action will be taken. Meanwhile Barry still is being held in jail where he has been four days.

Barry was arrested after an altercation with a Los Angeles private detective who is here on another case. He said later that anything he might have uttered against the Mexican government was caused by his being under the influence of liquor and that he meant no harm.

faces, the plane immediately went into an erratic dive.

BOTH OF VICTIMS WELL KNOWN HERE

T. Warden Hunter, killed in New York yesterday in an airplane crash, was president of the Bach Aircraft Corporation at Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport.

His pilot, Rupert McAllister, also killed in the fall, was an Australian and had been flying at Metropolitan in air motion pictures for several years.

Yesterday's crash was the first fatal accident involving a Bach plane, it was pointed out here. The ship was one of hundreds manufactured at the Van Nuys plant since it opened its doors three years ago.

Hunter came here from Detroit two months ago to take over the reins of the local company. His parents are reported to be wealthy residents of Grosse Point, near Detroit.

During the World War Hunter was a navy flyer, but had not done any actual piloting for the last few years. He was 33 years of age.

Hunter was prominent in amateur golf circles and had played in many national tournaments. He was a friend of Bobbie Jones, amateur golfer, and of the professional, Walter Hagen.

His widow and two children, a boy 2 years of age and a girl 7, reside at 1506 East California street, Pasadena.

McAllister had been in the employee of the Bach organization for only a short time. He was hired by Hunter to fly the ship East. The pilot was 30 years of age and was single. He leaves his parents in Australia. He resided in Hollywood and was known as one of the foremost stunt pilots among motion-picture flyers.

FUND ASKED FOR BUYING PARK LANDS

Albright Seeks Money to Match Rockefeller Gift for Yosemite Project

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4. (Exclusive)—Horace M. Albright, director of the National Park Service, appeared before the Senate Appropriations Committee today asking for the inclusion of $1,670,000 in the Interior Department appropriation bill now before the committee to enable the government to meet its share of the purchase of 12,000 acres of sugar and yellow-pine lands in Yosemite Park.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will give half the funds required for the purchase of the timber land, 8000 acres of which lie within the park under private control and 4000 acres outside the park which will be added by Presidential proclamation.

In making his request that the government's share of purchase price be included in the department appropriation bill, Director Albright stated that the contracts between the government and the Madera Lumber Company for the acquisition of these lands has been signed.

Mr. Albright also asked for an additional item of $140,000 for the purchase of private holdings in Glacier National Park.

HOUSE BILL WOULD CURB I.C.C. POWERS

WASHINGTON, April 4. (AP)—A resolution to suspend the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve railroad consolidations until Congress passes legislation "properly designed to protect the public interest," was introduced today by Representative Knutson, Republican, Minnesota. The Knutson resolution is similar to one introduced recently in the Senate by Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan. Knutson said in a statement off the floor his measure was "directly aimed to prevent consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways now pending."

EMPRESS' DEATH DUE TO SHOCK

Killing of ex-Husband as He Headed Abyssinia Rebels Hastened End

ADDIS ABABA (Abyssinia) April 4. (AP)—It was reported here today that the unexpected death of the Empress Zauditu Wednesday was caused partly by shock on hearing that her former husband, Ras Gugsa Olie, had been killed in a battle between his rebel force and the imperial troops of the Regent and Negus, Ras Taffari. The Empress was in ill health when the news reached her.

Details of the battle, which occurred near Zebit last Monday, show the rebels suffered a decisive defeat. While ostensibly making offers of submission to the Negus, Ras Olie was understood to have planned a surprise attack by a force of 10,000, equipped with two pieces of artillery and ten machine guns.

The attempt was stemmed by an adroit maneuver on the part of the Regent's War Minister, Degiac Mulugheta, who commanded the imperial army of 20,000. His losses were insignificant.

tax revenue in the fiscal year 1930 at $2,480,000,000 without taking into account the tax reduction subsequently provided for.

"The March collections indicate that income-tax revenues will actually aggregate $2,400,000,000, which, allowing $85,000,000 for tax reduction, would correspond to $2,485,000,000 under the old rates.

"On the other hand there has been a substantial falling off in customs duties, the estimated revenue from this source amounting to $600,000,000, whereas present indications are that not more than $560,000,000 may be expected this fiscal year.

"From these estimates and the current rate of expenditure, it appears that we should be able to close the fiscal year ending June 30, next, with a very moderate surplus.

WARNING SOUNDED

"It is impossible at this early date to estimate with accuracy the situation in the next fiscal year (that ending June 30, 1931.)

"The budget indicated, after the tax reduction which has since been enacted, a surplus of $47,000,000 for the next fiscal year.

"On the revenue side the Treasury sees no occasion to make any substantial revision of its estimates. Since the budget figures were submitted, legislation enacted at the present session of Congress has imposed a burden of additional expenditures amounting to $30,000,000 during the next fiscal year.

"The major difficulty in prospect, however, arises from the fact that bills already favorably reported by Congressional committees, if enacted into law, would entail an additional expenditure of nearly $300,000,000 next fiscal year, and, as far as we can see today, inevitably result in a deficit.

"The situation clearly calls for most rigid economy and deferment of even otherwise justifiable expenditures by both the legislative and executive departments."

New Air Liner at Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, April 4. (AP)—Flying from St. Louis in two hours, the giant four-engined Fokker F-32, carrying eighteen passengers, landed at the Kansas City Airport at 10:45 a.m. today. The plane is en route to the Pacific Coast, where it will be placed in passenger service by the Western Air Express.

The plane is to remain here overnight, taking off tomorrow to continue its westward flight. Pilot and passengers were honor guests at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon today.

Russian Grain Men Must Die

ZAPOROJIE (U. S. S. R.) April 4. (AP)—Four officials of the State Grain Trust were sentenced to death today for selling hundreds of tons of high-grade flour to private speculators during the extremist period in the government grain collection campaign.

Thirty other officials implicated in the sales were sentenced to from one to ten years' imprisonment.

MEXICAN LABOR NEED DETAILED

Teague Declares Substitute Means Social Strife

Johnson and Heflin Assail Californian's Stand

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4. (Exclusive)—Declaring the agricultural interests of California and the Southwest to be almost entirely dependent upon Mexicans for their common labor because whites will not perform the "stoop" and "knee" work required in that section, C. C. Teague of Santa Paula, Cal., Federal Farm Board Commissioner for fruits and vegetables, urged the Senate Agriculture Committee today to act favorably on the McNary resolution for a Federal survey of the entire farm labor situation.

He declared it is a choice between permitting the Mexicans to come in for this labor or going without the 40 per cent of the nation's output of fruits and vegetables their hands produce. The only other possible alternative, he said, would be to have the work done by Filipinos or other imported workers who would create an infinitely worse social and economic problem than any caused by the Mexicans. He denied, in fact, that the Mexicans do create a social problem, asserting that they fit into the scheme of things in this country better than any other class of alien labor ever tried out.

FAVORS RESOLUTION

Mr. Teague said that in his opinion Congress would act wisely if it passed the McNary resolution and waited for a report before going further with pending measures which would make permanent, as a matter of quota law, the restriction on Mexican immigration which the State Department already has put into effect administratively, through tightening up on visa requirements.

One of these restriction measures—the bill by Senator Harris of Georgia, virtually shutting out all Mexicans and imposing less severe limitations on other countries of Central and South America—was made the unfinished business of the Senate this afternoon, and probably will be passed by that body next week. The bill would hold Mexico to something under 2000 entries a year.

Its principal weakness lies in the fact that Senator Harris for the sake of expediency, drafted the measure to exempt Canada from any restriction whatever, thus proposing a discrimination distasteful to many Senators, many who demand that if restriction legislation is passed it shall apply with equal force to all the countries in the Western Hemisphere.

PREDICTS PASSAGE

Senator Harris indicated tonight he would accept an amendment including Canada, possibly adopting the plan set out in the Johnson House bill allowing four entries for every one citizen of the United States permanently emigrating to that country. This would allow upward of 65,000 Canadian immigrants a year and would mean virtually no restriction at all. It is the ingenious scheme worked out by restrictionists in the House to keep out Mexicans without imposing any real numerical limitation on Canada.

Harris said he expected his bill to passthe Senate by next Wednesday or Thursday.

Following Teague, Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the House Immigration Committee and author of one of the restriction bills, testified against the proposed labor survey, charging its purpose is to defeat Congressional action on restriction legislation. Johnson will again appear tomorrow. Witnesses to be heard next week include Representative Free of California, Chester H. Gray of the Farm Bureau Federation, and representative of the State Department, in favor of the McNary resolution and a spokesman for the American Federation of Labor opposing it.

WOULD END HEARINGS

Senator McNary, who is chairman of the Agricultural Committee, hopes to conclude the hearings next week and to have the resolution passed by both houses before the adjournment scheduled for early in June.

Again today the hearing resolved itself almost wholly into a discussion of the Mexican immigration question, although Chairman McNary repeatedly pointed out that immigration is only one phase of the farm-labor problem it is proposed to have investigated. "This resolution has not been introduced to deter action on any immigration bills," he declared finally, with some heat. "This is the Agricultural Committee and we are interested primarily in the problems of the farmers, and immigration, whether from Mexico or any other country, is only one part of the situation we want studied." Mr. Teague agreed with him, and filed with the committee a list of twenty-five separate subjects the proposed commission should look into, only a few of them having any direct relation to the Mexican question.

SETTLE DISPUTE

The California Farm Board member said that the investigation should be made to establish definite facts which would settle for all time the constant dispute about Mexican immigration and other features of the farm-labor problem. Senator Heflin of Alabama, militant restrictionist, declared that plenty of Americans could be found to do the crop work in California and elsewhere. Mr. Teague attempted to explain in considerable detail that native labor will not go into the inland valleys, such as the Imperial and Sacramento valleys, in sufficient numbers to harvest the crops, not alone because of the heat but also on account of the nature of the toil. He said that many attempts had been made to bring in white labor but all had failed.

"You can't make me believe," interjected Heflin, "that with so many men out of work in the country you cannot get the native Americans who will do this work."

"You will be convinced," replied Teague, "if you have the investigation which the farm board has proposed, through the McNary resolution and determine the facts."

"We think we have the facts now," said Heflin.

"So do we," rejoined Teague, "and that's why we should undertake this study—so we can resolve these conflicting views and get at the truth. Congress so far has had nothing but the statements of interested parties on both sides of this Mexican question, and it is time a fair study was made so that your committees would have definite factual information to go by."

One of the telling points made by Teague was that the increased production of fruits and vegetables which Mexican labor creates, makes many times as many jobs in other industries, railroads and packing houses, for example, as it can possibly take away from native workers.

He said that last year the Southwest produced 397,482 carloads of fruits and vegetables, nearly 40 per cent of the entire production of the country. Because of the perishable nature of these crops he explained they must be harvested and handled promptly and this requires a labor class that will move rapidly from one peak to another. The Mexicans, he said, are highly skilled in this sort of work, do not object to it, and are indigenous to that section of the country. Whites, he declared, do not like the work, dislike being moved from place to place, and cannot stand the heat.

LOSE MONEY NOW

He said that in considering the problem it should be borne in mind that the fruit and vegetable industry generally is not on a profitable basis, and so it is unreasonable to expect them to try to break in untried and inefficient labor of a class other than that to which they are accustomed, namely, Mexicans. For instance, he said, 20,000 grape growers are now losing money and could not be expected to increase their production costs.

Questioned about asserted poverty among the Mexicans, Teague said that there is as much lack of poverty among the Mexicans as would be found in any class you could get to do the farm work in the Southwest. "You'll find some poverty among them, of course," he declared, "but no more than among any other class of common labor. The problem is whether you can produce these fruits and vegetables in California without bringing in another type of worker that would cause a worse social problem. Congress, in my opinion, should go slow in eliminating this production and destroying a great industry."

He testified that notwithstanding unemployment in the industrial centers there is actually a shortage of farm labor at the present time because the idle from the cities will not accept the type of work that has to be done in agriculture. This supported the statement made yesterday by Robert M. Wilson of the agricultural division of the California State Chamber of Commerce, that the farm labor problem cannot be solved by drawing on the cities.

Senator Heflin, expressing incredulity, said this is because Mexicans will work for less money. He read a letter from a man in Texas telling of two bridge construction jobs on which the wage for common labor is only 20 cents an hour, and said it is no wonder the work is done by Mexicans as white men cannot live on such pay.

"Does your informant say," asked Teague, "whether board and lodging was thrown in?" Heflin said, "No." "Well, then," continued Teague, "you don't know the full story. That is just a small sample of the kind of partial stories committees have been getting on this whole question and shows again the need for a fact-finding inquiry."

Representative Johnson, in his testimony, said that the difficulty about the Mexicans is that after entering the country they are sucked constantly further inland and finally wind up in northern States, where they take jobs away from American citizens, and contribute to the social and unemployment problems. He said that more than half the employees on the railroads running out of Chicago are Mexicans.

Johnson said if Mexicans are to be permitted to continue freely to enter the United States they will only add to agricultural production, that this will in turn cause more of a demand for their labor and the result will be an endless cycle. "It is dangerous," he said. "for Congress to keep on encouraging the ambitious Southwest with this class of labor. The history of the world shows that whenever a country becomes too soft to perform its own common labor it soon becomes undermined."

The House immigration chairman will resume tomorrow at the request of Senator Heflin.

LETTER BETRAYED FUGITIVE

Absconding Bank Cashier's Arrest Revealed as Due to Plaint Written by Wife in Asylum

NEWARK (N. J.) April 4. (Exclusive)—A letter from a woman in an insane asylum was revealed today as the final blow that overwhelmed Abram Cornelius, Jr., 62-year-old fugitive New Jersey bank cashier, and ended a runaway romance that began fifteen years ago.

His present wife, the girl stenographer with whom he eloped, had written to relatives in New Jersey telling of their troubles. It was her first letter since 1915.

And the relentless wheels of the law began to revolve, revealing Cornelius in the poorhouse at Cheyenne, Wyo., his wife in the asylum and their three children in the State Home for Dependent Children. The $11,000 supposedly taken from the Citizens' National Bank of Englewood, had been dissipated.

Meanwhile, U. S. Atty. Philip Forman of Newark announced that he was arranging for the pauper's return to stand trial. A certified copy of the indictment against him was en route to Cheyenne by air mail. Cornelius, who was arrested yesterday, is in jail there.

He explained that he did not marry Loretta Adelgais, the discharged bank stenographer, until last July because his first wife, whom he deserted in Englewood with four children, was still living up to that time. He was 48 when he fled with the 17-year-old girl.

They went to Cheyenne, where he was known as A. P. Cornell. He invested $10,000 in a mountain resort which prospered at first, but five years ago he lost all his money.

QUIZ OF RASKOB BRINGS ON ROW

Sharp Exchanges Feature Senate Lobby Hearing

Democratic Chairman Admits Gifts to Fight Drys

Query Aimed at Electing Wet Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, April 4. (AP)—To the accompaniment of savage ex- changes among members of the Sen- ate lobby committee, John J. Ras- kob, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, calmly testi- fied today that he had contributed money during the last five years to the Association Against the Pro- hibition Amendment, and that he was a director of the organization.

As a few even tone the Demo- cratic chairman amiliingly replied to questions about his relations with the association. He said it at- tempted to obtain the election of Con- gressmen favoring repeal or modifi- cation of the prohibition act. He added that he is not very active in the affairs of the association.

He is largely in the position of a contributor and a director," he stated.

Raskob appeared amused at the occasional clashes between members of the committee over questions raised by Senator Robinson of Indiana, the only Republican present.

ROBINSON IN LONE FIGHT

Other members who attended the session were Chairman Caraway of Arkansas, and Senator Walsh of Montana, both dry Democrats, Sena- tor Blaine of Wisconsin and Senator Borah of Idaho, Republicans, were present.

After the hearing, Robinson an- nounced he will call Josephus Dan- iels, Secretary of the navy in the Wilson Cabinet, for testimony Tuesday concerning an article expected Raskob. Other witnesses expected next week are Wayne B. Curran of New York, counsel of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and William H. Stayton of Washington, chairman of the board of direc- tors.

The most heated argument, which produced an uproar in the packed committee room, came when Rob- inson asked Raskob if he intends to resign his position as Democratic chairman.

"I object to that," Walsh snapped.

After a sharp exchange between the two Senators the question went unanswered.

Robinson insisted the same ques- tion had been asked Claudius Hus- ton, chairman of the Republican National Committee, before the lob- by committee. Disputing this, Sen- ator Walsh shouted: "It makes no difference . . . we are not going to transform this hearing into a show."

After the hearing was over Ras- kob told newspaper men he had no objection to answering the ques- tion, and added that he does not intend to resign.

The dispute started when Robin- son read an editorial from the Raleigh News and Observer which criticised Raskob for his connection with the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

The editorial, as read Robinson, said the relations are "so injurious to the Democratic party as to put its future in jeopardy," and added that "no man should remain at the head of the committee whose ac- tions and money constitute a party peril."

ROW OVER QUERY

"I mention this," Robinson stat- ed, "because it is a serious charge from a prominent member of your party."

"The question whether he is a Democrat hasn't anything to do with this," Caraway commented.

"The point is," began Robinson.

"I know the point," Caraway in- terrupted. "Everybody knows the point."

"The point is," Robinson re- sumed, "whether Mr. Raskob has taken his present position and left the Republican party because he could influence legislation better as chairman of his Democratic na- tional committee."

"No," Caraway retorted, "he said he wanted to get in an honest party."

Raskob asserted that he was care- ful not to mix his personal beliefs on prohibition with the affairs of the Democratic National Commit- tee.

"My opinion," he said, "is that no one can commit the Democratic party on this question except the national convention. I shall not try to influence any Democratic member on this question."

FAST TRAIN EXTRA FARE HEARING SET

Six Railroads Must Show Cause May 1 Why Practice Should Be Continued

WASHINGTON, April 4. (AP)—Six railroads were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission to appear May 1 before examiners to show cause why they should be per- mitted to continue operation of ex- tra-fare passenger trains.

The commission initiated an in- vestigation last year to determine whether the practice of the roads in charging fares in addition to regular passenger and Pullman fares and surcharges is legal.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central, the Delaware, Lacka- wanna and West Shore, the Dela- ware, Lackawanna and Western, the Michigan Central, and the Erie filed applications to continue the ex- tra charge on fast trains offering increased facilities.

In fixing the date for the hear- ing, the carriers were instructed by the commission that they should be prepared to file full informa- tion supporting continuation of the practice.

NEW MOVE MADE FOR AIR MERGER

United Addresses Plea to National Corporation Shareholders

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—United Aircraft and Transport Corpo- ration today appealed to stockhold- ers of National Air Transport in its effort to increase its holdings in the latter company as a step to- ward transcontinental air service between New York and San Fran- cisco.

Directors of National Air Trans- port yesterday announced their re- fusal to recommend a merger of the two on the basis of one share of United for three and a half of N.A.T.

F. B. Rentschler, president of United, in a letter to National's shareholders made the same offer to the stockholders and asked each who accepted to execute a proxy in favor of United's representatives at the annual meeting of N.A.T., to be held on April 10, next. United Aircraft, it is understood, already holds about one-third of the Na- tional Air Transport stock and the request for proxies is seen as a move by United to elect as many of its own representatives as possible to the N.A.T.

Machine Guns Used in Robbery of Two Banks

DAYTON (O.) April 4. (AP)—Five masked robbers, armed with a ma- chine gun, held up five bank em- ployees of the Xenia-avenue branch of the Union Trust Company and several customers, robbed the bank vault of practically all of its cash and escaped with a sum estimated at between $30,000 and $40,000 shortly after the bank opened for business today.

CINCINNATI, April 4. (AP)—The Reading Bank was robbed of $9000 today by four men armed with a machine gun.

A grocer across the street saw the robbers and opened fire on them. The robbers returned the fire with the machine gun and escaped in an automobile.

over the five-cylinder motor. It was not until a few hours before the early morning take-off that he told anyone of his plans.

Joe Nikrent, official timer and representative of the National Aero- nautic Association, was called to witness the take-off. Mooney also ordered a gasoline truck to the air- port, supervised the fueling and paid for the gas and oil. Only a few persons were on hand to see him leave.

"I expect to follow the T.A.T.- Maddux route to Albuquerque, N. M., swing northwest to Wichita and circle my factory there; head for Kan- sas City, Mo., and probably pass a little south of St. Louis, Mo., on the way; then to Springfield, Ill., and Indianaplis, Ind.; pick up the lighted airway at Cleveland, O., and follow it over Pittsburgh to Long Island," Mooney declared.

HOPES EXPRESSED

His fleet monoplane will cruise at approximately 100 miles an hour. If everything went well, Mooney pointed out, he expected to be near Kansas City by dark.

If the Albuquerque report was correct, Mooney had averaged 110 miles an hour over 627 miles of the most hazardous terrain in the entire flight. He evidently had coaxed his little ship over the rug- ged mountains of California, Ari- zona and New Mexico, parrying with winds and mountains to get through on the 6500-foot ceiling which his ship would have under the heavy load.

The plane empty weighs 1200 pounds; his fuel weighed 1000 pounds and he weighs 150 pounds— placing a burden of 2350 pounds on the motor, believed to consti- tute a record for light ships of this horsepower.

The flyer took off with the ob- ject of proving a light plane with a small motor is capable of span- ning the continent with as much ease as a large high-powered one. The present nonstop record for the transcontinental west-to-east hop is 17 hours, 38 minutes, 16 3-5 se- conds, held by Capt. Frank Hawks and set with a Lockheed-Air Ex- press, powered by a 425-horsepower Wasp motor.

'CHUTE CARRIED

Two sandwiches, a quart of coffee and a quart of water constituted Mooney's larder for the trip.

When he took off he was in his shirt sleeves, laying the coat of his gray business suit on the gas tanks behind him in the cabin.

He strapped on a parachute and explained that the isinglass hatch over his head could be broken in case of emergency and then he could crawl through it and jump.

The monoplane's fuselage is painted a dark reddish brown and the wings a brilliant yellow. The ship bears the United States De- partment of Commerce experimental identification "X-463-N."

Mooney designed the standard Eagle Rock Bullet monoplane, and his present ship resembles the Bul- let. It has not retractable landing gear, however, and in place of shock absorbers is equipped with low-pressure doughnut rubber land- ing wheels.

The flyer is president of the Mooney Aircraft Manufacturing Company in Wichita. He learned to fly in Colorado Springs, Colo., about three years ago.

GANDHI AND FOLLOWERS NEAR GOAL

Procession at Vijalpur; Leader Still Challenges Arrest by Government

JALAPUR (Bombay Presi- dency, India) April 4. (AP)—Mahat- ma Gandhi and his followers ar- rived tonight at Vijalpur in the Jalalpur district, nearing the end of their march to the Gulf of Cambay for the manufacture of salt in defiance of the government monopoly.

Addressing a public meeting here tonight, Gandhi said that the re- signations of village headmen are more valuable than the resignation of the Pandit Malaviya and six other members of the Legislative Assembly, arguing that the head- men are an inalienable part of the government's administrative ma- chinery while the members of the assembly merely give polish to that machinery.

Many village headmen have re- signed along Mr. Gandhi's route of march.

Gandhi continues to challenge the government to arrest him and is re- ported to have a new plan in mind if the authorities persist in ignor- ing him.

OIL STUDY ORDERED IN MEXICO

Ortiz Rubio Takes Steps to Bring About Stimulation of Petroleum Industry

MEXICO CITY, April 4. (Exclu- sive)—In an effort to stimulate the petroleum industry in Mexico President Ortiz Rubio has issued a decree authorizing the organization by the Ministry of Industry, Com- merce and Labor of a national pe- troleum investigation commission. This commission is to make an in- tensive study of the condition of the petroleum industry in Mexico, especially with the view of discover- ing the reasons for declining pro- duction and to receive the com- plaints of oil companies for a study of their merits.

The commission then will render its report and recommendations to the Industry, Commerce and Labor Ministry. It also will study the ad- visability of amending existing pe- troleum laws.

The commission is to be headed by the director of the national pe- troleum control body and its per- sonnel will include the director and subdirector of the petroleum depart- ment of the Ministry of Industry, Commerce and Labor, and the di- rector of the juridical department of that ministry.

GREATEST ROAD BILL NOW LAW

Hoover Signs Measure for Three-Year Program

Federal and State Outlays to Total $750,000,000

California Scheduled to Get $4,168,617 Annually

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 4. (Exclu- sive)—When President Hoover at 1 o'clock today signed the Phipps- Dowell highway bill he authorized the greatest Federal contribution to highways the nation ever made. The bill authorizes from the Federal Treasury for each of the fiscal years of 1931, 1932 and 1933 $125,000,000, which must be matched by the States dollar for dollar, and in- crease the Federal contributions for highways $50,000,000 a year.

In 1917, when the first Federal aid for highways was enacted by Congress, the extent of Federal aid offered the States annually was only $5,000,000. Federal and State expenditures for highways under the bill signed today for the next three fiscal years will total more than $750,000,000.

California's share for each of the three fiscal years will amount to $4,168,617.

Meeting Trouble

WHEN sickness brought its burden, when financial loss overwhelmed, when friends were faithless, when fail- ure followed honest effort, when death entered the household, our forefathers said: "It is the will of God," and found comfort in the thought. Many a modern man can no longer accept the old explanation, but he is still called upon to meet the same kind of troubles that came to men of old. Where can he turn for help? What substitute is there for the ancient faith?

Perhaps you are one to whom this is a very real per- sonal problem. If so you are invited to hear E. Burdette Backus give his solution in an address Sunday at 10:50 A.M. at the First Unitarian Church, West 8th Street, just east of Vermont.

Frederick W. Roman

will lecture Sunday at 8 P.M. on "Italy and Fascism." The public is cordially invited.

OLLEGIATE AX RIFT AVERTED

lifornia to Return Pilfered Trophies to Stanford

pology Also Will be Sent to Palo Alto Campus

ction Forestalls Breach in Athletic Relations

STANFORD, April 4. (Exclusive) lifornia had its revenge today the recovery of the historic ax he pilfering of half a dozen ath- ic trophies from Encina gymna- m at Palo Alto by Berkeley hot- ads and the holding of four imson raiders as hostages, while frantic Golden Bears swarmed r the bay section in a fruitless t for the authors of the coup. But California's revenge was short. nat sweetness there might have n was quickly turned to bitter- s when the student body at rkeley, in a thunderous chorus of es," voted unanimously not only return the trophies, but to make amende honorable complete by ding Stanford an official letter apology. As for the kidnaped stages—Henry Eric Hill, Redding; ry Powell, Santa Ana; Howard ey, Grossmont, and Arthur Mil- , Halfmoon Bay—they were re- ed shortly after daylight as the rkeley police were setting afoot city-wide search for them.

GUIZ FRUITLESS

They gained their freedom after night of questioning had failed to it any information as to the rerabouts of the famous ax or ter fellow-conspirators in its seiz- by a carefully planned ruse from e hands of its California custo- ans.

The decision of the Berkeley stu- nt body to return the trophies and apologies brought a sigh of relief to the Stanford campus, for in the foray on Encina gymnasium there was seen the imminence of a rupture of all athletic relations between the two great universities.

In an effort to avert such a breach, Stanford student body officers went so far as to shoulder the blame as a prank of their own undergraduates. Such an official statement was in preparation when word came of California's willingness to make amends.

AX IN BANK VAULT

The ax is locked tightly in a bank vault in Palo Alto tonight. But it was placed behind chilled-steel doors only by a ruse and after a morning of jubilation that swept all over the campus. While 2000 Stanford men and co-eds gave vent to their delirious joy over the recovery of the ax, it suddenly was whisked from sight. Quietly a cordon of husky protectors moved out of the cheering throng, the ax carefully concealed in the center, and rushed it to the Palo Alto branch of the American Trust Company.

Headed by Claude E. (Tiny) Thornhill, a husky 300-pounder, the ax guardians each carried two baseball bats, with instructions and a determination to use both on anyone who approached too suspiciously close to the relic. Others of the guardians were Alfred R. Masters, manager of the Board of Athletic Control; Don Liebensdorfer and Jake Irwin, members of the board, and Johnny Preston, football star.

At the Palo Alto Bank, officials notified the Berkeley branch, in which the ax had been kept by California, that "the account has been transferred."

The real heroes of the rally today were the twenty-four undergraduates who snatched the ax from its new custodian, Norman Horner, just after the annual exultation meeting in the Greek theater last night. Besides the four reputed "hostages," the "heroes" are: Albert Jensen, James Trimingham, Robert Loofbourow (these two are credited with really grabbing the ax,) Gordon Snodgrass, Robson Taylor, Robert Gordon, Jack Wilson, Donald Kropp, who is said to have conceived the plan three years ago, and engineered it; Louis Ferrino, Glenford Brunson, John Coons, George Barry Likens, Ralph Malcolm, William Eberwine, Gerald Bettman, Edward Soares, Matt Lehmann, William Dienstein and Warren Gage and Raymond Walsh, who manned the fake camera.

While Stanford was shouting itself hoarse, the California student body, meeting to nominate officers in Harmon Gymnasium, was a downcast and piqued throng of 6000.

To Dean Monroe E. Deutsch, representing President W. W. Campbell, absent at Lick Observatory, the students gave credit for swaying the great throng to take their defeat like sportsmen and to apologize for carrying away the Stanford trophies.

TWENTY-THIRD PSALM'S MODERNIZATION SOUGHT

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Modernization of the Twenty-third Psalm is urged by Dr. Jesse H. Holmes, professor of philosophy at Swarthmore College, who believes the phrase, "The Lord is my shepherd," to be meaningless to the modern city dweller. He suggests the following as substitutes:

"The Lord is my automobile's low gear to help me in climbing hard hills.

"The Lord is my antiseptic in times of dangerous epidemics.

"The Lord is my dynamo to charge my run-down batteries.

"The Lord is sunlight in my room, bringing me the health of ultra-violet rays."

Speaking in Columbia University as the representative of Quakerism at a symposium on religion, he said:

"Most religion nowadays is quoted. It is derived from the experience of somebody else, but has no real basis in our own experience. 'The Lord is my shepherd' tells us practically nothing about God. It is a sentimental phrase vaguely suggesting sheep. And what can that possibly mean to us of the city and the twentieth century."

QUEEN VICTORIA OF SWEDEN DIES

End Comes in Rome After Long Period as Invalid

King Gustav at Her Bedside When Reaper Strikes

One of Most Beloved Among Sovereigns of World

ROME, April 4. (AP)—Queen Victoria of Sweden, long an invalid, died here today.

The Queen, who had been sinking for some time from a complication of pulmonary illness, took a sudden turn for the worse today, and King Gustav, who had been visiting in Naples, returned to Rome to be at her bedside. The Queen was 68 years of age.

The death of the Queen was peaceful, the immediate cause being weakening of her heart.

BELOVED BY PEOPLE

When Queen Victoria first went to Sweden as the 19-year-old bride of the then Crown Prince of Norway and Sweden, Oscar Gustav Adolph, it was a triumphal entry into her adopted country and into the hearts of its people.

The hold which she gained on the affections of the Swedish people at that time was retained throughout the more than a quarter of a century she was crown princess and was strengthened in the years that followed when these same people became her subjects.

Her husband became King Gustav V of Sweden on December 8, 1907, on the death of his father, King Oscar II. Queen Victoria shared the democratic views of the King and was said to have encouraged him in his refusal to endure any coronation pomp in the ceremony which elevated them to the thrones. Their coronation often has been compared in its simplicity to the inauguration of a President of the United States. Thereafter, this royal couple were hailed as the most democratic rulers of Europe.

BORN IN GERMANY

Sophia Maria Victoria was born at Karlsruhe, in Baden, Germany, August 7, 1862, the only daughter of Grand Duke Frederick of Baden and the Grand Duchess Louise, a daughter of Emperor William I. She, therefore, was a first cousin of the former Kaiser of Germany. Being a granddaughter of Sophia, Princess of Sweden, her marriage to Gustav effected a union between the Bernadotte dynasty and the ancient Swedish royal house of Vasa.

They became acquainted when Crown Prince Gustav was attending the German army maneuvers at Strassburg in the autumn of 1879. Their betrothal was announced on March 12, 1881, and their wedding took place at Karlsruhe on September 20 of the same year. A few days later, when Gustav and Victoria arrived in Sweden, they were received with one of the most enthusiastic demonstrations ever given a royal couple in that country. Their trip from Gothenburg to Stockholm was a triumphal one in which peasants and nobles vied in showing their approval of the choice of the Crown Prince. Victoria had learned the Swedish language and after a few years it scarcely could have been recognized that she was not a native of her adopted country.

Three sons were born to Gustav and Victoria—Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus, who also has the title of Duke of Scania; William, Duke of Soedermanland, who is an accomplished poet and novelist, and Erik, Duke of Vaestergothland, who died in 1918.

Mexican Edict on Insurance Expires Soon

MEXICO CITY, April 4. (Exclusive)—Officials of Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada and of Confederation Life of Canada are now in conference in Canada on whether the two companies will withdraw from the Mexican field before the 17th inst. or agree to the Mexican government's terms that if they do business in Mexico the majority of their reserves must be in Mexican securities. January 17, last, a Mexican court order instructed the two Mexican agencies to suspend operations for a temporary period of ninety days, which expires this month.

It is felt here, however, that both companies will announce their decision some time before the 17th inst and the prevailing opinion in insurance circles is that the result will be withdrawal from the Mexican field.

WABASH VALUATION PROBLEM REOPENED

WASHINGTON, April 4. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission reopened today the question of valuing the Wabash Railroad and set further hearings for May 12, next. The commission placed a value of $103,616,951 upon the Wabash as of June 30, 1919. In its petition for reopening the road contended that its valuation for rate making and recapture purposes should be $161,545,948.

Patison's Fourteenth

MEXICO TOUR

If you are a member of Patison's Fourteenth Mexican Tour—

You will see the Pyramid of Cuicuilco, the oldest man-made structure on earth; estimated age, more than 11,000 years.

You will see the Pyramid of Tenayuca, where work of excavation is now being terminated; the heads of three hundred and sixty huge stone serpents guard the base of this archeological wonder.

You will see the great Pyramid of the Sun, covering an area of about thirteen acres and as high as a twenty-story building.

You will see the Pyramid of Cholula, larger even than the Pyramid of the Sun, but with the surface dirt not yet removed.

You will see the ruins of ancient cities of unknown origin.

You will explore the underground dwellings of a prehistoric race.

You will visit the Excavations of Copilco; here, in passages extending beneath an ancient lava flow, you will see intensely interesting remains of a race that existed long before the Christian era.

You will visit the museum of antiquities in the archeological zone of Teotihuacan.

You will visit Teoponzalco, a massive fortress recently brought to light from beneath the drifting dust of countless centuries.

You will see the ancient aqueduct of Los Remedios, and the nearby "Tower of Babel."

You will explore the great Caverns of Cacahuamilpa, an amazing labyrinth of caves many miles in extent—a worthy rival of the world-famous Carlsbad Caves.

You will get a close-up view of Popocatepetl, king of volcanoes, four times as high as Vesuvius; frequently great volumes of smoke are to be seen billowing skyward from its lofty crater.

You will see other awe-inspiring volcanic peaks, notably Ixtaccihuatl and Citlaltepetl, both crowned with mantles of everlasting snow; the latter peak, more than 18,000 feet high, is easily visible a hundred miles distant.

You will take the scenic trip to the Desert of the Lions.

You will go by automobile to the summit of a mountain range 10,000 feet in height, thence far down the opposite side to the charming tropical city of Cuernavaca, capital of Morelos.

You will visit Puebla, capital of the state of Puebla, one of the most entrancing of all the cities of Mexico.

You will visit Xochimilco and take a boat ride among its famous floating gardens.

You will visit the historical old city of Cholula and its Temple of a Hundred Domes.

You will visit the beautiful city of Guadalajara, known as the "Pearl of the Occident"; capital of the state of Jalisco.

You will see the Falls of Juanacatlan.

You will take a boat ride of two or three hours along the shores of Lake Chapala, Mexico's beautiful inland sea.

You will go to Toluca, capital of the state of Mexico; on this newly paved highway you will meet scores of picturesquely clad Indians engaged in their weary walk of fifty miles to the markets of Mexico City, carrying upon their backs burdens of every description.

You will visit the Convent of Churubusco, site of a sanguinary battle between American and Mexican forces.

You will be taken on trips requiring the use of automobiles for a total of more than eighty hours.

You will be taken to many points of outstanding interest never visited by any other Mexico tour party.

You will enjoy a delightful cruise of 2300 miles along the West Coast of Mexico, with brief stops at picturesque ports.

You will be with a party that never uses sightseeing buses.

You will have a room with private bath in one of Mexico City's best hotels.

You will see the thrilling jai-alai games, the most exciting of all sports; here frenzied gambling runs riot.

You will witness the spectacular tragedy of the bull ring.

You will attend typical Mexican shows.

You will enjoy ideal weather during the ten days that headquarters are maintained in Mexico City; the average temperature will not exceed 65 degrees.

You will learn why so many former members are repeating this trip time after time.

You will learn why former members who have visited Europe declare the Mexico trip to be far more interesting in many respects.

You will find out for yourself why Mexico has so often been styled "the Egypt of the Americas" and "the Wonderland of the World."

A circular of information regarding this tour may be obtained by addressing G. M. Patison, P. O. Box 128, Hollywood. (MOrningside 12331.)

COMBAT BEGINS IN AERIAL TESTS

Gen. Hines Reviews Planes as Sequel to Fights

"Enemies" Battle in Clouds During Maneuvers

Sealed Orders Given Some of Army's Sky Troops

SACRAMENTO, April 4. (AP)—Flying air forces came together today in the first simulated combat as a part of the United States Army Corps field maneuvers operating from the Mather Field base.

Today's aerial maneuvers sent the attacking ships out with instructions to attack railroad yards and lines of troops and materials in the "enemy" territory. To make the action realistic a group of attack planes flying near Mt. Diablo was made the target of pursuit planes.

When the planes returned to the field they were placed "on the line" for inspection and review by Brig.-Gen. John L. Hines, commanding the Ninth Corps Area, who with San Francisco city officials was the guest of Brig.-Gen. William E. Gillmore, commander of the provisional wing.

MANY TAKE AIR

After inspection, bombardment, attack and pursuit groups took the air not twice the more than 100 flying ships flew before the official party, first as units, then in one grand formation.

A third aerial review is to be held tomorrow afternoon for Gov. Young and members of his official family.

The day's tactical missions proved of particular interest in that certain of the groups were sent forth with sealed orders designating their objectives.

Pursuit ships were sent out to protect attack planes, which in turn, were to stage an offensive on enemy ground troops moving along the Dublin-Tracy highway. The pursuit ships were to attack enemy formations and in order to throw a semblance of reality into the maneuvers some of the "blue" attack ships were assumed to be enemy planes. The pursuit planes dived down upon the low-flying attackers, practically engaging them in an aerial "dog fight."

After swooping low along the Dublin-Tracy highway harassing the imaginary columns with machine-gun fire and light bombs, the pursuit planes sped homeward.

ANOTHER ATTACK

Meanwhile the bombardment planes, protected by pursuit ships, had over Napa Junction to attack railroads. Lines linking Marysville and Orville were the objectives for other bombers.

These maneuvers with the various groups co-ordinated were preliminary training for next week's problem in which all group flights of planes are to leave the field with sealed orders, not knowing their routes or objectives until aloft.

During the third and last week of the maneuvers, the groups are to function as a single unit against an enemy, who is presumed to have invaded Southern California and established his lines across the State from Monterey Bay through Stockton. This phase of the exercises is to be a real "war." The preceding week action is simulated warfare by dynamic and groups.

While the planes were on their mission today a backfire on the Army's armatored metal ambulance plane stationed on the field caused a blaze. The fire lasted about one-half minute before being extinguished by a near-by fire truck. No one was hurt and the property damage consisted of a few burned ignition wires.

VERDICT IN DEATH CASE RETRACTED

Coroner's Jury Withdraws Charge Against Negro; Husband Held for Deed

SUFFOLK (Va.) April 4. (AP)—John William R. Carver, former Philadelphia real-estate man, held without bond on murder charges, a Coroner's jury late today returned a new verdict in the triple slaying at the Carver home last Wednesday. Announced after discovery of new evidence, the jury held that Mrs. Carver and her small son met death at the hands of persons unknown to them. The first verdict of the jury was that Ben Whitehead, who killed the woman and child with an ax, and was in turn slain by Carver "in justifiable homicide." The jury recommended that a special jury further investigate the case. The grand jury already has been called to meet tomorrow.

The case was reopened last night when the sheriff arrested Carver and held him for questioning. Discovery of a $10,000 double-idemnity insurance policy on Mrs. Carver, payable to her husband, and stories related by neighbors and others were cited by the Sheriff as his reason for the act.

A warrant charging Carver with the murder of his wife, son and Ben Whitehead was served on Carver in jail today.

Carver's statement was that "they ought to know better."

FARM LABORER SLAIN AND ANOTHER ACCUSED

STOCKTON, April 4. (AP)—William Rhodes, 59 years of age, farm laborer, is dead, and Byron H. Vickers, 48, laborer, is being held on a charge of murder. Smith's body was found near an automobile camp early this morning, the head badly mutilated by ax blows. Blood stains led police to Vickery's cabin.

ARMY FLYERS HURT IN WRECK OF PLANE

GALVESTON (Tex.) April 4. (AP)—Lieut. Alfred Seattle and Sergt. Carl Cline were injured today when their army plane crashed west of the Fort Crockett landing field, Galveston. The condition of both men is serious. Their plane, which had been delivered last week, was a total loss.

MENDELL RELEASED FROM JAIL

Flyer Freed by Mexican Officials Shortly After Denying He Confessed

MEXICALI, April 4. (AP)—Loren Mendell, Los Angeles aviator arrested twenty miles south of here for asserted illegal entry, was released by officials at the Mexican customs office within twenty feet of the United States border tonight.

The flyer walked to a hotel and told a United States immigration officer, who came from Calexico, Cal., across the border from here to interview him, that he would stay in Mexicali for "three or four days," and he expected Mexican officials to release to him tomorrow the plane they confiscated at the time of his arrest.

Shortly before he was taken from the Mexicali jail, Mendell issued a statement denying that he had confessed he intended to smuggle Japanese into California. United States officials desire to question him concerning the asserted smuggling plot.

Artist Marchand Freed From Jail in Murder Case

BUFFALO, April 4. (AP)—Another actor in the Marchand murder trial drama of the past three weeks made an exit tonight. Henri Marchand, artist and sculptor, was released today from the Erie County Jail in which he had been detained as a material witness in connection with the murder of his wife, Clothilde Marchand.

Freed from the necessity for further appearance on the witness stand when Lila Jimerson, Indian woman charged with the crime, pleaded guilty yesterday to a reduced charge of second-degree murder, the artist was held until today pending formal signing of his release papers.

FALL CHARGES DISMISSED

DENVER, April 4. (AP)—Charges that Albert B. Fall, as Secretary of the Interior, was guilty of fraud in leasing three mining properties belonging to Oklahoma Indians, were dismissed today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Tenth Judicial District.

CENSUS STAFF OUT ON STRIKE

Farm Area Enumerators in Kansas Demand More Money

DODGE CITY (Kan.) April 4. (AP)—H. F. Millikan, Federal census supervisor for nineteen counties, today announced that the farm enumerators appointed to take the census in Greeley county have gone on a strike for higher pay.

The enumerators, Herbert R. Callen, Alvin A. Meyer, Bert Houghland and Alfred E. Nelson, all of Tribune, Kan., have not signed their oaths, Millikan said, pending their demand for more money for asking questions.

The original rate of pay set for Greeley county census enumerators was 8 cents for each person listed and 40 cents for each farm. This rate was increased to 10 cents and 47 cents, but the enumerators are not satisfied.

Working-Hour Cut Announced by Store Chain

CHICAGO, April 4. (Exclusive)—The first large scale move to reduce working hours of retail-store employees, was announced today by Martin L. Straus, president of the Hartman Corporation. Beginning tomorrow, the fifty-four Hartman stores will open their doors at 10 a.m., instead of 9. The new step is the result of an exhaustive investigation into the hours during which the greatest part of retail buying is done.

Mr. Straus predicts that eventually all stores in the larger cities will open their doors at 11 a.m. and stay open until 4 p.m. With stores opening at 11, Mr. Straus says employees will have no lunch periods. Lunch periods will be given, however, under the 10 o'clock opening. Mr. Straus says their investigation disclosed that the hour from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m., is practically useless for sales.

Railroad Loses Suit for Freight on Grape Cargo

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4. (AP)—In a decision upholding as legal the practice of California fruit growers to ship fruit east on "advise diversion orders," Superior Judge Shortall today ruled the F. H. Buck Company, local shippers, are not liable as contended by the New York Central Railway, for payment of $6096 in freight charges.

The shippers in 1922 sent out to an "approximate" market, ten carloads of grapes, later ordering the shipment diverted to a consignee in Rochester, N.Y., the consignee went into bankruptcy and the railroad billed the local shipper for freight charges.

Attorneys for the shipper contended the diversion order changed the original shipment contract, shifting liability for freight charges to the consignee. This view was upheld by the court.

Firemen Injured Battling Blaze

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4. (AP)—Two firemen were overcome by smoke here tonight in fighting a two-alarm fire in the basement of the Benaderet Pipe and Tobacco Shop at Third and Market streets. Samuel Benaderet, owner of the shop, estimated the damage at $10,000.

Two fire engines collided while speeding to the scene of the fire. No one was injured, although one of the trucks was badly damaged.

Extortion Case Trial Started

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4. (AP)—Trial of Mrs. Anne Denning, 35 years of age, Los Angeles divorcee, on charges of extortion preferred by Dr. Frederick H. Hadley, opened in Superior Court here today. Dr. Hadley charges Mrs. Denning with demanding $50,000 from him on penalty of reporting to the Board of Medical Examiners that he performed an illegal operation on her.

HUGE GOLD SHIPMENT TO LEAVE AUSTRALIA

MELBOURNE (Australia) April 4. (AP)—The Commonwealth Bank today arranged to ship overseas £3,000,000 gold (about $40,000,000.) While the general object is to relieve the exchange position, the gold also is needed to meet national obligations and interest due overseas.

RAIL LINE HEARINGS FINISHED

Western Pacific Rejects Espee's Plan to Handle All Bay City Traffic

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4. (AP)—The Western Pacific Railroad today rejected the Southern Pacific Company's offer of traffic service on its line running into San Francisco.

The rejection was the final development in the Interstate Commerce Commission hearing on the Western Pacific's application to build its own line into the city. Examiner Davis set May 31 for filing of concurrent briefs and closed the hearing.

President Adams of the Western Pacific took the stand late this afternoon and said flatly that the Southern Pacific "bridge offer," to bring Western Pacific traffic from Niles to San Francisco, was "unacceptable."

During the afternoon Albert G. Mott, chief engineer for the California Railroad Commission, told why he did not favor acceptance of the Southern Pacific "bridge" offer. While it would be an improvement over existing conditions it would not be as beneficial as would Western Pacific operation of its own trains over its own lines and on its own schedules. Delays would be occasioned in live-stock shipments, while carrying of dead freight into San Francisco would be subjected to still longer delays.

Thirty Hurt as Police Fire on Bombay Strikers

BOMBAY (India) April 4. (AP)—Police today fired on a crowd of striking Indian railway men, injuring thirty persons, including two European bystanders. A police sergeant and Miss B. Hay and H. B. Burley were taken to the hospital.

The encounter occurred outside the Victorial terminal of the Great Indian Peninsular Railway, where 2000 strikers were demonstrating.

The natives forced their way into the station and demanded to be taken to the station of Byculla, in the environs of the city. Railway officials replied by shutting the platform gates, an action that so incensed the strikers that they burst into an uproarious disturbance.

The police were sent for, but when they arrived the strikers received them with a barrage of stones. They retaliated by opening fire.

Pair Released in Boy Murder

WOOSTER (O.) April 4. (AP)—Charles Hannah and Earl Conold were freed from charges of stealing and murdering Melvin Horst, 4 years of age, at Orrville, O., when Judge Starn today nolled the indictments against them. Judge Starn's action was requested by Prosecutor Craven.

ENGLISH COAL MINES BILL SENT TO LORDS

LONDON, April 4. (AP)—The government's coal mines bill, which, in one of its stages brought the initial defeat of the MacDonald Ministry, was sent on to the House of Lords today after passing its third reading in the House of Commons. A motion for rejection was defeated in the lower house by 277 to 234.

WELLINGTON (N. Z.) April 4. (Exclusive)—Ever since his arrival from the Antarctic nearly a month ago the people of the capital city of the Dominion have been eager to welcome Rear-Admiral Byrd. The increasing comment on his long stay in Dunedin is now silenced by the definite announcement that Admiral Byrd arrives here Tuesday morning, and he is assured of the heartiest reception. Upon leaving the Dunedin train Monday Admiral Byrd will receive a civic welcome during three hours' stay at Christ Church prior to taking the steamer to Wellington. Admiral Byrd counts upon his visit to Wellington as of great importance to himself and the expedition.

"I am going there to thank the New Zealand government for the hospitality and many courtesies extended the expedition, also the Wellington Harbor Board for the great assistance rendered when the whaler Larsen landed the planes and other equipment there in November, 1928, and also when the Eleanor Bolling was there loading cargo," said Admiral Byrd in Dunedin today. "The expedition has many good friends in Wellington. I regret that dispatching the ships and straightening out business affairs in Dunedin prevented my visiting Wellington sooner."

RECEPTION PLANNED

Admiral Byrd will pay official calls on the recently arrived new Governor-General, Lord Bledisloe, and also Prime Minister Sir Joseph Ward and other members of the Cabinet. Mayor Troup has arranged a civic reception for Admiral Byrd at the City Hall here next Tuesday night, when a great crowd is assured.

Admiral Byrd has received many invitations to attend social functions in Wellington and elsewhere. He regrets that he is unable to accept all of them in the brief time at his disposal. He has announced his intention to accept the pressing invitation of the government to visit the thermal district and the Rotoru in Auckland Province, where the largest Maori population is centered. Admiral Byrd is assured a great welcome from the Maoris.

After returning from the Rotoru Admiral Byrd, Charles E. Lofgren, Floyd V. Berkner and Russell Owen will make another brief stay in Wellington. Admiral Byrd then goes to Dunedin to complete the expedition business and give a lecture with illustrated films of his polar and trans-Atlantic adventures.

START HOME 26th INST.

Reservations of the steamer Corinthic sailing the 8th inst. have been canceled. The Byrd party definitely has decided to depart from Wellington on the motor liner Rangitiki on the 26th inst., which is due in Panama May 15. They are arranging to fit up short-wave radio apparatus on the Rangitiki enabling them to communicate with the expedition ships and also New York City during the trans-Pacific passage.

Dean Smith and Joe De Ganahl departed from Wellington on the steamer Remuera the 2nd inst. and are due to arrive at Balboa, Canal Zone, on the 30th inst.

CITY OF NEW YORK STILL TOSSED BY STORM

BY DR. COMAN

(Copyright, 1930, by The Los Angeles Times, the New York Times Company and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

BARQUE CITY OF NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive)—Still in the grip of a cyclonic storm common to these regions, the City of New York is scudding before the wind somewhere about 800 miles south of the Cook Islands. Occasional lulls when the hurricane dies down to a mere heavy gale, have given us little hope of the storm abating for the barometer continues to fall.

The sky remains menacingly overcast and heavy seas continue to make life miserable aboard the ship.

The ship is rolling so much that it is difficult to send this dispatch.

PIRATE'S BARK TO SAIL ON

Pittsburgh Pitcher's Divorce Plea Rejected; Court Finds Buccaneer's Hands Unclean

CANTON (O.) April 4. (AP)—Burleigh A. Grimes, Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, lost his divorce suit in Common Pleas Court today when Judge Ake dismissed the petition on motion of the defendants, Mrs. Florence Ruth Grimes.

In a lengthy opinion, Judge Ake held Mrs. Grimes was not guilty of gross neglect of duty or cruelty, as asserted by her husband, and that, therefore, a divorce could not be granted on the testimony submitted.

HUSBAND'S SIDE

Witness for Grimes had testified that Mrs. Grimes had a violent temper; that she frequently used profane language, and attempted to cause trouble between her husband and his team-mates.

Grimes testified his wife was extravagant and that on several occasions she had purchased expensive jewelry and dresses without first obtaining his approval.

The Pittsburgh Pirates had refused Grimes a contract pending settlement of his divorce case. He has been in private training since his team-mates went to California for spring training.

Mrs. Grimes testified Grimes had received letters from two women in Boston and one in Philadelphia. Grimes told the court the letters were "fan mail."

CONVICTS GRIMES

"The real reason for the divorce case," Judge Ake said, "can be found in a letter written by a girl living in Boston. This letter clearly indicates that there was some intimacy between Grimes and this girl. This letter shows that Grimes did not come into this court with clean hands.

"Mrs. Grimes has made some mistakes, but in all of the testimony there was not a single word that reflected on her moral character."

Pacific to Get New Ship Line

PORTLAND (Or.) April 4. (AP)—Ralph E. Williams, Portland banker and vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, said upon his arrival here today from Washington, D. C., that within a month an announcement will be made of a new shipping line from the Pacific Coast to the Orient entailing construction of five ships at a cost of $20,000,000.

Williams said that K. D. Dawson, head of the State's Steamship Company, widely known Pacific Coast firm, is in New York conferring with shipbuilders and financial interests.

CIVIL WARFARE NEAR IN CHINA

Nationalists Move Against Revolting Provinces

Gen. Chang Sends Gunboats to Shantung Stronghold

Yen Aided by Feng Would Overthrow President

SHANGHAI, April 4. (AP)—China's Nationalist government today began assembling its war machinery to combat the latest rebellion, the northern alliance headed by Gens. Yen Hsi-Shan and Feng Yu-Hsiang.

Rallying to the aid of the central government at Nanking, the Manchurian dictator, Chang Hsueh-Liang, dispatched a squadron of gunboats to Tsingtao, Shantung Province. He also ordered Manchuria's troops mobilized south of Shanhaikwan, to the sea end of the great wall of China, built more than 2000 years ago to keep out northern tribes.

TROOPS PREPARED

Chang's troops were ordered prepared to move against the city of Tientsin and the forces of the northern alliance.

Aroused by the proclamation of Yen Hsi-Shan, Governor of Shansi Province, that he will head a revolt against the Nationalist government and overthrow President Chiang Kai-Shek, the government's State Council tonight approved a mandate for "the arrest and subjugation" of Yen. The government is expected to issue the mandate tomorrow. This is considered virtually a declaration of war against the militarist northern alliance.

WOULD OUST PRESIDENT

Supported by Gen. Feng Yu-Hsiang, who often has changed sides in China's many military conflicts, Gov. Yen Hsi-Shan issued a denunciation against the Nationalist government Wednesday at Taiyuan-fu, capital of Shansi Province.

In taking command of the "national" forces, he stated the purpose of the northerners to overthrow President Chiang Kai-Shek, whom he charged is the dictator of a government in which corruption and bribery are practiced openly, while bandits infest the land.

QUAKER LEADER VISITS WHITTIER

Dr. Henry T. Hodgkin Comes From London Institution

He Will Officiate at Campus Two-day Retreat

"Quakerism" Talk Themes Beginning Today

WHITTIER, April 4.—Dr. Henry T. Hodgkin of King's College, Cambridge, and St. Thomas' Hospital, London, one of the best-known Quaker educators in the world, is coming here to hold a two-day retreat on the Whittier College campus, Saturday and Sunday. The theme of the retreat is "Quakerism, Its Place in the World."

Dr. Hodgkin comes under the auspices of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Friends Service Committee, whose headquarters are at Philadelphia. He comes in the interest of Pendle Hill, a Quaker graduate center for religious and social study, near that city.

The first meeting of the retreat here will be at Platner Hall, on the college campus, at 2 p.m. tomorrow. Another conference will be held in the evening.

Dr. Hodgkin speaks at the First Friends Church here, the largest Friends or "Quaker," as they are more commonly called, church in the world, at 11 a.m. Sunday, and a reception is planned for the eminent divine at 2:30 p.m.

By reason of his exceptionally varied and active service distributed between England, Asia, Europe and America, it is declared, he well deserves to be called a citizen of the world. A five-year period of medical work at Chengtu, West China, was the occasion of his first extended contact with the Orient. He is the author of half a dozen books on religious subjects.

The object of the school which Dr. Hodgkin is founding is a study of movements of thought characteristic of this age; an interpretation of the Christian message; a review of Christianity as an expanding movement coming into relation with varied cultures and philosophies, and a consideration of recent attempts to apply Christian principles in social, industrial and international affairs.

Montebello Has Six Candidates

MONTEBELLO, April 4. — With political campaigns conspicuous by their absence, this city is entering upon the eve of its municipal election, the 14th inst., with six men running for place on the City Council. There are two Councilmen to be elected for a term of four years.

Indication that a light ballot will be cast is shown in the fact that only 1811 citizens of the 7000 population registered this year, against 2226 registering two years ago.

The six men who have entered the political race represent every walk of life within the city. They are: Ernest Beech, William G. McMillan, Stewart S. Needham, Chester W. Shelley, Walter L. Taylor and John L. Wyer.

A. P. Walker has no opponent for the office of City Clerk, which he has held to the satisfaction of all since the resignation of L. G. Howe, who was appointed City Manager about two years ago.

Frank D. Ashleigh is running for re-election and Clyde E. Ferian has announced his candidacy for City Treasurer.

The one proposition to be voted on is as follows: "Shall the salary of each member of the City Council of the city of Montebello from and after the first day of July be increased from the sum of $300 per year to the sum of $600 a year, payable quarterly?"

NEW MACHINERY FOR CANNERY INSTALLED

SAN FERNANDO, April 4.—Approximately $15,000 worth of new machinery representing the most modern cannery equipment to be had has been purchased by the Fernando Canning Company for the local plant. Four carloads of the machinery has arrived and is being installed. The equipment will take care of packing all products of the cannery such as apricots, peaches, tomatoes and spinach, and will speed up work and increase the capacity. A new boiler is also to be added to the steam plant equipment of the cannery.

EMINENT EDUCATOR TO LEAD MEETINGS

Dr. Henry T. Hodgkins

Neal Murray to be Speaker at N.E.A. Sessions

ORANGE, April 5.—Announcement was made today by J. F. Craemer, publisher of the Orange Daily News and director of the National Editorial Association, that Neil R. Murray of the El Monte Herald has accepted an invitation to speak before the National Editorial Association convention at Milwaukee in June on the subject, "Editing a Country Weekly."

Murray is considered one of the leading authorities on this subject in the United States. As publisher of the El Monte Herald he recently won the Los Angeles Times silver cup for the best front page on a country weekly in California, awarded under the rules of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Additional honors were also bestowed upon him recently by Prof. John H. Casey of the University of Oklahoma School of Journalism who placed his paper on the annual "All-American" list of eleven outstanding country weeklies in the United States.

During his six years as a country editor Murray has contributed articles on "Editing the Country Weekly" to several leading magazines. His recent address before the University of Southern California School of Journalism won him fame throughout California and was later incorporated in Prof. Stewart Robertson's textbook on Journalism just published.

"No one in the newspaper profession has a better grasp of his subject than Murray," said Craemer in making the announcement. "I am particularly gratified that the National Editorial Association is so fortunate as to have him on its convention program."

Swarzwald on School Board

BEVERLY HILLS, April 4.—Eugene Swarzwald formally qualified today as a member of the Beverly Hills Board of School Trustees with the filing of his certificate of election. Swarzwald succeeds Eugene Conaway, retired, the other members being Mrs. Jay B. Millard and Clifford E. Hughes. The new member was elected by the largest vote ever cast in a school election here, 402 to 145. He will take his seat May 1.

VETERANS' HOSPITAL HEAD TRANSFERRED

SAN FERNANDO, April 4.—Dr. Samuel H. James, superintendent of United States Veterans' Hospital No. 104, here, has been transferred to the Veterans' Hospital at Tucson, Ariz., effective the 14th inst. He will be succeeded here by Dr. D. C. Farnsworth, who comes from the Veterans' Bureau at Washington. Dr. James took charge of the local Veterans' Hospital on its opening February 11, 1926, coming here from Camp Kearny, where the hospital was closed. The one here is now rated by officials of the Veterans' Bureau as a model institution. The hospital at Tucson, which Dr. James will superintend, is approximately double the size of the institution here.

OLD ASISTENCIA LORE RELATED

Daughter of Pioneer Owner of Ranch on Site Talks

Miss Mary Barton Points to Where Chapel Stood

Settlers Carried Off Bricks and Timber, She Says

REDLANDS, April 4.—The exact site of the chapel at the Asistencia of Old Mission San Gabriel, west of Redlands, has been learned. George Beattie, president of the county Historical Society, which is restoring the outpost of San Gabriel Mission, brought Miss Mary Barton to the Asistencia today and she located the exact site of the chapel within the adobe walls. She also marked four rooms at the west side of the chapel. Miss Barton is the daughter of Dr. Benjamin Barton, pioneer who owned the ranch where the Asistencia stands, for many years.

The rooms were covered with shakes in the time of the Bartons but underneath the shakes were parts of the old roofs, made of brush sealed with tar from the Brea pits.

TAR MELTED DOWN

"On hot days," Miss Barton recalled, "the tar melted and dripped into the rooms. I was only a little girl then. I can recall going to the buildings along the south wall and gathering some of this Brea tar, hoping it would be good chewing gum. It was very disappointing.

"The buildings at the south were disintegrating in our time, but my father used some of them as storerooms."

The weather, neglect and settlers who carried off bricks and timber, are known to have contributed to the ruin of the Asistencia, but yesterday the San Bernardino pioneer told another factor. A boy who came to this valley from Boston found great delight in pushing down whatever walls would yield to his strength.

Dr. Barton pastured his sheep on the site of what is now Redlands and used the patio of the Asistencia as a corral, Miss Barton said.

"Indians, some of whom worked for my father, lived in brush shelters on the land which belongs to the Asistencia," Miss Barton said.

"LOST MINE" RUMORED

"They never would build their shelters close to the Zanja, however. They believed such a practice would be unhealthful."

The traditional "lost gold mine of San Bernardino Valley" was talked about even when she was a child, according to Miss Barton.

"It was reputed to be one league east of the Asistencia gate," she said. "Riding around in territory which was at that distance I used to keep an eye out for the 'lost mine,' but, of course, I never saw it."

How Dr. Barton befriended stranded families from the East was related by Miss Barton.

"Frequently," she said, "emigrants from the East arrived in this valley destitute. My father gave them the use of an old adobe which stood east of the Asistencia, supplies and seed for planting. Usually they stayed until they harvested their crop; then they were off to some other place."

Stock Dealers of San Diego Face Charges

SAN DIEGO, April 4.—Indicating an extensive grand jury investigation into acts of bond sharks the District Attorney today issued complaints against two local stock salesmen, charging them with three counts of grand theft. The specific counts accuse the salesmen of having swindled elderly people of more than $16,000. In addition, other counts are being considered by the District Attorney against the same pair for amounts reaching a total of approximately $150,000. Dep. Dist.-Atty. E. N. Clark let it be known. With arrest of the suspects bail of $50,000 in each case will be demanded, Clark stated.

Deputy Sheriff John Stevens, armed with the warrants, lay in wait for the suspects in advance of the noon hour at their home, both believed to be staying at one address in East San Diego. Other deputies were in the neighborhood keeping in touch with Stevens. The warrants were issued by Township Justice Arthur L. Mundo. Names of the suspects were kept secret as was other explicit information, which, it was feared, would warn them of impending arrest.

Dist.-Atty. Stephen Connell announced through his deputy, Clark, the latter taking active part in stock and bond investigations, that after contact is established with the first two suspects sought, other complaints will be placed with the grand jury with prospect of immediate indictment on the information already available to the officers.

The complaint of Mrs. Sarah Upton Edwards, 84-year-old La Mesa widow, who reported herself swindled out of securities she valued at $100,000 or more, has not yet been included in the list, Clark admitted. Possibility that the suspects sought by officers today would be linked with Mrs. Edwards's case was hinted by Clark, however.

SAN FERNANDO WILL GREET LEGION CHIEF

SAN FERNANDO, April 4.—Civic organizations are to co-operate with the American Legion Post to welcome O. L. Bodenhamer, National Commander of the Legion, who is to visit the local post the 15th inst. While here the official will visit the United States Veterans' Hospital. The program calls for an inspection of the new American Legion clubhouse nearing completion.

RODEO ANIMALS ARRIVE HERE

Untamed Stock Brought to Rancho

Buff Brady on Hurricane Deck of Bucking Mount

SAUGUS, April 4.—A carload of wild horses from Idaho and a carload of wild Brahma steers from Texas arrived here today for participation in the fifth annual Baker Rancho Rodeo to be held Sunday afternoon, the 27th inst.

These wild animals, upon which no man has ever attempted to ride, will test the mettle of many of the West's best cowboys and cowgirls competing in the rodeo for a purse reported to exceed $8000.

Exceptional is expected to be the broncho busting contest, in which three former Baker Ranch winners are to compete.

Roy Baker, Robert Anderson and Hoot Gibson, sponsors of the show, announced today that a parade of the old West would precede the rodeo. In this parade will be schooner wagons, ox-carts, pack outfits, pony express riders and other equipment associated with early California life.

Smuggling of Horses, Charge Faced by Two

EL CENTRO, April 4.—John Carter and William Howard, arrested along the border east of Calexico this week on a charge of conspiracy to smuggle horses across the line from Mexico, were bound over for trial in the Federal Court under $3500 bond each at the preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Dorsey Whitelaw today.

B. A. Fernow, ranch owner, who was arrested with the men, was released by the commissioner on grounds of lack of evidence.

The arrests were made by Customs Patrolman Louis Piammaris. According to his accusation, twenty-nine horses and ponies were brought over the border by two Mexicans early this week and delivered to the defendants, who placed them in a corral in Calexico.

Carter and Howard denied any knowledge of horses having been brought into the United States illegally. They asserted that the animals were purchased on the American side in good faith. Customs officers have been investigating for several days, however, and their testimony resulted in the men being held for trial.

Duty on the animals, according to customs officers is $50 a head. If the men are found guilty the stock is to be sold at public auction by the government.

COUNCIL APPROVES FLOOD-CONTROL PLAN

SAN FERNANDO, April 4.—The local City Council has approved the plan of the County Flood Control for building a concrete ditch seven feet wide and five feet deep to lead from the first of a series of check dams in May Canyon to the open conduit extending along Eighth street here into the Pacoima Wash. The drainage system is part of the county's plan to curb flood waters from May Canyon following heavy rains and to divert them into the wash thus preventing overflowing of property in the northeast section of the city. The total cost of the project, including the check dams will be more than $30,000.

Orange County Treasurer Again Seeks Election

SANTA ANA, April 4.—Announcement was made today that J. C. Joplin would be a candidate for re-election to the office of County Treasurer. Joplin, who has been in office many years, first was elected to the custodianship of the county cash in 1898, and, excepting one term, has held the office continuously since that time. The office has grown up from where a few tens of thousands constituted a year's business to where millions pass through it each year. The office has grown with the business and its conduct has met the exacting demands of grand juries and accounting experts.

Joplin came to Orange county more than half a century ago. He settled first in Villa Park and then in Bell Canyon. Throughout most of his life in the county he has maintained a residence in this city.

From his arrival, he has been deeply interested in horticultural and agricultural pursuits and products, especially in the development of new products that might be adapted to this section. In 1892, he was sent to the World's Fair, in charge of Orange county's exhibit, which he had gathered together. That effort was Orange county's first movement to advertise itself in the East.

Coach Fined for Traffic Offense

VENTURA, April 4.—Coach Harry M. Keaney of the Ventura Union High School athletic coaching staff drew a fine of $25 in City Court before Judge Thomas Mellandt today on a charge of reckless driving in the Sheridan Way school zone.

Charges against Keaney were filed following a collision in which the automobile he was driving struck another car making a U-turn at Ventura avenue and Simpson street on March 21.

Keaney told Judge Mellandt that he hit the other car to avoid striking one which stopped suddenly in front of him, and that he had paid for the damages.

Jurist Who Disappears from Benton Harbor in Redlands

Discounts Stories That He Heads House of David

Ex-Member San Bernardino County Bench Motors West

REDLANDS, April 4.—Judge Harry Dewhirst, former Superior Court judge of San Bernardino county and resident of this city for several years, who disappeared from Benton Harbor, Mich., about ten days ago after being credited with having gained control of the affairs of the House of David from Mary, the wife of former King Benjamin, was located here today.

Judge Dewhirst arrived here last night for a few days' visit with friends. "I need a vacation and rest after long court sessions for the House of David," he said this morning. "My son Thomas and I drove from Michigan and we had a most delightful trip. It has been a real treat."

WILL NOT BE "KING"

Judge Dewhirst denied that he is the head of the House of David or has any desire to become the king. "There is nothing to that. We have vested the affairs in a board of thirty-two members, of which I am the secretary, and the one who deals with the outside world. I am also the attorney for the house and because I usually represent it, the outside people have been saying that now the board has gained control of affairs, I am to be king. That is not true."

Judge Dewhirst says that it has been a bitter fight to get all the affairs of the great colony in Southern Michigan in proper condition after the death of King Benjamin, "but they are now settled and well organized and the colony will continue to prosper and grow; we know that it will," said the judge.

JUDGE PROVES VERSATILE

Dewhirst is a versatile member of the colony. He not only is the attorney but he also is a musician and plays a clarinet in the band, which often travels over the country. One son, Robert, is given credit of being one of the finest musicians in Southern Michigan and a composer of great promise. The other, Thomas, is a member of the baseball team, a left-fielder with the highest batting average of the team, which each summer travels from 25,000 to 30,000 miles playing exhibition games before thousands of people interested in seeing these bearded men with long hair play baseball. Thomas says the record of victories is impressive.

The Dewhirsts, father and son, will leave here tomorrow on their return trip. Asked if it is true that he went into hiding after the recent court decision giving the board entire control of the affairs of the House of David, Dewhirst laughed heartily and said, "No, I haven't been hiding. I've been traveling and wanted to be quiet and rest so did not tell anyone who I was. That's all."

Goat to Walk on Tight Rope

INGLEWOOD, April 4. —Goats will walk the tight rope tomorrow for the benefit of the Inglewood Intermediate School's athletic fund. Other athletic animals announced by the juvenile press agent include a mule which kicks a forty-two-inch football, and a champion high-jumping greyhound, to say nothing of horses, monkeys and other athletes of the animal kingdom.

The live animal circus begins at 2:30 p.m. on the school grounds, which will be properly screened to prevent anyone on the outside from seeing these remarkable human impersonations by animals. The circus was suggested by Lionel De Sylva, athletic director, and was put into fact by the students for the benefit of the athletic fund.

Bees on Tour of Nectar Cups

UPLAND, April 4.—The seasonal march of the bees has begun. William Atchley, local bee and honey king, has finished parking his thousands of bees in the citrus orchards of Ontario, Upland and Pomona.

There they will remain supping orange nectar for the manufacture of orange blossom honey. As soon as the orange crop is harvested, which will be next month, Atchley will take his bees out on the desert, where they will remain most of the summer, getting their honey products from a wild buckwheat and sage menu; then the little busers will shift to a lima bean diet in Ventura county.

OCCUPATION-LICENSE TAX UP TO COUNCIL

SANTA BARBARA, April 4.—Consideration of an occupation-license tax for this city will come before the City Council at its next meeting. The ordinance committee is drawing up an ordinance providing for such a tax. Councilman Harry Smith has been the chief advocate of such a measure. "A new angle in support of an occupation tax has just come to my notice," said Smith. "Other cities use such a measure to apply to carnival companies and street fairs. It is easily recognized that such concerns use merry-go-rounds and childrens' entertainment as a thin disguise for easy-money games which take thousands of dollars out of the city. Other cities place so high a tax on these concerns as to prevent their coming." Mayor T. R. Finley also said that he agreed with Councilman Smith and that he believes such a measure should be adopted.

HEY, KIDS, HERE'S MARBLES CHAMPEEN

Varcel Winder

ONTARIO, April 4.—Varcel Winder is only 10 years of age, but he can make more marbles fly out of a ten-foot ring in one shot than any other boy in this city can. The youngster proved his claim to being city champion marble shooter, by defeating all comers in two classes in a recent marble shooting tournament staged by the Y.M.C.A. Varcel was put in Class B for the tournament. This class was for the "little" boys and Class A for the big ones. Sherwood Wallace won the championship of Class A by defeating Bud Taylor in the finals, 19 to 17 marbles.

Varcel Winder found himself pitted against his older brother, Ramon Winder, in the finals of the Class B contests. Varcel knocked seventeen marbles out of the ring, and his brother Ramon got only sixteen. Then Winder and Wallace were matched for the championship of Ontario in marble shooting. Wallace was going great in the superfinals, but missed an easy shot.

Varcel licked his thumb, knuckled down, and sent miggs scattering all over the 'Y' field. When he cleaned out the ring he was crowned the king of the kids, and toted home a handsome silver trophy cup donated by L. O. Bumstead, local sportsman. He is a pupil at South Euclid school.

Hotel Arranges Reception for Good-Will Party

SAN DIEGO, April 4.—Combining a welcome to voyagers from Los Angeles and a bon voyage to San Diegans, an informal reception is to be staged at the El Cortes Hotel on the arrival of the Dorothy Alexander here on the first of her two final good-will cruises down the west coast of Mexico.

Sailing from Wilmington the night of May 2, the Admiral liner will dock here the following morning and Manager Richard Scollin of the El Cortes is planning special festivities for the arriving vacationists to reflect San Diego hospitality.

Numbers of local business men and their families are planning to make the 2300-mile, twelve-day cruise, which will include extensive stop-overs at Ensenada, La Paz and Mazatlan, where special festivities will be staged by Mexican officials in honor of the visitors.

Several San Diegans are planning to join a party being assembled by Clyde Pafison to extend the visit inland to Mexico City and to return on the second cruise of the Dorothy, scheduled to start from Wilmington on May 17.

TWO WOMEN INJURED WHEN CAR TURTLES

ONTARIO, April 4.—Two women, Mrs. F. B. Strange and Mrs. N. R. Corn, were injured today when the car driven by Mrs. Strange overturned at the intersection of Campus avenue and D street. Mrs. Strange, observing the approach of another machine driven by Mrs. N. D. McCallum, swerved her car into D street, where it turned over and fell against a palm tree.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH

Tourist Dragged from Bay at San Diego Found to Have No Water in Lungs

SAN DIEGO, April 4.—Strange circumstances surrounding the death today of Henry Smethwick, 46 years of age, prompted police and Coroner's officers to begin an investigation on the theory that the man was murdered. Although he was dragged from the bay at the foot of Fifth avenue by two sailors and a taxi-driver, an autopsy performed on the body indicated that the man had been smothered to death and not drowned, but by partial asphyxiation or by smothering.

Dr. J. J. Shea, physician to the Coroner, declared following the post mortem that there was no water in the lungs or stomach, indicating that drowning was not a factor in the death. Police reports state that a taxi-driver named E. J. Anderson, drove Smethwick to the bay front at Fifth avenue at 3 a.m. today. Anderson returned to the scene several minutes later to find two sailors attempting to drag Smethwick from the bay. Coroner Schuyler C. Kelley said he learned that Smethwick had $200 in his possession yesterday which was not found on his person when dragged from the bay today.

Dr. Shea found a congestion of the brain on the dead man, which he said, might have been caused

When he arrived on the scene Anderson said he found C. A. Peacock and J. A. Scobee, both sailors, aboard the U.S.S. Chandler, attempting to drag Smethwick from the bay. After the two sailors and the taxi-driver had pulled the man from the waters, he was taken by police to the San Diego Hospital where he died within two hours. Smethwick, a tourist, arrived here about six weeks ago and has been staying at a downtown hotel.

MRS. AGNES DAY JAILED

Girl-Wife Who Faces Manslaughter Charge for Death of Pasadena Youth, Unable to Provide Bail

PASADENA, April 4.—The preliminary hearing in the case of Mrs. Agnes Day, Monrovia girl-wife charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of 11-year-old Boy Scout, will be held here in Justice Court tomorrow at 10 a.m. Unable to furnish $6000 bail, the suspect was remanded to jail after being arraigned today.

Totsubo and his chum, Masao Sugano, 12 years of age, were run over and injured, Totsubo fatally, late Wednesday night by an automobile which the police charge was driven by the Monrovia girl while she was under the influence of wine tonic purchased earlier in the evening from a local drug store.

Following a Coroner's inquest over the Totsubo boy's body, held this morning in the Ives & Warren mortuary, the jury announced in its verdict that "Criminal negligence upon the part of Agnes Day was responsible for the death of George Totsubo."

The Sugano youth was believed to have been in a dying condition yesterday, but reports from the Pasadena Hospital late today indicate that he probably will recover.

Raney C. Draper of Monrovia and Clency H. Hasbouck of Glendale, retained as the girl's attorneys, were present at the inquest.

Despite Mrs. Day's admission to the police that the accident occurred after she had spent Wednesday evening with Don Fross of 495 Wyoming street, Pasadena, she flew into the arms of her husband, Chester A. Day, when he visited her for the first time in her cell last night. Day comforted the 21-year-old prisoner and told her he would fight for her, "No matter what happens." The husband did not attend the inquest today.

Witnesses included Detective Lieutenants Henry Collins and William Cropsey, assigned to the investigation by Chief of Detectives Charles A. Betts.

SAN DIEGO, April 4.—Natives of the budding metropolis are considerably stirred up today, anticipating the morrow, when Coach C. E. Peterson's San Diego State College track team makes its bid for the Southern California Conference championship.

Peterson's team encounters Joe Pipal's Occidental outfit in the meet, which will result in one of the two squads being named 1930 title-holder. Nearly everybody who knows anything or says they know anything about track suspects that the Tigers will do it.

But you can't stifle the enthusiasm of Aztec rooters. "We beat them for the first time in history (71 to 69) and with one or two breaks we can do the same thing to Oxy," declared an Aztec booster.

Those so informed the writer delved into statistics and discovered that San Diego can win the meet. It isn't likely, of course, but sometimes very unlikely things happen, as for instance, a guy putting a dollar bill in the collection plate at church.

Remembering also that Pipal had won his star two-miler, Bob Mehrens, sailing, we found a small ray of hope for the Aztecs. Mehrens finished second to Rud Crawford in both the mile and two-mile against Pomona.

Here's how San Diego could win today: One point in the 100 with Jack Wilson and one in the furlong with Clinard; five in the 440 with Peterson, and eight in the 880 with Peterson and Brose; six in the mile with Brose and Stevers, and four in the two-mile with Tenwolde and Hollowell; ten in the hurdles with Fox, one in the shot with Brose, six in the discus with Brose and A. Wilson, and eight in the hammer with Brose and Fox; four in the javelin with Hollowell and Klaus, eight in the broad jump with Fox and J. MISS QUIER IN BRILLIANT WIN

Defeats Miss Hicks to Gain Finals of Open Play

PINEHURST (N. C.) April 4. (AP) The national champion, Miss Glenna Collett, and a youthful Reading (Pa.) star, Miss Edith Quier, meet here tomorrow in the finals of the North and South golf tournament for women.

They battled their way to victory today over the hazardous No. 3 course of the Pinehurst Country Club. Miss Collett giving Miss Maureen Orcutt, New York, a 3-and-2 drubbing and Miss Quier handing Miss Helen Hicks of Hewlett, L. I., a 3-and-1 defeat.

The turn in their match came on the sixteenth, when Miss Hicks laid Miss Quier a dead stymie. After studying her position carefully, Miss Quier coolly took her niblick and lifted her ball over Miss Hicks's and sent it trickling into the cup.

The gallery gave whoops of delight at the shot and they cheered Miss Quier again when, after two bad shots which had landed her in the woods on the next hole, she sent an iron shot to within a foot of the cup. Miss Hicks had a chance to halve the hole, but on

CARNERA TRIMS GYM PARTNERS

Primo Handles Sparring Mates With Ease

John Lester Johnson Sent to Floor by Punch

Italian Giant Will Work Twice More for Go

BY FRANK ROCHE

Boxing with gloves that looked more like two huge pillows, Primo Carnera, all but annihilated two heavyweight sparring partners yesterday afternoon before some 1200 fans at the Main-street Athletic Club. The "Big Moose" of pugilism handled Larry Seratti and John Lester Johnson as though they were a couple of Peter Rabbit's puppis. Carnera had to hold Seratti up for two rounds after tapping him once with a left hook. Johnson took one trip to the canvas from a blow that landed on his shoulder and from that point on did nothing but protect himself against Carnera's big mitts.

The workout was nothing more than a joke to Powerful Primo. Johnson, a negro, whose claim to fame has been for some years, that he broke Jack Dempsey's ribs before the Manassa Mauler became a world's champion, was a little "lambie" in Carnera's hands. Primo cuffed John Lester from one end of the ring to the other without even working up a hard breath.

Carnera steps around with the speed of a lightweight. He is in and out like a flash, snapping his left hand back and forth with lightning rapidity. He hit Seratti twice with his left before Larry could step back after breaking from a clinch. Primo thought he had hurt Seratti bad at one time and he pulled him close and patted him on the back to show there was no bad feelings.

Neil Clisby, Carnera's opponent Tuesday night at the Olympic, is about the same size as John Lester Johnson. If Primo can handle him as easily as he did Johnson, it is a cinch the Riverside black won't remain long in a vertical position.

Agua Caliente officials, always alert to collect a little attention to their plant, horned into the picture a bit yesterday with an offer to stage a Carnera, Tom Heeney bout at Tia Juana. Leon See, one of Carnera's managers, took the offer under advisement, which is about as far as it will go, the boys around the fight racket state.

Carnera will work today and tomorrow at Main street. Monday afternoon he will visit Jess Willard at the former heavyweight champ's ranch, in the Verdugo Hills. Primo will also give a short talk over KHJ on Monday.

The latest challenge Carnera has received comes from Mexico. Nino Fidencio, a member of the Lower California police, who tips the beam at 277 pounds and stands six foot seven, will be present Tuesday at the Olympic to hurl his defi at Primo. He is already nicknamed "Mexico's Carnera" by his countrymen.

HORNSBY OFF FOR CHICAGO TO HAVE INJURED HEEL TREATED

Rogers Hornsby, hard-hitting second-sacker and considered by critics as the key man in Joe McCarthy's Cub championship baseball machine, departed last night for Chicago, where he will consult a specialist and take treatment for his injured heel. Hornsby denied that the condition was serious and said he would probably join the Cubs again at Kansas City. The Rajah is confident that he'll be in at second base when the season opens, but it's no secret that Cub officials are worrying over the condition of their star slugger.

BRUINS BATTLE ARIZONA

U.C.L.A. Picked to Defeat Wildcats in Dual Meet on Local Oval; Marks May Fall

Coach Harry Trotter's band of Bruin trackmen will clash with the University of Arizona track and field squad this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock on the U.C.L.A. oval. The Westwood team is heavily favored to repeat their victories of 1928 and 1929 over the Wildcats from the desert.

Both squads will consist of but fifteen men each, by agreement between the athletic authorities of the two schools. This necessitates each athlete competing in anywhere from two to four events.

The features of the day are expected to occur in the short sprints, where Arizona has a runner of high quality. "Irish" McArdle won the 100-yard dash in last year's Bruin-Wildcat trackfest at Tucson, when Capt. Johnny Hill of U.C.L.A. was disqualified for running outside of his own lane. The time of the century was 9 4-5s. This year "Chuck" Smith, phenomenal Bruin sophomore, is the favorite to capture a first place in the 100-yard sprint, and also in the 220-yard dash.

The furlong sprint record of U.C.L.A. is expected to fall today, with the 220-yard straightaway in use for the first time by the varsity tracksters. The Bruin oval is a fast medium anyway, and the straight distance is expected to speed "Chuck" Smith to a new record. The old record is 22 2-5s., made last year by Capt. Hill and Art Watson, and tied this year by Smith.

ROCKNE TO TAKE TEST AT CLINIC

Coach Plans to Submit to Physical Examination at Rochester Institute

MIAMI BEACH (Fla.) April 4. (AP) Knute Rockne announced tonight that he would leave here the first of the week for the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a thorough physical examination before returning to South Bend, Ind., to resume his work as coach of the Notre Dame football team.

Rockne will be accompanied to Rochester by Dr. C. J. Barborka, who is due to arrive here tomorrow. The football mentor has been here since early in the year, recuperating from a leg ailment.

The coach was taken to St. Francis Hospital here last night for treatment of what consulting physicians termed a mild case of bronchitis.

The attending physician, Dr. Walter T. Hotchkiss, said tonight Rockne probably would be able to return to his apartment either tomorrow or Sunday, and his departure for the North would follow almost immediately.

"I am sure that Mr. Rockne will be able to return to active coaching duties on the field at Notre Dame next fall," Dr. Hotchkiss said. "He is very much upset over erroneous reports reaching him that he has been seriously ill recently."

SECRET MEET IS SCHEDULED

Many Close Races Expected in Annual Fracas

Cromwell Will Send Classy Squad Into Action

Unruh Will Try Out Leg in Four-Lap Struggle

BY RALPH HUSTON

Dean B. Cromwell, veteran Trojan track coach, steals a leaf out of Howard Jones's book this afternoon, and sends his cinder athletes through a secret workout in the form of a meet with the L.A.A.C. The public is cordially invited to stay away, and although no tear bombs or the like will be on hand to repel invaders, the gates will be politely closed and locked.

The idea behind all this, according to A. Wesson, guardian of the Trojan news releases, is that Bovard Field was never meant to accommodate spectators, and consequently the Trojans will bar everybody, rather than take in a few and slight the rest.

There ought to be some pretty good performances, and some real good races in the meet. Boyd Comstock, Mercury mentor, will have all of his performers with the exception of Oliver Worden, quarter-miler, and Hap Walker, broad jumper, in the field.

It will be the last hard workout for the Trojans before their all-important struggle with Stanford. Cromwell intends to use every man who has a chance of scoring against the Cards, to determine just which each can do. Ernie Payne will discover whether he is recovered from any ill effects of that tumble he took in the California meet; Chesley Unruh gets into action for the first time since the A.A.U. relays in the mile; Weldon Draper is scheduled to go to the post with Wykoff and Maurer in the 100, and Pearson, Williams and Woessner will continue their struggle for supremacy in the 440. Unruh has been nursing a pulled tendon that Trainer Neal Miller thinks is ready for action again.

A lot of interest will center on the shot put, where Herman Brix, the blond Hercules of the Mercuries, will attempt to fracture the world's record in the shot put. The big fellow has been flirting with the mark for some time, and unofficially has bettered it. A whole corps of A.A.U. officials will be on hand to keep track of Herman's tosses.

The Trojan sprinters will hook up with Ray Alf again in the dashes. The midget Mercury runner has never been able to keep up with Wykoff here, but shows intense speed

Wall Street Favors Macks

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Wall street today made the Athletics an odds-on favorite to win the American League pennant again. Wagers were reported by commissioners at 1 to 2 on the Philadelphia club with the Yankees a 5-to-2 choice.

In the National League, the champion Chicago Cubs were made favorites at 6 to 5.

On the basis of early wagering, quotations in the financial district were as follows:

American League — Philadelphia, 1 to 2; New York, 5 to 2; Cleveland, 4 to 1; St. Louis, 6 to 1; Detroit and Washington, each 10 to 1; Chicago, 15 to 1; Boston, 100 to 1.

H.A.C. MERMEN BREAK RECORD TO ANNEX TITLE

CHICAGO, April 4. (Exclusive)—Coach Clyde Swendsen's Hollywood Athletic Club broke the world's record for the 300-yard medley relay swim tonight at the Lake Shore Athletic Club pool in the national A.A.U. championship. Frank Walton, Tom Blankenburg and Weston Kimball covered the distance in 3m. 6 2-5s. The old mark was 3m. 8s., also held by Hollywood.

The New York Athletic Club finished second and Northwestern team was third.

Clarence Crabbe, Honolulu, won his second championship and became the individual point winner when he took the 220-yard free style event in the other national event contested tonight. His time was 2m. 16 4-5s., four seconds slower than the record held by Walter Laufer, who finished second. Austin Clapp, Stanford University, was third.

Hollywood's trio developed unexpected speed in the breast stroke and free style portions of the 300-yard medley to set the record. Frank Walton, swimming back stroke held his own with Walter Laufer and George Fissler in the first third of the distance. Then Blankenburg went into the lead swimming breast stroke and Kim-

SHERIDAN STOPS BITTO IN FIFTH ROUND OF GO

"Poison" Homer Sheridan was plenty poisonous for Joe Bitto, the reformed clown boxer, last night in the main event of the Hollywood American Legion. Bitto didn't have a chance and took a terrific beating during the five rounds he was in the ring. His handlers threw in the towel in the rest period between the fifth and sixth rounds, giving Sheridan a technical kayoe victory.

Bitto went down twice in the second session, the first time from a left hook. He took a nine count and got up again only to run into a hard right-hand upper cut, which put him flat on his back. The bell three.

Joe managed to last out the third round, and took a bad licking in the fourth and fifth.

Eddie Burnbrook and Ray Still battled six rounds to a draw in the semi-wind-up. Burnbrook had Still on the floor for an eight count in the second round, but Still came back strong in the same round to put Burnbrook on the canbas and only the bell saved Eddie from being knocked out.

Still won the rest of the fight.

TROJAN GRID ATHLETES TO REPORT TO JONES MONDAY

More than seventy-five Trojan football players are expected to be out on Bovard Field Monday afternoon, when Head Man Howard Jones gathers his athletes for the first day of spring practice. With Saunders, Tappaan, Barragar, Edelson, Anthony, Galloway and Dye missing through graduation, Jones faces a huge task in building up another formidable machine.

His largest burden apparently will be the tackle berths, and one of his prospective candidates, Garrett (Whataman) Arbelbide, last year's sophomore end sensation, will not be among those present. He is with Sam Barry's ball team, as is Orv Mohler, quarterback candidate.

Nine League Records Smashed as Riis High Annexes Marine League Track Title

BURCH STARS IN SPRINT EVENTS

Dusky Jordan Dashman Wins Both Speed Races

Good Times and Distances Made in Meet

Wykoff, DeMers Set Good Exhibition Marks

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

While the breaking of nine league records rather overshadowed everything else yesterday afternoon at Torrance when Riis High won the Marine League track-and-field title the performance of Ashley Burch, colored Jordan sprinter, was the main individual high light of the day.

BOYD COMSTOCK

Burch stole the glory that had been set aside for Earl Nickerson of Riis, in both dashes by winning with a three-yard margin in the century in 9 4-5s., and then flashing to victory in the furiong in the speedy time of 21 4-5s. Both were new Marine League records.

Coach Locke Livermash's Riis High squad won with 10 points to spare, chalking up 40 points, while the Jordan runners amassed 30 for second-place honors. Third place went to Bell with 20, while Washington took fourth honors with 16. Gardena finished in fifth position with 14, while Narbonne placed sixth with 9½. Banning trailed with 2½.

Besides Burch's new records in the sprints, seven other league marks were erased. Possibly the best of the lot was Henston Harper's heave of 46ft. 2¼in. in the shot. Williams, another stellar Riis galloper, ruined both the quarter-mile and the low-hurdle records. Williams took the quarter in 51 4-5s. and the low sticks in 25 2-5s.

Lloyd Courtney, dusky Riis half-miler, won from Krenwinkle of Washington in the two-lap event by a scant yard. The time of 2m. 1 4-5s. was a new league record. Spicer, also of Riis ran 16 2-5s. in the high hurdles for a new league mark. Klubnicken, Bell broad jumper, set a new record in his event with a leap of 21ft. 9 3-4in.

The last event of the day, the relay, went to Jordan in the good time of 1m. 32 4-5s. for the ninth new league record made during the afternoon. Riis was running neck and neck with Jordan, with a good chance to win when the third man stumbled, fell flat on his face, but regained his feet and managed to finish his lap.

Quite an argument arose during the running of the mile, when it was noticed that both Washington and Riis had men entered in the race with the intention of being lapped and then pacing their first-place hopes during the last part of the race.

The referee of the meet, Boyd Comstock, was right on the job, however, and ordered the would-be pacers off the track and reprimanded both Locke Livernash, Riis coach, and Glenn Berry and Les Heilman of Washington for trying to pull off such a trick.

Five new records were set in the Class C finals and two others were tried. Jordan won the midget title with 29 points, while Bell finished second with 21. The others were: Narbonne, 17 1-2; Riis, 12; Gardena, 6, and Torrance, 3 1-2.

The meet itself was run off in faultless style by Sig Nylander, Torrance coach, who was the league manager.

Two exhibits were given, Jimmy De Mers of the L.A.A.C., throwing the javelin 219ft. 6 3-4in., while Frank Wykoff ran the 100-yard dash in 9 3-5s.

The summary:

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY LEAGUE HOLDS TRYOUTS

Track preliminaries in the San Fernando Valley League were held yesterday at Van Nuys. Beverly Hills led the qualifiers by placing seven men. San Fernando followed with nine, and North Hollywood was next with eight. Owensmouth placed six runners, Van Nuys five and Eagle Rock three. The field-event tryouts were held yesterday.

The majority of the times turned in were rather slow, but will probably be improved upon in the finals next Friday.

Final results—Fullerton Junior College, 77½; Citrus Junior College, 53½.

LINCOLN NOSES OUT OCCIDENTAL FRESHMEN

Coach Don Parker's Lincoln High track-and-field team scored its second victory of the season when it barely nosed out the Occidental College freshman squad 53-51 in a trackfest held yesterday at Patterson Field, Occidental College. Earlier in the year the Tigers beat Belmont.

The encounter was closely contested throughout, although the times and distances produced were mediocre. Lloyd Reed, Lincoln captain, copped both stick events. His times for the two hurdle races were poor, although this was mainly due to the fact that Reed loafed all the way to the tape, the frosh failing to give him any competition.

Bill Rinehart, diminutive Lincoln pole vaulter, won his favorite event at a height of 12ft. Rinehart declined from going any higher, as he declared he was saving himself for the City League meet to be held next week. The frosh won the relay after overcoming a long lead.

100-yard dash—Won by Reed (O.F.); Davis (L.) second, Vizcarra (L.) third. Time, 10.3s.

220-yard dash—Won by Reed (O.F.); Davis (L.) second, Dietz (L.) third. Time, 23 1-5s.

440-yard dash — Won by Olary (L.); Castillo (O.F.) second, Divovanni (L.) third. Time, 55s.

One-mile run—Won by Thorien (L.); Romero (L.) second, O'Hanlason (O.F.) third. Time, 5m.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Reed (L.); Oliver (O.F.) second, Ostiere (L.) third. Time, 18 2-5s.

220-yard low hurdles — Won by Reed (L.); Kelly (O.F.) second, Main (O.F.) third. Time, 28 2-5s.

Pole vault — Won by Rinehart (L.); Kelly (O.F.) second, Otero (L.) and Ritchie (O.F.) tied for third. Height, 12ft.

High jump—Won by Draper (L.); Clever (O.F.) second, Hightower (L.) and Harder (O.F.) tied for third. Height, 5ft. 6in.

Broad jump—Won by Hatchbile (O.F.); Main (O.F.) second, Boyd (L.) third. Distance, 20ft. 4in.

Shot put—Won by Reed (O.F.); Gutierrez (L.) second, Pastore (L.) third. Distance, 30ft. 6in.

Relay—Won by Oxy Frosh. Time, 1m. 38s.

Final score: Lincoln, 53; Oxy Frosh, 51.

FAIRFAX COLONIALS TRIP ROOSEVELT ROUGHRIDERS

Coach Keith Lloyd's Fairfax High tracksters easily defeated the Roosevelt Roughriders, yesterday, winning the meet by a 84-to-40 score. In winning this meet, which was held on the winner's oval, the Fairfax squad annexed second place in the Minor League dual track race.

John McCarthy, stellar Fairfax sprinter, won the two sprint events from Willis, Roosevelt dash man, in fast time. Capt. Ramona of the Roughriders also was a double winner, taking the high and low hurdles in easy fashion. McCarthy won the pole vault with a nice leap of 12ft., while Cleinman surprised the Roosevelt fans by clearing 5ft. 10½in. in the high jump.

The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by McCarthy (F.); Willis (R.) second, Williams (F.) third. Time, 10.1s.

220-yard dash—Won by McCarthy (F.); Willis (R.) second, Williams (F.) third. Time, 23 2-5s.

440-yard dash—Won by Harter (F.); Jaeger (F.) second, Cox (F.) third. Time, 55 3-5s.

880-yard run—Won by Leidis (F.); Enright (F.) second, Hover (F.) third. Time, 2m. 9 2-5s.

Mile run—Won by Cutler (F.); Israel (R.) second, Swift (F.) third. Time, 4m. 52s.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Ramona (R.); Taylor (F.) second, Paige (R.) and Coughlin (R.) tied for third. Time, 16 4-5s.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Ramona (R.); Taylor (F.) second, O'Hanian (R.) third. Time, 26s.

Broad jump—Won by Smith (F.); Levine (R.) second, Dennigton (F.) third. Distance, 20ft. 11in.

Pole vault—Won by McCarthy (F.); Cutler (R.) and Becker (F.) tied for second. Height, 12ft.

Shot put—Won by Coughlin (R.); Roberts (F.) second, Carleton (F.) third. Distance, 41ft. 11in.

High jump—Won by Cleinman (R.); Short (O.) second, Dippert (R.) second. Won (F.) third, Wiley (R.) fourth, no fifth. Time, 11s.

FULLERTON JAYSEES DEFEAT CITRUS TRACKSTERS

The Fullerton Junior College track team defeated the Citrus Junior Collegians yesterday afternoon on the Lemons' track by the score of 77½ to 53½. The visiting cinder artists took nine first places and the relay to five first places for Citrus J.C.

Durant of Fullerton was the only double winner of the day, capturing first place in the discus with a heave of 123ft. 11in., and another first in the shot put at the distance of 44ft. 6in., a good put. Henry Lassalette won the high hurdles in 16s. flat and tied for first in the high jump at 5ft. 11in., with Linn, his teammate.

Summary:

Records Set by Mermaid

SEATTLE (Wash.) April 4. (AP)—Two world's records in one race were established here tonight by Miss Helene Madison, 18-year-old Seattle swimming sensation. She shattered the 200 and 300-yard marks.

In her endeavor to break the world's 300-yard mark in her first showing in Seattle since her record-breaking performances in Florida last month, Helene clipped 17 1-5 seconds off the official time established by Gertrude Ederle of New York in 1922, and nearly 3 seconds off the latest record set by Josephine McKim of Los Angeles. Helene's time tonight was 3m. 41 3-5s., compared with Miss Ederle's time of 3m. 58 4-5s., and Miss McKim's recent mark of 3m. 44 1-5s.

Timers also clocked Miss Madison at the end of 200 yards tonight and found that she had slashed nearly two seconds off the official world's record, and one and one-fifth seconds off her own recent mark. She made the 200-yard turn in 2m. 20 3-5s., compared with the official record of 2m. 22s., established by Miss Ethel Lackey of New York. Helen's recent record in Florida was 2m. 21 4-5s.

OCCIDENTAL BASEBALL NINE PLAYS LA VERNE

The Occidental varsity baseball squad meets La Verne in the second round of Southern Conference diamond play on the Tiger field at 10:30 this morning. The game was originally billed for this afternoon but was moved up four hours due to the fact that Patterson Field will be in use for a track meet in the afternoon. The admission free policy will be in vogue, according to the announcement of J. Phillip Ellsworth, graduate manager at Oxy.

DEAUVILLE POLOISTS WIN

Led by Neisel who scored six goals, the Deauville-Commercial water polo team swamped the Los Angeles Elks by a 10-to-1 score in a game held in the Deauville Club pool in Santa Monica. The Deauville boys led at the half 6 to 0 and were never threatened. Side More scored the other four markers for the winners and played a strong defensive game.

HUGH STEWART HONORED

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) April 4. (AP)—Hugh F. Stewart, Jr., Pasadena, Cal., New England intercollegiate breast-stroke champion, was elected captain of the Williams swimming team at a meeting here today.

MONTOYA BEATS ZORILLA

SAN DIEGO, April 4. (AP)—Raymond Montoya, San Diego bantamweight, won the decision over Santiago Zorilla, Los Angeles, in a furiously fought ten-round bout here tonight.

Mile (F.) second, Keiar (R.) and Ewing (R.) tied for third. Height, 5ft. 10½in. Relay—Won by Fairfax. Time, 3m. 11s. Final score: Fairfax, 64; Roosevelt, 40.

PASADENA TRACKSTERS BOW TO COMPTON JAYSEE

Coach Herschel Smith's Compton Junior College track team gave notice yesterday that it is one of the strongest in the Jaysee conference by trouncing the Pasadena Bulldogs by an 89-to-42 score in a meet held on the losers' track. The Tartars took nine first places and the relay to make the meet a runaway affair.

The biggest upset of the day was the defeat of Wally Minch by Paul Abersold in the mile run. Minch is considered the best miler in the conference. Abersold also won the eight-lap race after a close battle with Gambos of Compton. The Tartars took first and second in both hurdle events, Crawford, Towns and Richards accounting for 18 points. Harold Hicks was a double winner for Compton, annexing the quarter and half-mile runs in fast time.

The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Flint (T.J.C.); Smith (C.J.C.) second; Strutt (C.J.C.) third. Time, 10 1-5s.

220-yard dash—Won by Holdsworth (C.J.C.); Flint (T.J.C.) second; Hooks (C.J.C.) third. Time, 24s.

440-yard dash—Won by Hicks (C.J.C.); Towns (T.J.C.) second; Holdsworth (C.J.C.) third. Time, 51 2-5s.

880-yard run—Won by Hicks (C.J.C.); Smith (C.J.C.) second; Hooks (C.J.C.) third. Time, 2m. 4 3-5s.

Mile run—Won by Abersold (C.J.C.); Smith (C.J.C.) second; Strutt (C.J.C.) third. Time, 4m. 34 2-5s.

Mile relay—Won by Abersold (T.J.C.); Compton (C.J.C.) second; Tom (C.J.C.) third. Time, 3m. 30 2-5s.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Crawford (C.J.C.); Towns (T.J.C.) second; James (T.J.C.) third. Time, 18 1-5s.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Richards (C.J.C.); Towns (T.J.C.) second; Strutt (C.J.C.) third. Time, 26 1-5s.

High jump—Won by Abersold (T.J.C.); Bates (C.J.C.) second; Hicks (C.J.C.) third. Distance, 41ft. 6in.

High jump—Won by Deegan (C.J.C.) and Jefferson (C.J.C.) and Craig (T.J.C.) tied for third. Height, 5ft. 4in.

Broad jump—Won by Jefferson (C.J.C.); Smith (C.J.C.) second; Strutt (T.J.C.) and Sandoval (C.J.C.) tied for third. Height, 12ft. 9in.

Pole vault—Won by Bateman (C.J.C.), Abersold (T.J.C.) second; Arbogast (C.J.C.) third. Distance, 12ft. 6in.

Discus throw—Won by Brock (T.J.C.); Towns (T.J.C.) second; Bernales (C.J.C.) third. Distance, 120ft. 3in.

Javelin throw—Won by Brown (C.J.C.) second; Groves (C.J.C.) third. Distance, 160ft. 2in.

Final score—Compton Junior College, 89; Pasadena Junior College, 42.

RAILROADERS PUT ON TWO SPORTS EVENTS

Railroaders will take their place in the sports world Sunday, when two major events on the Union Pacific Employers' Athletic Club will get under way. The first will be the second annual midwinter golf tournament opening at Montebello Park Club and the other will be the first monthly registered trap shoot under the rules of the Amateur Trapshooters' Association.

The golf tournament will be a closed event. Already a record entry list is in the hands of Ellis Taylor, chairman, and many good scores are expected.

WILLIE HOPPE STARS IN BILLIARD PLAY

Willie Hoppe was victorious in four billiard exhibitions yesterday at Jones Billiard Parlor. Charley Jordan was defeated, 40-36, in thirty-five innings. Nelson was turned back, 40-38. In balkline play Craighead lost, 100-38, while Fauts, Coast amateur champion, was defeated, 100-29. Today Hoppe meets Payne and Bill Lane.

CHEVALIER PICKED TO FIGHT CARNERA

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4. (AP)—Leon Chevalier, 235-pound San Francisco negro, was selected by Promoter Louis Parenti tonight as the opponent for Primo Carnera, giant Italian, when the latter makes his first appearance before Bay District fans. The pair will meet on the night of the 14th inst. in the Oakland baseball park.

FALEGANO IN DRAW

OMAHA, April 4. (AP)—Henry Falegano, Des Moines lightweight, and Chet Wilkins of Omaha, recognized as Nebraska's lightweight champion, fought eight rounds to a draw tonight in the main event of a Knights of Columbus fight show.

MEDILL BEATS LE CADRE

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Joey Medill, Chicago, defeated Gaston Le Cadre, of France, in his ten-round debut tonight in Madison Square Garden. The Frenchman held his own for five rounds but could not keep Medill's pace in the final half. There were no knockdowns.

Fire Laddies Rewarded for Grid Efforts

Thirty-six gridiron warriors wearing the uniform of the Los Angeles Fire Department were honored last night at the annual smoke-eater athletic banquet staged at the Alexandria. Chief Scott presented the football players with trophies which were donated by Fred Solomon, honorary deputy chief. Medals for the handball champions of the department were also presented. E. O. (Barney) Barnett, athletic director, presided.

SONNENBERG REFUSES BID

Champion Will Not Wrestle Everett Marshall in Ball Park, Daro is Informed

"Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's wrestling champion, yesterday wired "Carnation" Lou Daro his refusal to meet Everett Marshall, the young mat sensation, in a finish bout at Wrigley Field.

The wire from the champion also stated that he would not consider Marshall a title contender until he had met and beaten either Ed (Strangler) Lewis or Joe Stecher, each a former champion three different times. The offer made Sonnenberg by Daro carried a flat guarantee of $50,000 for the bout, with the champion having the option of taking 47 1-2 per cent of the gross gate receipts.

As Sonnenberg stated this answer was final, and further negotiations were useless until Marshall had decided to wrestle one of the two former champions still rated among the very best grapplers in the game, Daro announced his intention of going after a battle between Marshall and Stecher or Lewis.

The promoter stated he had a long-distance telephone conference with the Stecher brothers last night, and hoped to receive an answer from them today. He and Billy Sandow, manager of Ed Lewis, and a representative for Marshall, are scheduled to meet today to discuss prospects of bringing the head-lock exponent and the airplane spin artist together at the Olympic.

Lewis and Sandow asked for a guarantee of $20,000 to meet Marshall, when Daro tried to bring the pair together several weeks ago, and, according to latest reports, they will hold out for this amount in future negotiations for a possible Marshall battle.

According to present plans, Daro will probably hold his next big wrestling show at the Olympic the 16th inst. Marshall has already been signed to wrestle here on that date, and Daro hopes to have either Stecher or Lewis in the ring with him.

Paul Loses to La Barba in Ring Go

BUFFALO (N. Y.) April 4. (AP)—Fidel La Barba, Los Angeles featherweight, won the judge's decision over Tommy Paul, Buffalo, in ten fast rounds here tonight. It was Paul's first venture beyond the six-round limit.

Martin Zuniga, Los Angeles featherweight, beat Mickey Paul, Buffalo, six rounds.

BERG WINNER IN GLICK SCRAP

Britisher Almost Felled by Volley of Low Blows

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Jackie (Kid) Berg of England belted out a ten-round decision tonight over Joe Glick of Williamsburg amid a storm of low blows that all but incapacitated him and twice floored him for counts in the eighth round. Berg, one of Champion Sammy Mandell's most persistent lightweight challengers, weighed 139¼, Glick 137½.

The crowd of 11,000 in Madison Square Garden was stirred to alternate spasms of rage and joy by Glick's low smashes to the body and Berg's bitter battling to offset the fouls. When Joe Humphries announced that Berg had won the unanimous verdict of the judges and referee, he received a great ovation, whereas Glick was heartily booed.

In the midst of the controversies that have raged over the foul ending of half a dozen major bouts, Berg was faced almost with the necessity of taking another that way in the eighth round. Glick smashed him to the floor with a left hook that was palpably foul and Berg was forced to take a count of seven. Just as the English youngster reached his feet, Glick smashed him low again and Berg sank in distress.

But the Englishman gritted his teeth and flew at Glick. Punching like a perpetual motion machine he socked the Williamsburg tailor groggy. Glick was very weary and bled freely from cuts over both eyes at the close. There were no other knockdowns.

Gagnon Agrees to Clash With Griffith Again

CHICAGO, April 4. (AP)—Jack Gagnon, Boston heavyweight, today agreed to meet Tuffy Griffith of Sioux City, Iowa, and Chicago, in the ten-round final bout of the Chicago Stadium 30th inst. show.

Gagnon, who sprang a surprise Monday night by stopping Griffith in Philadelphia, accepted the stadium's offer of 20 per cent of the gate, at $4.99 tops, after holding out for $10 for the best seats.

Griffith and his manager, Jack O'Keefe, have already signed for the chance to wipe out the smear on the tough one's record.

SONNENBERG WINS BOUT

SPOKANE (Wash.) April 4. (AP) Gus Sonnenberg, recognized in some States as the world's heavyweight champion wrestler, won two consecutive falls from Al Karasick, who styles himself the "Russian Lion," here tonight.

GRAHAM FACES BATTALINO

TED THYE LOSES

PORTLAND (Or.) April 4. (AP)—Charley Hansen, Seattle heavyweight, won two of three falls to defeat Ted Thye, Portland, in the principal match of the wrestling card here tonight.

RABBIT PUNCHES

THE STANFORD AX

IMAGINE the chagrin of young Mr. Horner of Berkeley, who, upon being appointed guardian of the Stanford Ax for the ensuing year, promptly has it stolen.

There will be more ado about this on the northern campus than there has been interest in the arms conference at London.

The Stanford Ax has been in the possession of California students for thirty-one years.

It was stolen by Ev Brown, now an Oakland judge, following a baseball game in 1899.

And it has been famous in California songs and yells for three decades.

Only on auspicious occasions was it ever exposed to the public gaze, generally at rallies in Harmon gym or the Greek Theater.

It has always been a source of great inspiration to the Berkeley boys, and whenever they felt particularly downcast over a long list of defeats by Stanford they would trot out the Stanford Ax and gloat over it.

And whenever Stanford gave its Ax yell the Berkeley boys always had a good comeback. They had the Ax.

But that is no more. Young Mr. Horner fell for the old "my picture in the paper" gag, and Stanford again has its Ax.

It was a clever ruse that turned the trick after these long thirty-one years, but it's tough on the poor Berkeley boys.

They have nothing left in the way of consolation to cheer them over failure to win a football game from Stanford since 1923 and a track meet since the good Lord knows when.

CUBS ROOTERS BLUE

ALTHOUGH Mr. William Wrigley's Chicago Cubs galloped right out in front to a National League championship last year, there are ominous signs that things won't be so rosy this year.

At least not at the start of the season.

Two of the mainsprings are not clicking on all cylinders.

One is Rogers Hornsby and the other is the pitching crop.

The condition of a bone growth on Hornsby's heel, necessitating a probable operation, is nothing to cause jubilation in the camp of Wrigley & Co., Ltd.

Mr. Hornsby is so much of a power on both attack and defense that his possible defection cannot be taken lightly.

Add to that the failure of the Cub pitchers to round into the shape they enjoyed at the start of the season last year, and you have a bird's-eye picture of the conditions creating a certain state of misanthropy in Cub circles.

With the possible exception of Sheriff Blake, who pitched the full route in good shape the other day, none of the other Chicago chuckers have indicated they are ready for the grind.

The spring weather hasn't been quite as warm as usual this year, and that may be the reason for a tardy display of class among the soupbone artists.

But whatever it is, the Cubs to date lack the form they displayed at the same period last year.

BURNING THE CANDLE

ACE HUDKINS, the Nebraska Wildcat, literally seems to be riding for a fall in more ways than one.

Not only is he beating his way up and down the gilded trail a la Mickey Walker, but he essays to be a polo star.

He with his brothers, Clyde, Art and Ab, have formed a team which is to meet another aggregation at the Hollywood Polo and Hunt Club tomorrow.

All of the Hudkinses aver they are expert riders, which may be the case, this being one of the things they haven't averred to date.

Nevertheless, if the Wildcat is sparring with fate for an interruption to his ring career he has hit upon the two most likely means short of the rodeo corral—the gilded trail and polo.

Polo is for skilled horses, players and riders, not those with intermittent inclinations. The Wildcat stands a swell chance of winding up with a shattered anatomy from one cause or another.

FOOTBALL NOTES

DISQUIETING reports head this way from Miami, where Knute K. Rockne has been convalescing from the bad leg which laid him low last football season.

After resting for months Knute is still unable to use his leg for ordinary walking purposes, and the fact is alarming not only him but all supporters and well wishers.

In the meantime the man who carried on for him last fall—Tom Lieb—is busy with his boys at Loyola.

It's a different situation than at Notre Dame, and nobody knows it better than Lieb. "No all-Americans on my team," says Tom. "Any boy who has ambition gets a chance at Loyola. Back at Notre Dame ambition alone got you about as far as a chance on the fourth or fifth team."

COACHING BODY ORGANIZED

Group Formed to Instruct Junior Olympic Boys in Parochial Schools; Many Are Entered

A volunteer corps of coaches to train boys in the Junior Olympic Games program in the Los Angeles county parochial schools was organized yesterday among students of Loyola University.

Young men who will have charge of the juvenile pentathlon training are Peter McGrath, president of the student body; Al Kawasigroch, Murray Upstill, Bud Brubaker, Art Frost, Joe Wheeler, George Johnson, Ed Krueger, Mario Amengola, Wallace Schiman, Jim Mullen, George Segura, Tony Cuoco, Ed McLarty, Wilfred Von Der Ahe, Clarence Greenough and Harry Dietz.

More than 2500 boys from the ages of 9 to 16 years in the forty-two parochial schools will be able to take advantage of the training and performance in the Junior Olympic Games through the action taken following an assembly of the student body at which D. W. Lott, member of the advisory board, explained the entire program. All schedules of school finals, district meets and the parochial school championship meets will be under the supervision of W. P. Olsen, Junior Olympic Games athletic director.

SANTA BARBARA WILL START SOON

SANTA BARBARA, April 4.—More than 300 Santa Barbara youths in seven elementary and two junior high schools will begin to run off competitive events for the Junior Olympic championship sponsored by the Los Angeles Times next week, according to W. H. Orion, city school recreational director and chairman of the Santa Barbara Junior Olympics Committee.

Each school will have its various athletic events during the next two or three weeks when a city tourney will be held to establish the best junior athletes to represent Santa Barbara in the county meet which will be held later in the spring.

REDLANDS OFFERS AID TO YOUTHS

REDLANDS, April 4.—Facilities of the Redlands city schools, the University of Redlands and the Redlands Y.M.C.A. have all been placed at the disposal of the Junior Olympics committee in Redlands and the expert coaches and trainers of these institutions have all offered their services in any capacity.

This was the cheering news given today by Lieut. Arthur B. Drake of the Y.M.C.A., who is in charge of the Olympics for Redlands and also for the county meet. Ashel Cunningham, director of athletics at the University of Redlands, says that not only will he, Coaches Cecil Cushman, Lee Trine and E. R. Davies give all possible assistance, but that the big pool and the athletic fields there can be used.

The city finals in which the Redlands champions will be chosen from the various schools, will be held on Saturday, May 17. This will be for both junior and senior divisions. Then the county finals are to be held here on May 24, bringing all the champions of the county to Redlands.

And there will be plenty of champions, for there are any number of boys who are determined to beat the records made by Heap and Pima last year.

Activities in the grammar schools here are under the direction of boys of the athletic department of the University of Redlands.

BEAR CREWS OFF FOR WASHINGTON BATTLE

BERKELEY, April 4. (Exclusive) Confident of hanging up their fourth consecutive victory over the University of Washington in dual competition, the University of California varsity, junior varsity and freshman rowing crews, thirty-one sweepsters in all, will leave tonight aboard the Cascade Limited for Seattle.

Coaches Ky Ebright and Russ Nagler have finished the conditioning grind. They will direct their oarsmen in a week of technical drills over the stormy Lake Washington course. Word drifting here from the north is to the effect that the Husky course has been too turbulent of late to permit of practice.

Caldwell, Brinck and Dally, veterans from Ebright's world championship crew of 1928, are doing first-boat duty, while Jim Workman, the fourth veteran, is still in the junior varsity or "Jayvee" boat.

The first boat today included the following: Duncan Gregg, stroke; Hub Caldwell, No. 6; Herman Holman, No. 5; Burt Jastram, No. 4; David Dunlap, No. 3; Jack Brinck, No. 2; Harvey Granger, No. 1; Jimmy Logan, coxswain.

In the "Jayvee" boat are: Salisbury, stroke, followed by Pope, Workman, Matheson, Goldeen, Davie, Hyde, Woodward and Montgomery, as coxswain. Two varsity substitutes also will be taken along, Thorvald Jacobson and Jimmy Blair.

The Pacific Coast championship regatta with Washington is fixed for Saturday, the 12th inst. The Golden Bears will then return for final examinations here and later begin preparations for a three-cornered regatta on Lake Carnegie June 14 and the national intercollegiate championship regatta at Poughkeepsie.

Among those who made more than $1500 during the season were Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y.; Frank Walsh, Chicago; Johnny Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y.; Mortie Dutra, Tacoma, Wash.; Whiffy Cox, Brooklyn, and Paul Runyan, Bloomfield, N. J.

EXHIBITION GAMES

BRADENTON (Fla.) April 4. (AP)—The Rochester Red Wings pounded Fred Frankhouse for seven hits and five runs in the last two innings today, but they fell one run short of a tie and the St. Louis Cardinals scored their third straight victory over the minor leaguers, 9 to 8. Hafey started the Cardinals' scoring in the second inning with a home run.

Score:

Rochester	8	11	1
St. Louis	9	9	1

Batteries: Burns, Quinlan, Kelley, Chapman and Jones; Sherdel, Binckle; Hallahan, Frankhouse and Wilson. Manager.

FORT WORTH (Tex.) April 4. (AP)—The New York Yankees continued their parade through minor league opposition today with a 15-to-4 victory over Fort Worth of the Texas League.

While Pennock and Figures were neutering the Texans' feeble hits in all but the sixth inning, the Yankees pounded three hurlers for fourteen safeties. Babe Ruth's contribution consisted of a double in the first inning. Score:

Fort Worth	4	9	3

Batteries: Pennock, Figures and Dongan; Walkup, Bonner, Haynes and Snyder, McTavish and Carlton.

RICHMOND (Va.) April 4. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics wound up their spring exhibition tour here today by defeating the Richmond team of the International League, 7 to 2.

CALTECH TENNIS TEAM TREKS TO REDLANDS

Coach Bob Allen's Caltech varsity tennis team will journey to Redlands today to meet the Bulldog squad in the second round of the conference schedule. After losing a close meet with Occidental by one point the Beavers have been developing rapidly to a point where they stand out as the threat of the conference.

While the varsity is doing battle in Redlands the freshmen will entertain the Bulldog first-year men at Tournament Park in Pasadena. Coach Allen announced his varsity line-up as follows: Singles, L. Biehlow, H. Carey, B. Carey, J. Hamilton and Anderson. Doubles, Biehlow and H. Carey and B. Carey and Anderson.

STARS LEAVE BORDER CITY

for action when the season opens next Tuesday.

With the close of the training camp Vitt announced the release of three recruit pitchers and a recruit catcher, Marin, who had been in camp the last week or two. The pitchers let go included Kruse, a left-hander; Glen Brown, right-hander, obtained from the Independence club under option, and Joe Sullivan, recruit southpaw, from Washington.

Release of this quartet cut the squad to twenty-five players with Vitt and Trainer Les Cook, who also does some catching, not included. This band will remain intact over the week-end with three or four slated to be farmed out or let go before the club moves to Oakland Tuesday. Nine pitchers, three catchers, eight infielders and five outfielders are still in the fold.

This list includes:

PAIR OF FAST SOCCER TILTS LOOM TOMORROW

A pair of fast soccer football games are on tap for Loyola Field tomorrow afternoon with interest centering around the 3 p.m. feature game between the Magyars and Scots. This is a replay to determine a semifinalist for the Los Angeles cup. Two previous meetings of these strong teams resulted in 3-to-3 draws and both games went overtime. The Hungarians have been stamped as slight favorites, but if Alex Robertson can again key his men up to a fighting pitch the game will be close and might go overtime again. The Magyars will rely upon the fleet forwards, Hodgert, Espinosa, Horsfall and Monsterrat, while the Scots pin their hopes on McDonald, Holmes, Summers, Elder, Robertson and Tunnaclife.

The Sons of St. George meet the Richfield Oilers in the 1 p.m. opener. The former team is favored.

CATHEDRAL NINE WINS

The Cathedral High School baseball team visited Franklin High yesterday afternoon, and handed the Kiteflyers a 5-to-3 defeat.

Anderson and Shade Signed for Local Go

Joe Anderson and Dave Shade will box ten rounds at the Olympic the night of the 15th inst. Matchmaker Wad Wadhams announced the closing of the bout yesterday. Jimmy Dougherty and Anderson will leave for the Coast at once. The weight will be 165 pounds. Anderson took a decision from Shade here a little over a year ago. Shade is already on the ground and has started training. He has been fighting in San Francisco and other points in the north. Anderson has been fighting regularly of late and his trainer, Sam Smiley, says that Joe will come to California in splendid shape. The Kentuckian and Smiley have a gymnasium in Covington.

OXY FAVORED OVER AZTECS

and Kenny and five in the relay for a total of 71. Seventy points are necessary to tie; anything above that wins.

All of these things could happen. The least likely is the relay where Occidental has much the better material. Coach Peterson, however, could put a fleet team on the oval with Brown, Jack Wilson, Fox and L. Peterson. This outfit would make Oxy's baton passers step lively to win. But Appleton, Walker, Fairbanks and Bailey should finish first if the meet should go all topsy-turvy, and the ultimate result rest on the outcome of the relay.

Personally, I look for Oxy to win every track event but the half-mile and, perhaps, one hurdle race. L. Peterson has the best record of the conference season in the half, having done 1m. 58s. Fox will undoubtedly extend Wendall Smith in both hurdle races, but Smith should win.

In the field Oxy looks best in all but the hammer throw and broad jump, where Broce and Fox of San Diego have the edge.

One thing which enters into the meet and which should not be overlooked. Occidental was at peak form for Pomona last week. The Tigers looked great and did their stuff nobly. San Diego had an easy meet against Whittier. If the Oxy athletes should be below form today the meet will be very close, perhaps as close as some of these enthusiastic San Diego rooters fervently hope.

Smith, who scored 21 points against Pomona, is expected to come close to that number again today. He should win or place second in both hurdles, win the shot, win or take second in the discus and annex second or third in the hammer. Quite a day's work.

Despite the enthusiasm encountered here, this writer picks Oxy to win by at least 20 points and maybe 40.

MISS QUIER IN BRILLIANT WIN

Miss Collett's victory was not unexpected, but general surprise was expressed at the way Miss Quier staged a comeback after a bad start to down her opponent, who holds the Canadian title.

WESTWOOD NETTERS MEET ARIZONA TEAM

Coach Bill Ackerman's University of California at Los Angeles tennis team will enter the intersectional field of activity this afternoon, when it meets the University of Arizona netters at 1 o'clock on the Westwood courts. The Bruin racket team returned yesterday from Berkeley, where it took a bad beating from the California Golden Bear netters.

The big guns on the Westwood net team are Capt. Leonard Dworkin and Cliff Robbins, who play first and second singles, respectively. Elbert Lewis is another sophomore who has come along rapidly, and is expected to shine in today's competition.

TROJAN FRESHMEN WIN OVER BRUINS

Kenny Drown hurled good ball, and the S. C. freshmen defeated the Bruin yearlings, 5 to 0, at Boyard Field yesterday afternoon. Drown allowed but three hits, while the Trojans gathered nine off Murphy, including home runs by Herb Rothwell and Ernie Stewart. The Trobabes play St. Augustine of San Diego this morning in a practice game. Yesterday's score:

S.C.	5	9	3

Batteries: Murphy and Krueger; Drown and Bankston.

PASADENA NINE COPS

Compton	2	8	1
Inglewood	3	8	1

Batteries: Cantrell and Millman; Morgan, Dudley and Binder.

UNION OILERS MAY TAKE AMATEUR TITLE TONIGHT

Standings:

	W.	L.	G.F.	G.A.	Pts.
Union Oil	1	0	11	5	2
Gilmore Lions	0	1	5	11	0

Championship honors and the right to represent this section of the country in a North American titular series with the Vancouver Ballards will be the stake in a game between the Union Oil Pirates and Gilmore Lions at the Winter Garden Ice Palace tonight.

Of course, this play-off for the Southern California championship may not end tonight, although Union has a golden opportunity to end it. The Pirates need but one more victory to clinch it as they are leading the play-offs, three games to two.

The fact that the speedy Ballards arrived in the city yesterday has increased the importance of tonight's game considerably and fans will see two teams fighting their heads off for supremacy in a series that has been one of the tightest, most sensational in amateur hockey history.

Gilmore is fighting with its back to the wall but can knot the series again by a victory tonight. Doran Miles was the only man able to score against Union's staunch defense Wednesday but that doesn't mean that such stars as "Chum" Irwin, Ash Gaudin and Eddie Hume will be handcuffed tonight. Union's scrappy squad, on the other hand, now has won two straight games with H. Hayden and B. Hayden in top scoring form and Desmond Henry playing a whale of a defense game. Line-ups:

UNION OIL		GILMORE LIONS
Claman	Goal	Hayton
Pollock	Defense	Hume
Henry	Defense	Gaudin
J. Hayden	Wing	Gilbert
Hinmarsh	Wing	Chappell
B. Hayden	Wing	McLeod
Smith	Wing	Swindells
Wells	Wing	Miles
Marion	Wing	Irwin
	Wing	Kranz

OILERS AND SHEIKS MEET AGAIN TONIGHT

Hockey fans who had been holding off awaiting the coming of the Chicago Black Hawks and Chicago Bruins late this month have been awakened to the fact that a California Hockey League championship play-off is happening.

The Oilers and Sheiks play the second game of their series in Oakland tonight and then pack their paraphernalia to come south and play two games, which may decide the championship. The series is booked for five games, but may be ended inside that limit, although it is not impossible that Richfield can win both games here, even if it should happen to drop both in Oakland. The Sheiks drew first blood by winning the Thursday argument, 3 to 2, but Richfield gets a chance to even the score tonight and can come south with the series knotted.

Especial interest attaches to Monday and Thursday games as they will be the final local showing of the champion Sheiks.

SPEED KINGS AWAIT GUN

Giving promise of duplicating the performance of Mel Kenealy, who last year drove his gasoline chariot to a sensational string of victories in his march to the championship, "Stubby" Stubblefield looms as the favorite of auto racing fans to annex first money in tomorrow afternoon's 100-lap sweepstakes at the American Legion Speedway.

"Stubby," a husky young pilot who is declared by Frank Elliott to be the most promising young speed king in the country, has won two big races this year and finished second in another. He leads at the present time in the competition for the 1930 championship and what makes his chances all the brighter tomorrow is the fact that he has been making highly sensational speed in his practice spins around the Legion oiled lanes this week. "Stubby's long suit is consistency, and with speed to waste on his Garnat special he should be a top-heavy favorite at starting time.

Auto-racing bugs in this section will have considerable to accomplish in picking out their favorites. There are close to thirty-five drivers entered for the 100-lap grind, and only fourteen will be allowed to start. This means that plenty of hair-raising speed will be exhibited when the throttle boys start pushing their gas burners around in qualifying trials.

Mel Kenealy will make another attempt to get going with his Padre special, while Francis Quinn, Walt May, Johnny Krieger, Jimmy Sharp and a couple of dozen others have enrolled themselves and fast mounts for the afternoon's fireworks.

Harry Miller, the famous racing-car engineer, who will referee, figures to be one of the most competent arbiters to ever handle an auto race at the local five-eighths-of-a-mile track. Miller will preside over the Italian Helmet dash and twenty-lap Hollywood Cup race as well as the 100-lap sweepstakes.

CHICAGO CUBS TRIM SERAPHS

ble-plays, Dittmar and Frank Sigafoos functioning brilliantly around the keystone sack. The two of them handled a total of twenty-two chances without a bobble, which ought to be some kind of a record.

The Cubs scored a run in the opening round when English reached second when Harper muffed his fly and came around on two infield outs. Stephenson's single and Tolson's double produced another Cub tally in the second. However, the Angels duplicated these runs in their half of the same rounds. An error by English, Sigafoos's single and an infield out scoring Schulmerich in the opening inning, and Dittmar's homer accounted for the second-inning run.

Los Angeles added two more in the third and forged to the front. Singles by Schulmerich, Sigafoos, Harper and Stats brought in the tallies. Another run was cut off at the plate when Lelivelt, coaching at third, waved Harper in and once more saw Kiki Cuyler oblige with a perfect throw home. Same thing happened on Schulmerich Thursday, but maybe Lelivelt is an optimist.

Ballou was pounded for three Chicago runs in the fourth, and the Cubs forged to the front, 5-4. Wilson and Stephenson started the round with home runs. With one away Schulte singled and scored on Osborn's double to center.

After Sigafoos, Dittmar and Jacobs had pulled off a double play for him in the seventh, Ballou walked Blair and Cuyler and then Wilson doubled to bring both runners home. The eighth Cub counter arrived in the eighth when Tolson and Schulte singled, Bell sacrificed and Pinch-Hitter Danny Taylor sent a sacrifice fly to Harper that scored Tolson.

McAfee walked Jacobs to start the Angel eighth and successive singles by Stats and Dittmar brought the first-sacker home. Beans Reardon helped the Cubs on the next play when he called Hannah out at first despite the fact that Tolson, when he took Bell's poor throw, was nowhere near the bag. That decision killed off the Angel rally.

Seraphs scored their final run in the ninth on Schulmerich's single, another bum decision by Reardon on a play at second and Harper's hit. Jacobs fanned. Stats's sacrifice fly sent Sigafoos to third, but McAfee picked Harper off first to end the contest. Score:

LAREDO MAKES DEBUT AT MAIN-STREET CLUB

Chato Laredo, Mexican 112-pound champion, will make his first appearance before a Los Angeles fight audience tonight at the Main Street Athletic Club, when he meets Felix Ignacio, Filipino puncher, over the ten-round route. It is the first ten-round battle in the history of the Main-street club.

Joe Singer and Max Pelz, 160-pounders, clash in the semi-windup with Bobby Flores and Joe Ray, featherweights, in the special event. Other bouts include Jim Burris vs. Jack Hurd, 175 pounds; Tiger Bobo vs. Bill Malley, 138 pounds, and Jack James vs. Gus Hleb, 190 pounds.

AL SINGER PUT ON UNAVAILABLE LIST

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Al Singer, New York lightweight pride who is scheduled to meet Sammy Mandell for the title this summer, was placed on the "ill and unavailable" list by the New York State Athletic Commission today.

Singer had been scheduled to meet Ignacio Fernandez of the Philippines at Madison Square Garden tonight, but reported early this week that an injured hand would prevent this. The commission's action means Singer will have to meet Fernandez before he boxes anyone else. The Filipino once knocked him out.

Five Records Expected to Fall in Indoor Dual Trackfest at Seattle Tonight

SEATTLE, April 4. (AP)—At least five University of Washington indoor track-and-field records are likely to be broken tomorrow night when the California Bears and the Washington Huskies tangle in a dual meet here.

Fifteen marks were established last year when Stanford and Washington clashed in the first indoor meet ever held in Seattle and approximately ten will be endangered tomorrow night.

One record that is virtually certain to be rewritten is Eric Krenz's discus heave. The Stanford giant tossed the platter 132ft. 11in., in the Washington pavilion last spring but the mark is two or three feet short of many throws by Paul Jessup, husky weight star, this year.

The one-mile time of 4m. 27 1-5s., set by Rufus Kiser of Washington is another figure expected to go into discard. Kiser, former national champion, has been running seven and eight seconds faster than his time of last year.

Other records likely to be shattered are the low and high hurdles, broad jump and javelin. California is being counted upon to make new marks in the latter two, while Steve Anderson, Washington captain, and Alfonso Pogolotti, California leader, are expected to aid each other in busting the high and low-stick figures. The javelin record is held by Kibby of Stanford with a throw of 188ft. 11 1-4in. Curtice and Churchill of California have been doing well over 190 this season. The best broad jump distance is 22ft. 9¼in. and Lom of the Bear squad is figured to better that mark.

The California squad arrived in Seattle last night and was to take a light workout today to get the "feel" of the short Washington indoor track. Washington completed its training yesterday.

HENRY GRAMPP, CUB PITCHER, TO MARRY

Henry Grampp, Jr., pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, and Miss Elaine Hammond, 19 years of age, 123 Olive street, Avalon, appeared at the county marriage license bureau yesterday, and signified intention to wed.

Grampp and Miss Hammond met in New York some time ago, and when the Cubs came to California for spring training. Cupid got in some spring training of his own, and the consummating ceremony will be held next Tuesday. Grampp is 23, and lives at 306 East Eighty-third street, New York.

SOUTHLAND GYM STARS POINT FOR TITLE MEET

The Southern California gymnastic championships, to be held at the L.A.A.C., the 25th inst., will be the final local event before the national A.A.U. tournament is held here in June. Men who qualify in the 25th inst. meet will remain in training for the nationals when they will meet the finest gymnasts in the country. According to reports received here by L. A. Henry, S.P. A.A.U. president, the East is showing exceptional interest over the national tournament, which, according to present plans, will be held at the Olympic Auditorium June 6, next.

Various A.A.U. districts throughout the United States are now staging their championships and the winners will be sent to Los Angeles.

"You'd be surprised," replied the sprightly Sophia. "With a rasping voice like yours, love is likely to fly out of the window and land on the back of its neck. What our love needs is insurance."

"What insurance?" he wondered.

"The insurance of OLD GOLDS, boy friend. Throat-ease and tender tones caused by the mellow, mild, heart-leaf tobacco; vocal cords that act without a struggle; no tickle, scratch or scrape. OLD GOLD yourself, Marmie, and we shall be inseparable. There's not a bark in a billion."

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

At sight of the hideous, bestial-appearing little men running toward him, on their short crooked legs, a qualm of paralyzing fright went through the shaken nerves of Werper. With a scream he turned to flee into the gloomy corridor, but the frightful men anticipated his intention. They blocked his way, seized him, and though he fell to his knees, grovelling for his life, they bound him and hurled him into the inner temple.

The rest was but a repetition of what Tarzan and Jane Clayton had passed through. The priestesses came and with them La, the High Priestess. Werper was raised and laid across the altar. Cold sweat ran from him as she raised her cruel knife. The death chant fell upon his tortured ears. His staring eyes wandered to the golden goblets from which the hideous votaries would soon quench their inhuman thirst with his own warm life-blood.

He wished that he might be granted the brief respite of unconsciousness before the final plunge of the keen blade—and then there was a frightful roar that sounded almost in his ears. The High Priestess lowered her dagger. Her eyes went wide with horror. The priestesses screamed and fled madly toward the exits. The priests roared out their rage and terror according to the temper of their courage. They fled in frenzy.

Werper strained his neck about to catch a sight of the cause of their panic, and when, at last, he saw it, he, too, went cold in dread, for what his eyes beheld was the figure of a huge lion standing in the center of the temple, and already a single victim lay mangled beneath his cruel paws. Again the beast roared and turned his baleful gaze upon the altar. La staggered forward, reeled and fell across the body of Werper in a swoon.

Magma Copper Net Earnings Gain Sharply

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) Magma Copper Company in its 1929 annual report issued here today showed consolidated net income for the year ended December 31, last, of $3,004,764 after charges and estimated Federal taxes, equal to $7.36 a share on 408,155 capital shares as against $1,952,495 or $4.78 a share in 1928.

In his remarks to stockholders, C. F. Ayer, president, said that the average net cost of producing copper after deducting gold and silver values was 9.987 cents per pound. This cost included State and county taxes amounting to about 98-100 of a cent per pound, depreciation and all other fixed charges and general expenses, but does not include any allowance for depletion of ore bodies or Federal income taxes.

The corresponding cost for the year 1928 was 9.227 cents per pound. The increase in cost of production was principally due to higher wages based on relatively higher selling prices of copper. The average net selling price received by the company in excess of all commissions and delivery charges on all of copper delivered during the year was 18.2061 cents per pound, the report stated.

London Market Tone Cheerful

LONDON, April 4. (Exclusive)—The stock market moved irregularly today but the tone was cheerful. Issues of trans-Atlantic interest moved buoyantly. Columbia Graphaphone shares moved sharply upward and H. M. V. Gramophone issues were in good demand on reports of a merger. Chemical, match and margarine securities had a better tone. The oil group was in good demand. Rhodesian mines had a better tone. Rubber issues were easier.

The gilt-edge division had an easier tone. Argentine rails were firm and Canadian Pacific shares moved upward.

Prices of securities of American interest at 2 p.m. were: American Celanese £4 13-16, Brazilian Traction ordinary $50, Cable and Wireless B 30s, Canadian Marconi 25s, Columbia Graphophone £6 7-16, Courtaulds £2½, De Beers, £9 1-8, Ford Motors, Ltd., £3 7-8, International Nickel $43½, and Rand Mines £3.

MARCH SHIPMENTS OF AUBURN AUTO UP

CHICAGO, April 4. (Exclusive) March shipments of the Auburn Automobile Company total 2502 cars compared with 1869 in February and 2308 in March, 1929, according to an announcement just issued by E. L. Cord, president, who stated that this represented the best March the company had ever had, being exceeded in only three other months in the concern's entire history.

PROFITS OF NEVADA CONSOLIDATED UP

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) Nevada Consolidated Copper Company in its 1929 pamphlet report issued today showed net income of $17,493,977 after depreciation, plant and equipment retirements, Federal taxes, etc., but before depletion, equal to $3.60 a share on 4,857,248 capital shares as against $15,201,101 before depletion, or $3.13 a share in 1928.

EARNINGS OF WARD BAKING TURN DOWN

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) Ward Baking Corporation today reported for the twelve weeks ended March 22, last, net income of $238,725 after interest, depreciation and Federal taxes, equal to 79 cents a share on 300,064 shares of $7 cumulative preferred stock outstanding as against $587,944 or 98 cents a share on 86,275 Class "A" common shares after preferred dividends in the 1928 period.

ART METAL WORKS EARNINGS DECLINE

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) Art Metal Works, Inc., today reported for the year ended December 31, last, consolidated net income of $926,368 after reserve for Federal taxes, equal to $4.12 a share on 225,000 common shares as against $1,040,241 or $4.62 a share in 1928.

UNION DIVIDEND ACTION DUE

Quarterly Stock Payment Expected at Monday Meeting of Board; Cash Increase May Come Later

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Union Oil's rising tendency in the last few days is attributed in part to the expectation that directors at the dividend meeting Monday will declare the 1 per cent in stock in addition to the regular cash payment of 50 cents a share. The regular dividend is payable May 10 to stock of record the 17th inst.

In December the company initiated the practice of distributing a stock dividend of 1 per cent quarterly, explaining that this payment would be continued in addition to regular cash dividends so long as business conditions justify. The general impression, considering the improvement in the economic status of the industry despite the local gasoline unsettlement, is that conditions will warrant the payment by the directors of this quarter's stock dividend.

CASH PRICE DISCUSSED

Whether any statement will be made concerning the policy of the management for the remainder of the year is not known. There is some discussion, however, among people interested in the stock of the possibility later in the year of substituting a higher cash dividend for the combined cash-and-stock-dividend policy. The usual experience with stock-and-cash payments is that corporations either drop the stock distributions entirely after a time or utilize the extra stock as the stalking horse for an increase in the cash rate.

If earnings this year should run as favorably as in 1929, the chances would seem to favor higher dividend action by Union. Last year the company earned $3.56 a share and paid its regular cash dividend of $2. The Standard Oil Company of California, as its annual statement published this morning shows, earned virtually the same amount, or $3.70 a share. The Standard cash dividend was $2.50 a share. Both companies paid extras in stock.

CHARGE ON SURPLUS

Stock dividends primarily are utilized by corporations to conserve cash assets and current income, but are chargeable against surplus. If earnings in the oil business turn out this year as anticipated, the Union Oil Company and others in the same industry paying stock dividends may find it advantageous to increase the dividend charge against income and eliminate the charge against surplus.

Union, for example, added approximately $5,900,000 to surplus last year after payment of cash-and-stock dividends. If four quarterly stock dividends of 1 per cent are paid this year, the charge against surplus will run approximately $4,280,000, or nearly exhausting the 1929 increase in the surplus account. The stock dividends are computed at the par value of $25 a share.

On the increased number of shares outstanding, the total cash dividends this year at $2 a share would amount to more than $8,500,000 as a direct charge against income. Including the charge against surplus of $4,280,000 for stock dividends, the total dividend charge would figure approximately $12,780,000.

Compared with this total, the elimination of the stock dividend and the substitution of a $2.50 cash rate would reduce total dividend charges to approximately $10,000,000 in cash.

This sum, however, would be chargeable against income, and the ability to pay it would depend on the maintenance of a rising trend of earnings this year, or at least a total net income as satisfactory as reported in 1929.

Weekly Survey of Trade Trend More Cheerful

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

While there is general agreement that distributive trade, particularly wholesale and jobbing business, has improved over recent weeks, the enlargement has proceeded along conservative lines, while retail trade affected by irregular weather, cold and rain predominating, has tended to do little more than mark time pending the nearer approach of Easter shopping and weather.

The higher lights of the week have been visible mainly in the industrial branches, where slight gains over recent weeks are reported in production of pig iron and ingot steel; in the shoe manufacturing trade, where a fillip to manufacture has been given by delayed Easter buying, and in clothing, dress and knit goods manufacturing, where seasonal orders have been accumulated. Reports from two of the largest chain and mail-order houses point to decreases of about 9 per cent in March from a year ago, largely a reflection of a later Easter season.

Weekly bank clearings, $13,258,630,000, a decrease of 3.5 per cent from a year ago.

Transamerica in Expansion Step

With the objective of increasing the number of Transamerica Corporation stockholders from 175,000 to 500,000, a nation-wide sales organization composed of leading investment houses in the United States today will begin their undertaking under supervision of Elisha Walker, chairman of the board, L. M. Giannini, president, and Jean Monnet.

Preparation of the campaign has extended from September 21, last, when plans for it were first announced by A. P. Giannini. Following the American campaign, Transamerica securities will be sold in Europe after the stock has been listed on the New York Stock Exchange, Mr. Walker recently stated.

COMMERCIAL CREDIT

Earnings for 1929 of Commercial Credit made a record. Net aggregated $6,011,898 against $3,892,842 in 1928. This increase was due to the increase in volume of business rather than operating conditions. Net was equivalent to $4.34 per common share, after all charges.

The company is engaged in the field of financing installment purchases, being the second largest factor in this activity. Among the products the time sales of which are financed are automobiles, notably Chrysler and Packard, refrigerators, oil heaters, outboard motors and Diesel engines and electrical equipment. The company's business, formerly confined almost entirely to the automobile field, has been broadened, diversified and intergrated to the point where approximately half of its volume is derived from sources other than motors. Company also owns 10 per cent of the capital stock of Aviation Credit, and operates that organization on a fee basis. In addition, Kemsley-Milbourne, almost wholly owned subsidiary, finances motor sales abroad.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt	$ 8,065,000
Preferred stock first 6½% cum. ($100)	8,000,000

Columbia Plans Split-up of Oil and Utility Units

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) Directors of the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation have voted to segregate oil and gasoline properties constituting the industrial operations of the Columbia system from its public-utility business and have adopted a plan of reorganization for the company, it was announced here today.

The plan contemplates the immediate formation of a new corporation under Delaware laws to be called the Columbia Oil and Gasoline Corporation, to which Columbia Gas and Electric will transfer all stocks and indebtedness held in it by each of the four subsidiaries.

In consideration for such transfers the new Columbia Oil and Gasoline Corporation will issue to Columbia Gas and Electric its preferred and common stocks consisting of 2,350,000 common shares, 337,500 shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock and an equal amount of similar second preferred stock, all of no par value.

Big Board Seats Hit New Highs

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) New high prices for the year were attained today for seats on the New York Stock and Curb exchanges, arrangements having been made for a membership transfer on the Big Board at $467,000, up $17,000 from the preceding sale a few days ago, and for the transfer of a curb seat at $225,000, up $27,000 from the preceding sale.

CHICAGO, April 4. (Exclusive)—Arrangements were made today for the sale of a seat on the Chicago Stock Exchange for $34,000, a new high for this year and $1000 above the last previous sale.

FINAL BANK FIGURES OF CITY GIVEN

Total Deposits in All Institutions on March 27, Off 6 Per Cent

Deposits of all banks within the corporate limits of Los Angeles as of March 27, last, the date of the call for condition, declined approximately 6 per cent from the totals for a year ago and about 6 1-2 per cent from the amount reported on December 31, last, according to the compete returns compiled yesterday.

The combined deposits of all the banks, including both savings and commercial accounts aggregated $1,296,800,000, against $1,374,600,000 a year ago, and about $1,380,000,000 on December 31, last. This represents a decrease for the year of more than $77,000,000 and a decrease for the three months' period of more than $83,000,000.

In the case of the Bank of Italy, the deposit figures are for its Los Angeles branches only.

Deposit totals for the seventeen banks, members of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association, were published in a recent issue. Of the remaining twelve banks reporting yesterday, the Bank of Hollywood and the Hollywood State Bank stood out with increases of more than 25 per cent in the totals over a year ago, the former adding $649,789, and the latter, $212,155 in deposits. The Bank of San Pedro and the Citizens' Bank of the San Pedro, also reported increases for the year.

Deposits of the nonmember banks follow:

	Deposits March 27, 1930
Bank of San Pedro	$4,974,447

Five New Loan Societies on List in State

Permission has been granted by Charles A. Whitmore, State Building and Loan Commissioner, for the organization of five new building-loan associations, the California Building-Loan League announced yesterday. All of the new institutions are located in the southern part of the State.

Royal Building-Loan Association has been formed in South San Gabriel with Lee C. Reed, president, and L. A. Daily, manager. Glendale Guarantee Building and Loan Association has been formed with an authorized capital and surplus of $55,000 and West Los Angeles Building-Loan Association, with a capital and surplus of $62,500. F. O. Wilson, R. F. Barnett and F. H. Hamilton were the organizers of the latter.

Balboa Building and Loan Association, San Diego, has been licensed with an authorized capital and surplus of $110,000 with W. H. Fraser, president, and M. P. Duffield, secretary. Valley Wide Building-Loan Association, El Centro, has been licensed with a capital and surplus of $57,500 with E. E. Pratt, A. W. Hamilton, and J. J. Kilrain the incorporators.

Pacific Finance in Denver Field

Pacific Finance Corporation has opened a district office in Denver under the resident managership of Howard E. Wittenberg to serve all of Colorado, Eastern Wyoming and New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle, Western Kansas and Nebraska, Western Oklahoma and the western portion of South Dakota, according to an announcement yesterday by Jack H. Storey, vice-president in charge of the company's branches.

Although primarily interested in auto sales, the branch will also handle financing of accounts receivable, income producing machinery, household accessories and dairy cattle. As the business develops other branches will be opened throughout the Central and Rocky Mountain States region under supervision of the Denver office, Mr. Storey said. The Denver branch marks the thirty-second to be put into operation by Pacific Finance, the thirty-first having been opened last month in Dallas, Tex.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Rather irregular early fluctuations were followed by renewed firmness in cotton today and prices made new high ground for the movement on most positions in the late trading. Old crop positions were again relatively firm with an increase in their premiums over the new crop months. Active months sold about 7 to 25 points net higher and the midafternoon market was within a few points of the best.

NEW ENTRY IN STEEL FIGHT

Representative Seiberling Asks Attorney-General to Act on Youngstown Merger Plan

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, April 4.—Representative Francis Seiberling of Ohio has joined with Representative La Guardia of New York in a protest to Atty.-Gen. Mitchell against the proposed Bethlehem-Youngstown Merger.

In a letter to the Attorney-General, Mr. Seiberling calls upon the Department of Justice to make an investigation to "protect properly the interests of our people."

The resolution, already introduced and calling upon the Attorney-General to stop the merger, charges "a subtle plan backed by the United States Steel Corporation to create an American Steel Trust."

Mr. Seiberling's letter says that "Ohioans are proud of the successful and independent industries developed among them" and that the "merger of these industries with great eastern corporations will have the effect of making their cities mere mill towns."

Charges that the merger is being forced through purchases of large blocks of stocks and that "promoters of the merger are determined to consummate it at any cost, irrespective of its legality or the effect upon the people of Northern Ohio," are also included in Mr. Seiberling's letter.

In some quarters it is said that many Youngstown stockholders are opposing the merger, fearing reprisals on the part of United States Steel Corporation, and the reduction of $4 a ton in the price of pipe by a subsidiary of that corporation, the National Tube Company, is regarded by the opponents to the merger as a warning against it.

When the steel industry starts fighting sparks fly. Next Tuesday the battle of ballots will begin.

Good weather and easy credit conditions are responsible for the increased business activity which is showing itself in many parts of the United States.

With the Federal Reserve Bank of New York operating on a 3½ per cent rate, the same as the Bank of England, compared with 6 per cent in New York and 6½ per cent in London last fall, the rates in other countries are being affected by easier money. The Reichsbank's rate has moved down from 7½ to 5 per cent, while the Central Banks of Holland and France, both money centers, are even lower than those land—a flat 3 per cent.

of the United States and England.

There are some who believe that the rates quoted in the United States by the Federal Reserve today are too low and that the New York rate may move up rather vigorously in the next few weeks.

Both the English pound and the French franc have been very strong since the New York rates were dropped. French and English banks and business firms have been withdrawing large sums of money from the United States, because they are not able to do any better in New York with their money than they are in London or Paris.

On the other hand, there has been a considerable amount of foreign money sent to New York banks in the last fortnight, some of it presumably for stock-market operations.

Certainly, investment trusts and foreign buying have been the two bullish factors in the market since the impressive stock advance began two weeks ago.

Five million share days on the New York Stock Exchange continue. Yesterday's record of 5,942,000 was the heaviest turnover for 1930. The standard stocks like American Can, United States Steel common, International Telephone and Telegraph, Columbia Gramaphone, General Electric and Radio, all moved up vigorously on trading in big blocks.

The public may not be buying so much, but some large investment group—especially investment trusts, who have been waiting for months on the sidelines—evidently have decided that the time to buy has arrived.

WOOL MART CONTINUES SLOW PACE

Weekly Survey Reports Light Trading Lead by Fine and Half-Blood

BOSTON, April 4. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

There has been some business in fine and half-blood wools this week and also in tops of these qualities at prices which have been barely steady. Otherwise, the market has been quiet, and the goods market is still rather slow.

In the West, a significant sale to a Boston house is reported of 65,000 fleeces comprising the Buffalo (Wyo.) pool at 23 1-4 cents. Growers in the bright wool States are selling wool in certain sections around 22 cents, being evidently reluctant to consign to the co-operatives on their advances of 18 cents and their relatively high charges of 2.50 to 3.95 cents for handling. Shearing is spreading and the new clip movement will doubtless soon be on in full swing.

London and Australia have been firmer until toward the close of the week there was some irregularity. Other primary markets are hardly changed.

Mohair is dull and prices more or less nominal at 40-45 cents for average to choice original hair.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to April 3, 1930, inclusive were 38,244,000 pounds against 50,132,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to April 3, 1930, inclusive, were 49,048,500 pounds against 60,970,700 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations tomorrow:

Scoured basis:

Texas, fine 12 months (selected.) 73@75; fine 8 mos. 12 months, 70@72; fine 8 months, 68@70. California: Northern, 65@67; middle county, 63@65; southern, 60@62. Utility Merger Believed Near

NEW YORK, April 4. (Exclusive) That working control of the common stock of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey is now definitely intrenched in the hands of the United Gas Improvement Company was revealed in the annual report of the latter corporation issued in the past week.

While the close connection with and large investment of United Gas Improvement in Public Service Corporation had long been recognized in utility and financial circles, it was not until publication of the annual report that it became known that United Gas Improvement owns sufficient common stock of Public Service to assure, for all practical purposes, working control of the Jersey corporation.

PRICES SOAR IN RUSH OF BUYING

Bullish Activity Reminder of Palmy 1928 Days

Total Transactions Largest Since 1929 Crash

Trading Confined Chiefly to Selected Issues

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Bulls cast restraint to the winds in today's stock market and went on such a rampage as has not been seen in Wall street since the post-election whoopee of November, 1928. The price index of ninety representative issues was pushed up 3 points to a new high level for the year, and transactions aggregated 5,931,610 shares, the largest turnover since the troublesome days of last November. There has not been such feverish activity in a normal bull market since the speculative orgy during the three weeks subsequent to the Hoover election, although sales ran higher during some of the violent rebounds last fall.

Rather heavy profit-taking appeared at times, but speculators for the rise did not hesitate to rush in to take up the slack. A sore spot was the amusement shares, which were depressed by heaviness in Warner Brothers, attributed to rumors that first-quarter earnings would not approach the optimistic estimates heard a few weeks ago. Scores of utilities and industrials, however, were hurled up about 1 to 11 points as stocks changed hands in blocks of 5000 to 20,000 shares. Although public participation in the market appeared to be growing rapidly, the character of the trading suggested rather definitely that it was a speculative carnival of giants. Activity was concentrated in a group of pool favorites, while scores of shares were more or less neglected.

LOAN GAIN IGNORED

The gain of $148,000,000 in weekly brokers' loans caused no surprise and apparently no qualms. Credit conditions remained comfortable, with call money holding officially at 4 per cent, but available in the outside market at 3 1-2.

Weekly business and trade reviews were somewhat more cheerful, pointing to better steel-mill operations, moderate improvements in wholesale and retail trade, and a decidedly better tone in commodity markets. Not all reports were favorable, however. Willys Overland reported a loss of nearly $5,000,000 for last year. President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania Railroad said he saw little prospect of improvement in traffic during the second quarter.

GROUP ADVANCES

American Telephone and General Electric were outstanding strong spots, surging up about 5 points to record levels for the recovery. Allied Chemical sold up about 9 and Case 11 points, although they sagged a little in profit-taking before the close. Consolidated Gas, Stone & Webster, General Motors, Colorado Fuel, Radio, National Air Transport, United Corporation, United Gas Improvement, and Standards of New Jersey and California were among other issues reaching new high ground for the year. United States Steel sold up more than 3 points, and closed up about 2 net. Warner Brothers lost more than 3 points, and Brunswick Balke, Loews, Paramount and Vanadium lost about 2. Worthington Pump dropped 5.

In the commodity markets, wheat futures sold up a couple of cents on bullish weather reports, but encountered heavy profit-taking and lost more of their gains. Corn sagged moderately, and cotton declined 90 cents to $1.60 a bale in realising on its recent advance.

Foreign exchanges were practically unchanged. Sterling cables held at $4.86 1-2. The Latin-American currencies were again firm.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Year's High Prices Fall Before Sustained Advance in Rapid Local Stock Trading

The drift of security prices continued upward on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday with all sections of the list participating in the advance. Operations were conducted at a rapid pace from the opening and more than a half-dozen issues reached new high levels for the year. While in some lines there was a slight reaction toward the close, final prices were substantially higher than at the end of the preceding session.

Oil shares figured prominently, led by Standard of California which reached 70 on an advance of more than a point and closed at 69½, up 3-4 net. Union Oil issues traded rapidly and after approaching the year's high reacted slightly to end up 1-4 net each. Rio Grande marked a new top for the year at 35 5-8 and closed at 25 3-8, up 1-8 net.

Signal featured with an advance of 1½ points to another new top at 36 3-4 and Shell gained a point to record a new peak at 24 3-4. Pacific Western also scored a new high with a jump of 1½ points to 17½. Barnsdall and Richfield ran contrary to the trend, the former falling off 1 1-8 points to 32 on light sales and the latter easing 1-4 to 28½. Macmillan improved fractionally.

Pacific Mutual Life, continuing to advance, was a feature of operations. The issue scored another new high for the year at 94 where it closed up 3-4 net and the rights advanced 20 cents to a new top at 4.45 ending later at 4.40. Pacific Finance traded rapidly to dip slightly lower while Pacific American Fire gained 1½ points to 50.

Transamerica again led the activity of all issues on the board and after advancing 3-4 ended at 46, up 1-4 net. Southern California Edison continued a popular trader and closed up fractionally at 66¾ after reaching 67. The rights also improved, selling up 10 cents to 4.10.

Western Air Express and Douglas Aircraft figured in the general advance. The former jumped up 2 3-4 points to 45 and ended at 44, and the latter, on a brisk turnover, marked a new top at 22 and closed at 21 3-4, up 1-4 net. Emsco Derrick advanced 1 3-4 points on light sales to 21.

Sales totaled 56,561 shares valued at $1,613,738; previous day, 39,099 shares valued at $1,306,569.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP)—Week-end profit-taking, which was heavier than usual because of the sharp advance in prices earlier in the week, brought about an irregular price movement in today's curb market, but the main price tendency continued upward. Most of the leaders in the public utility, aviation and specialty groups reached new high ground, with the oils selling close to the year's high prices.

Trading showed a moderate expansion in volume, but the day's sales of 1,820,600 shares were nearly 200,000 shares below the year's peak established earlier in the week.

Resumption of the advance in Electric Bond and Share, which touched a new high at 113¼ and then eased to 111¾, up 2½ net, was accompanied by unconfirmed reports that stockholders shortly would be offered the right to subscribe to additional stock at $90 a share. Niagara and Hudson closed a point higher at 21, after having set a new peak slightly below that figure. Brazilian Light and Traction crossed 50 to a new high for the year. General Gas and Electric convertible preferred jumped 4½ points to 98, a new top, just a point of its gain.

Newmont Mining, which reported 1929 earnings of $23.30 a share, against $15.82 in 1928, touched a new 1930 peak at 141½ and then fell back to 136 for a net loss of 5 points. While there has been a substantial appreciation in the company's security holdings since the first of the year, the 1930 prospects are believed to be dependent chiefly upon developments in the copper situation. Aluminum Company of America neared 8½ points to a new high at 358 in response to the decision of the Federal Trade Commission dismissing anti-trust complaints brought against the company.

Oils continued to display a strong undertone in anticipation of an early advance in crude oil and gasoline prices. Standard Oil of Ohio jumped 6½ points on a few sales. Gulf advanced 3 points and retained all but fraction of its gain and Humble and Vacuum each closed more than a point higher.

North American Aviation crossed 12 to another new peak among the many other issues to reach new high ground were Anglo-Chilean Nitrate, Deere & Co. issues, De Forest Radio, Electric Household Utilities, Goodyear, Public Service, Electric, Libby McNeil, St. Regis Paper and Taggart Corporation.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the bid.

During the six-day flow test last February Pacific Western's Tideland Permit No. 92-2, established a record for the State, when it put out more than 6000 barrels of high-gravity oil per day, but it has since been beaned down to conform with the State-wide curtailment program. With its new producer, the company now is obtaining excellent production from Tideland Permit No. 92-1, No. 92-2, Goleta No. 1 and Caroline Spaulding's Blue Goose No. 2.

Blowing In

Early yesterday the Standard Oil Company No. 81 on the north dome at Kettleman Hills started blowing in from a depth of 7035 feet and is expected to be on production in a day or two. It is flowing about 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas. This project was deepened from 6673 feet.

Standard No. 81 was the first of a group to be brought in on the north dome at Kettleman Hills for the purpose of depleting the gas pressure of the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well. Later, the Continental Oil Company's Elliott No. 12-8 was brought in and then Standard's No. 8. All three producers are direct offsets to the discovery well.

COTTON SHIPPER RATE FIGHT WON

European Lines Capitulate After Long Delay

Contract Signed for Slash of 10 Cents a 100

Tariff Applies to Present and Next Season

BY WALDO DRAKE

California and Arizona cotton shippers yesterday won a complete victory in their long fight for lower freight rates to the European markets, when the Pacific Coast-European steamship conference signed a contract guaranteeing the shippers a flat rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds. The new tariff, a reduction of 10 cents per 100 pounds, includes all European exports from California ports both for the present season as well as the 1930-31 crop. The reduction follows an agreement recently reached between the shippers and the Pacific-Westbound conference, establishing a rate of 25 cents for California cotton to Japanese markets and 30 cents to China, with possible rate adjustments later.

Yesterday's announcement was made by A. H. Lamberth, western head of Anderson, Clayton & Co. The Anderson-Clayton interests head the cotton group which this season has been exporting cotton to the Bremen-Liverpool markets in its own chartered bottoms. Both cotton and steamship men express themselves as gratified over the new agreement, indicating that it will stabilize the situation in both the cotton industry and the European-Pacific freight field.

Latest figures of the Los Angeles Cotton Exchange indicate that 365,000 bales of cotton will be exported to various markets out of Los Angeles Harbor this season. From August 1 to March 31, last, a total of 122,507 bales have been shipped to the European markets; 117,384 bales to Japan and China; 1200 bales to Mexico, while approximately 125,000 bales are scheduled for export yet this season. These figures exceed in every field the record-breaking 1928-29 season, when approximately 275,000 bales were shipped from this port.

LOOKOUT REQUESTED FOR MISSING SCHOONER

Fishing craft in Mexican waters have been asked to keep a lookout for the local 115-foot, two-masted schooner Alice, which has not been sighted since she departed Turtle Bay a fortnight ago. She is in command of her owner, Capt. S. P. Moon, and en route to San Pedro was to have put in at San Quentin to load a cargo of onyx.

Fear is felt for the safety of the veteran windjammer, inasmuch as she lost her anchors several weeks ago when she was driven ashore at Turtle Bay.

Fate of the breakwater extension and inner harbor dredging programs, now in the midst of legislative machinery at Washington, will be determined by the 11th inst., according to a telegram received yesterday by Port Manager Burt Edwards from Harbor Engineer George F. Nicholson.

Mr. Nicholson said that Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, has promised early dispatch of his recommendations on the local projects to the House Committee for Rivers and Harbors and that Representative Dempsey, chairman of that committee, has promised an immediate hearing on them after receipt. Mr. Nicholson added, however, that President Hoover has urged reduction of the rivers and harbors bill from a total of $300,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Stephen Lindo, marine superintendent of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, yesterday underwent a mastoid operation at the San Pedro General Hospital. He was reported to be progressing nicely last night.

Capt. J. A. Davis, superintendent of the Cary-Davis Towboat Company, operating on Puget Sound, yesterday completed a survey of the local port. Capt. Davis has been the guest here of the Wilmington Transportation Company.

Among the 170 passengers sailing for Honolulu at noon today aboard the Lasco flagship City of Los Angeles will be William Lawrence Saunders, commissioner of the New Jersey Board of Commerce and Navigation and chairman of the Ingersoll Rand Company. Mr. Saunders, considered one of the nation's foremost port authorities, will make a survey of the local harbor upon his return from Hawaii.

Shortage of lumber cargo for the east coast is reported likely to cause a lay-up of a number of intercoastal freighters, or their dispatch to dry docks for liberal repairs during the quiet period. Entry of several heretofore carrying only lumber east, into the struggle for general eastbound cargo, also is believed imminent. Space for lumber was cut down 35 per cent by the Eastbound Lumber Conference during April in an effort to prevent demoralization of the lumber rate.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont—"Let's Go Places." Without much ingenuity Hollywood becomes a fierce and uproarious prison for Lupe Velez, music, dancing and Frank Richardson.

Biltmore, 9th at Grand—"Across the World with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson," the intrepid explorers, cameras and all, are seen to go into jungles and far places encountering Mother Nature at her wildest.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center at Rangy Dazy—Fox Grandeur film amazes the Dazy. Fox does not show the great possibilities in the future. The subject matter is a minstrel show by the stars.

Criterion, 645 South Grand—"Phantom of the Opera." The phantom comes to life again in a revival of the old thriller. Some bad diabetes.

Figueroa, Fig. at Santa Barbara—"Burning Up." Richard Arlen speeds his motor dramatically and is at round and round the track, much to some people's entertainment.

Filmarte, 1228 Vine—"In Tolerge and Jerusalem." Reviewed in today's Times.

Forum, Figueroa at Norton—"The Laughing Lady." Ruth Chatterton eats every meal, the brave little woman, smiling at divorce and scandal impartially.

Grauman's Chinese, 6925 Hollywood Blvd.—"Rogue Song." Lawrence Tibbett makes a powerful impression on screen fans in a vagabond romance of nearly great quality.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Blvd.—Anna Case, Carlo Galle and Clarence Brown have not spoiled O'Neill.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Montana Moon." Joan Crawford makes in the desert, then repents in a society to which her husband doesn't belong. Comedy temporizes the combination.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Birds of Chance." A well-made drama about a cashier and his ilk. With William Powell and Jean Arthur.

Palace, Broadway between Sixth and Seventh—"All the Way."

Ritz, 3200 Wilshire—"Hit the Deck."

R.K.O., 8th at Eighth—"Officer O'Brien." The father and son theme underlines the monotony of the crook angle, and Ernest Torrence walks away with both.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Ladies of Leisure." A girl's quest for happiness brings beauty and sentiment, with Barbara Stanwyck and excellent cast.

Tower, Bdwy. at 8th—"The Green Goddess." George Arliss brings out his technique and again shows that it can do no wrong.

United Artists, Bdwy. at 9th—"Hell Harbor." Jameson Reivers neath jungle skies and is made exciting by blood and money and daily riots. With Lupe Velez and Jean Hersholt.

Universal Western at 10th—"Street of Chance."

Warners' Downtown, Hill at 7th—"Under a Texas Moon." Frank Fay does a mustache and shooting act in a way on a guitar, making fair amusement.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"Hold Everything." A rough and ready musical with Joe Wong's band and Winnie Lightner in uproarious roles.

Westlake, 633 Alvarado—"Street of Chance."

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th—"East of Suez." Lenore Ulric dazzles theatergoers with her dynamic personality in this Somerset Maugham love tale of a call-caste.

El Capitan, Hollywood Blvd. nr. Highland—"Broken Dishes." Family life in the raw is always good for drama and once in a while a laugh. Percy Pollock is starred as the all-American husband.

Hollywood Playhouse, 1735 Vine—"Helena's Boys." May Robson again attacks the problems of eternal youth and romance in a lively home play about a mare knowing all the ways of love.

Mason, Bdwy. nr. 1st.—"Rah Rah Rah Date." Waring's Pennsylvanians entertain with their well-known music and the show is just fair. Dorothy Lee, Evelyn Hair and others are capable.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th—"The Desert Song." Percy Waram and Josephine Houston change costumes and theme songs and take the desert by storm.

Mission Play, San Gabriel—The beautiful annual pageant of the settling of California, up to its usual standard. With R. D. MacLean.

Music Box, 6126 Hollywood Blvd.—"The Home" story about a man who goes over the top in life splendidly portrayed by Grant Mitchell.

Pasadena Community—"Spindrift." Martin Flavin, the author, keenly abashes an esthetic art colony, with Martha Dean, Gilmor Brown and others.

President, Bdwy. at 8th—"Your Uncle Dudley." Taylor Holmes plays a small-town character and indulges in some of his popular humor.

Wilkes, 1931 Vine—"Philadelphia." Shooting and graft in a lawyer's office make a crude but interesting platform. Malachi Cockcliffe Fellowes is potted in the first act.

VARIETIES

Burbank, 9th and Main—Burlesque. Follies, 418 and Main—Burlesque.

Boy Scouts Get Merit Badges

ONTARIO, April 4. — Several badges of merit were worn today by Boy Scouts of the Chaffey district who received them last night at an impromptu court of honor ceremony at the Woman's clubhouse.

First-class badges were awarded Ambrose Massola and Bert Goddard of Troop 5. Second-class badges went to Jack Jones, Lynwood Arms, Hal Hughes, Stephens Davis of Troop 1, and George Swain of Troop 2. Dear Poulson and Charles Tomlinson of Troop 5.

Fifteen older boys received special merit badges. The local Court of Honor board, R. D. Newton, W. W. Stevens and K. W. Fuller, were in charge of the program which was arranged by Lex R. Lucas, Chaffey district scout executive.

INGLEWOOD'S SPRING STYLE FETE BEGINS

INGLEWOOD, April 4.—With all the business streets ecked with banners and all the store windows decorated in gala spring colors Inglewood's Spring Festival of Styles opened here today with crowded streets, band concerts, an outdoor auto show and a fashion promenade in the gaily bedecked patio of the Chamber of Commerce Building. All the fanfare of a royal jubilee attended the opening of this pre-Easter celebration, and every business in the city is co-operating to make it a sensational success. Living models clad in spring's most beauteous creations are appearing every evening in the fashion promenade in the Chamber of Commerce patio beginning at 9 p.m. The festivities will close Saturday evening.

Rapid Progress Made in Lower Otay Pipe Line

SAN DIEGO, April 4.—Construction on the Lower Otay pipe line has made such rapid progress that the first tunneling work was completed last night when Tunnel No. 4 was "holed through," it was reported today by Hydraulic Engineer H. N. Savage. Work of laying the reinforced concrete roof and sides will commence immediately.

This tunnel is 1000 feet long and the contractors, Guhe & Miller, finished it on schedule time, it was declared. Progress on other tunnels also is being pushed diligently, the engineer said.

Shipment of steel pipe for this line is expected from the San Francisco shops of the Western Pipe and Steel Company on the 18th inst. and thereafter the pipe is to be delivered here at the rate of 900 feet per day, the engineer's report states.

Work of trenching for the pipe line from Chollas Heights to the University Heights reservoir is to begin the coming week, the report states. The Miracle Construction Company, contractors on this work, has received two shipments of cast-iron pipe.

Redlands Elks Install Board

REDLANDS, April 4.—Officers of the local Elks' Lodge were installed last night by Fay Lewis, Past District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of Anaheim. He was assisted by other officers of that city. There was a large attendance last night and the new officers are entering their duties with enthusiasm for the work ahead.

Preceding the installation, dinner was served in the grill room of the lodge and local entertainment was given. Officers are Exalted Ruler R. S. Lackey, Leading Knight David Huckaby, Lecturing Knight Henry N. James, Secretary Lee Dague, Treasurer Robert Lackman, Tiler Fred W. Goodman, Trustee, five-year term, W. V. Watson; delegate to Grand Lodge, H. C. Burris; alternate delegate to Grand Lodge, Henry Hoffman.

DISABLED VETERANS ORGANIZE CHAPTER

ONTARIO, April 4.—Ontario Chapter Disabled Veterans of the World War is completely organized today with filling of appointive offices last night by W. F. Roth of Upland, commander. J. J. Cox of this city is adjutant treasurer; Adam Clanson of Upland, chaplain; H. P. Pond, Ontario, sergeant-at-arms; E. Fentzel, officer of the day. Membership in the local chapter is drawn from here, Upland, Chino, Pomona and Etiwanda. A large gathering of disabled veterans is planned for May 1 at the American Legion Hall, Commander Rother announced today.

NOTHING LAME ABOUT THEIR MUSIC

Shut-in Harmonica Players Rehearse for Broadcast

Cambria School Harmonica Band

FIFTY crippled children composing a harmonica band yesterday rehearsed joyously in preparation for broadcasting a program at 3:15 p.m. on the 11th inst., over KHJ. There was nothing lame about the playing of the youngsters, who are pupils of the Cambria School, 1510 Cambria street, maintained by the Board of Education's department for crippled children.

The young musicians' rehearsal was directed by Charles D. McRoy, who directs 244 harmonica bands of 28,880 players in the city schools. McRoy was assisted by Principal Mable P. Wells and Elizabeth Cloes, a teacher. The youngsters have been in training only two months, and play tunes with much zest.

HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD SITE LEASED

Rental of $1,188,000 to Be Paid for Property at Gower Street

Hollywood Business Properties, Inc., yesterday acquired the southeast corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Gower street on a ninety-nine-year lease involving a total rental of $1,188,000, according to an announcement made by President N. P. Wilson. The property, which is one block east of the new $1,250,000 Pantages Theater and office building, has 102 feet of frontage on Hollywood Boulevard and ninety-seven and one-half feet on Gower street. All negotiations were conducted by the Thomas D. Barnett Company and Jerry Sengel, who represented Henry Hay, former owner of the property.

With the acquisition of the Hollywood-Gower corner, Hollywood Business Properties, Inc., now controls or is interested in almost a mile of frontage in the Hollywood business area involving rentals of approximately $14,420,000, Wilson said.

Hollywood Business Properties does not anticipate building on the Hollywood-Gower corner for the next year, Wilson stated. He announced, however, that plans are under way for the early erection of two limit-height hotels on Vine street and Hudson-avenue frontage held by Hollywood Business Properties, Inc.

Schumann-Heink Sues Carewe on Film Contract

Mrs. Ernestine Schumann-Heinck yesterday filed suit for $75,000 against Edwin Carewe, film director and producer, asserting the defendant agreed to star her in four singing pictures, then disclaimed liability for his signature on the contract.

The director and the singer made their agreement to begin the first picture February 15, it is asserted, but the pictures never were made. The contract, it is asserted, fixed the singer's share of the first picture at $75,000, the second $90,000, the third $100,000, and the fourth $125,000.

OHIOANS TO BE HOSTS

Officers and directors of the Federation of State Societies will be the guests Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Ohio Society to be held in Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street. The White King Quartet will feature the program, which is to be followed by a dance.

Only Three Run for Trusteeships in Beverly Hills

Office seeking evidently is not a popular form of enterprise in Beverly Hills, as disclosed by the fact that there are only three candidates for the two places to be filled on the Board of City Trustees at the election the 14th inst. These are M. J. Kavanaugh, former Municipal judge and a director in the California Bank; Paul E. Schwab, incumbent, and Fred Shelton, owner of a service station. The terms expiring are Schwab's and W. D. Longyear's.

Kavanaugh, a resident of Beverly Hills for many years and a former assistant State's Attorney of Illinois, was put into the race and is sponsored by a committee headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Lloyd-Smith, Otto A. Gerth, James Davidson, Harrison Lewis, William Collier, H. L. Gee, Frank J. Horner and others. He was president of the Beverly Hills Hoover Club, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce and treasurer of the Community Presbyterian Church.

Schwab, an attorney, is Beverly Hills' member of the Metropolitan Water District. Shelton is a new figure in the city's public life.

Sheriff Traeger Plans Return to Office Monday

Sheriff Traeger, who has been away from his office for the past ten days on account of illness, will return to his duties at the Hall of Justice Monday morning, according to an announcement last night.

The Sheriff is expected to return to his home today or tomorrow. He has been recuperating at a ranch near Glendora, and although not completely recovered from his ailment, which at one time was considered serious, will resume his duties.

CRISIS NEAR IN GASOLINE PRICE FIGHT

Change Over Week-end Predicted by Official as Bootleg Rates Drop

While stations of leased chains of the major oil companies continued to hold to their average of 16½ cents a gallon for gasoline yesterday many independent dealers of major brands displayed 15-cent signs and venders of so-called bootleg products sold as low as 10 cents a gallon.

The week-end may bring about a change in the so-called gasoline war, one director of a major chain predicted. He admitted that price cutting among independents is working a hardship on the major stations, and indicated that present conditions cannot continue.

A mass meeting of independent station operators was announced yesterday by L. W. Sockman of the Independent Super Service Station Association, for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, 845 South Figueroa street. The present gasoline conditions will be discussed and a plan formulated to assure a higher margin to dealers, Sockman said.

AUTO CRASH DAMAGE SUIT GOES ON TRIAL

Damages totaling $50,000 are asked in a suit brought by Edward Hermann against Emil Goldsmith for injuries he asserts he received in an automobile collision, which went to trial late yesterday before a jury in the court of Superior Judge Keetch. The plaintiff avers he received eight broken ribs and bone fractures in his legs and arms. He blames Goldsmith for the accident, which occurred on July 24, 1929, at Forty-eighth street and Vermont avenue.

CENSUS PLANS SMOOTHED OUT

Supervisors Discuss Ways to Achieve Full Count

Methods in Which Public Can Help Explained

Residents Leaving on Trips Asked to Fill Blanks

Methods for obtaining a "100 per cent census" were discussed at a meeting of the five census district supervisors with members of the citizens' census committee at luncheon yesterday.

Education of the public on ways and means in which they can help the census enumerators was agreed upon as the outstanding thing to be accomplished. As soon as the public knows how it can help the task will be simplified.

On the whole, the public is cooperating in a fine way. One of the chief problems for the Southern California enumerators to solve is counting the local resident who is going away and will be gone during the next ten days. It is a matter of getting the absentee family blank to such people or of getting any kind of a blank to them. Those who have applied some time in advance have been supplied, but there are hundreds in Los Angeles leaving the city daily who suddenly awaken to the fact that the census is being taken and want a blank within the next few hours before they leave.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

An effort is to be made to supply each district census headquarters with paid messengers or volunteer workers with cars who will answer such emergency calls and take a blank out to the persons requesting them. Plans also were made to supply information desks at the railway stations with absentee blanks to be given travelers as they leave the city.

Apartment-house owners are cooperating by taking enough census blanks as will be needed in each apartment or hotel and distributing them to the residents and collecting them for the enumerator when he calls again. All apartment-house dwellers are being urged to fill out their blanks promptly and return them to whatever source they obtained them from.

KEEP BLANKS AT HOME

One of the supervisors brought out the point that census blanks are not to be taken from the home to the office and filled out. The objection to that procedure has been found to be that the blanks are usually left in the office and when the enumerator calls again at the home for them the blanks are not there. The safe procedure urged is to fill them out at home and leave them there.

The necessity of ranchers and farmers filling out the farm census blanks was reiterated at the meeting. It is found that some ranchers are not filling out the questionnaire as fully as desired. Also, the problem of ranch owners not living on their ranches is proving to be a vexing one. Enumerators are finding that when they call at a ranch only the attendant or ranch hand is around and he has not the information needed. The owner lives in Pasadena or elsewhere. The enumerator cannot go to Pasadena to get the information. It is suggested that absentee ranch owners leave the necessary information at their ranches or make provision for obtaining the questionnaire.

BLANKS SHOULD BE KEPT

People were urged to keep the census blanks left by the enumerator so he can pick them up. They are not to be sent to the district headquarters, except in cases where the absentee blank is used or where the family is leaving the city immediately and before the enumerator can return to get the blank.

Some trouble was reported from unscrupulous sales managers for real estate concerns sending salesmen around on a census pretext of some sort and getting people into

PARIS BORN STAGE FAVORITE ARRIVES

Claudette Colbert

Claudette Colbert, who established herself as a motion-picture player without seeing Hollywood, arrived in Los Angeles last night on the Santa Fe Chief.

Miss Colbert, a Parisian born favorite of the New York stage, is here to appear in a talking picture for Paramount, to be directed by George Abbott.

Although she is new to Hollywood, Miss Colbert has played the leading feminine roles in four talking pictures made at Paramount's Long Island studios. She completed her role in "Young Man from Manhattan" just before leaving New York.

BEACHWOOD DRIVE PLEA CONSIDERED

Petition for Improvement Sent to City Engineer for Official Checking

The City Council yesterday transmitted to the City Engineer for checking the petition of Charles P. Rawson and others asking for the extending and opening of Beachwood Drive above Hollywood Boulevard. The petition contains the signatures of a majority of the property owners in the district, it is stated, while additional signatures are being filed daily.

The present southern terminus of Beachwood Drive is at Franklin avenue. The petition asks that the thoroughfare be extended from Franklin avenue to Hollywood Boulevard, and widened from Franklin avenue to a point 470 feet north. The uniform width of the street is to be sixty-six feet.

The opening of Beachwood Drive will provide an additional route to the grounds of the proposed $5,000,000 Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

Food Magnate's Brother Will be Buried Today

Funeral services for Dr. Preston S. Kellogg, retired army physician and brother of W. K. Kellogg, breakfast-food magnate, will be conducted at 3 p.m. today at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

Dr. Kellogg died Wednesday at his home, 5137 Maywood avenue, Eagle Rock, at the age of 72 years. He came here following his retirement from the Army at the close of the World War in 1918. He entered army service during the Spanish-American War in 1898.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Flora A. Kellogg; a daughter, Mrs. Van Schoich; two brothers, J. H. Kellogg of Battle Creek and W. K. Kellogg of Battle Creek and Pomona, and a sister, Mrs. Clara K. Butler of Battle Creek.

LEWIS'S PRISON TRIP DATE SET

Ex-Julian Head Scores in Fight With State

Fitts Phones Washington and Still Hopes for Aid

Bitter Prejudice Affidavit Filed Against Wilson

S. C. Lewis, convicted president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, will probably leave Los Angeles at 6:10 p.m. next Wednesday for McNeil's Island to serve a seven-year sentence for mail fraud.

That was the information from Federal officials last night but—

Dist.-Atty. Fitts, shortly before leaving his office, declared that he still has hopes of detaining Lewis in the County Jail here long enough to bring him to trial in the local State courts on charges of jury tampering.

PHONES WASHINGTON

The hope still held by Fitts is based upon a lengthy conversation by long-distance telephone with the United States Attorney-General's office in Washington yesterday afternoon.

United States Marshal Sittel, who at present has custody of Lewis, declared, however, that the prisoner will be taken to McNeil's Island and if the local District Attorney requires the prisoner's presence here for trial he may get him by way of a writ of habeas corpus ad prosequendum. This writ must be served after Lewis's delivery to the warden of the Federal penitentiary.

In the face of the conflict which appears to be raging over Lewis's custody, officials in both the Federal and State offices are said to have agreed upon the program announced from the Federal Building.

RETURN POSSIBLE

If this is followed Lewis will be taken north in custody of the marshal, delivered to the warden at McNeil's Island, and shortly thereafter may be returned to the County Jail here upon the service of the writ upon the Attorney-General.

Lewis, however, last night strongly objected to any further delay in being transported to Federal prison and announced his readiness to oppose in the courts any effort to return him to the jurisdiction of the California courts after once being delivered to McNeil's Island.

Last night found the situation abruptly reversed from its status Thursday night, when a telegram from the Attorney-General indicated that he would issue instructions that Lewis be held here for trial.

POINT NOT CLEAR

The crux of the situation developed over the question of whether Lewis could be held here and at the same time officially begin his Federal prison term. Judge James insisted that this be definitely acquiesced to by the Attorney-General and various telegrams were exchanged without clearing up the point, apparently. Following this, Fitts talked to the Washington authorities and still later came the announcement of the marshal that Lewis is going to McNeil's Island.

"I'm at my rope's end," commented Fitts last night. "I have done everything I could to hold Lewis. The Washington authorities promised to send a telegram tomorrow that may alter the situation and I still have hopes."

Yesterday Lewis, in custody of United States Marshal Lesmer, continued his visits to local courts, beginning with Superior Judge Tappaan's court in the morning and during the afternoon making appearances in United States District Judge James's court and that of Superior Judge Wilson.

He created considerable stir in the latter department when he filed a lengthy affidavit of prejudice against Judge Wilson and thereby automatically stayed any further attempt to bring him to trial in that court for the time being.

Before Judge Tappaan, where he made two appearances, Lewis completed a deposition started twenty-two days ago in a recovery action brought for $12,000,000 by former Julian Petroleum stockholders against the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and a group of brokers. The deposition, Judge Tappaan announced, runs more than 5200 pages of transcript and exceeds 1,300,000 words.

PREJUDICE CHARGED

Lewis appeared briefly in Judge James's court at 2 p.m., where he was informed that he was to be taken to Judge Wilson's court for a period of not to exceed fifteen minutes. The appearance was in response to efforts of the District Attorney to have him ordered before Judge Wilson for trial. The order was not forthcoming, but he was

by Harry Carr

I HAVE always wished I could have paid at least one visit to one of the old California haciendas in the days of the Del Valles and the Lugos and the Bandinis and the Sepulvedas.

And now I have done it.

THE HACIENDA

The Pericos hacienda north of Culiacan is just such a place. Life goes on there just as it did in the old days of California before the gringo came. The estate is so large that they have no idea what it measures in acres.

Two families own it together. The one who entertained us was the Retes family.

THE PATIO

They live in a one-story stone and brick house, fronting with a colonnade on a plaza. Around this plaza is a town of low buildings, all of which are a part of the ranch.

The house inside is not like the California adobe ranch houses we know. It is colonial Spanish. The ceilings are at least twenty feet high, and the roof is of flat slabs of mud bricks. The patio is filled with tropical plants; tall palms in which parrots roost; papaya trees.

THE GIANT BEDROOMS

There are seven bedrooms, each being about thirty feet square, with very high ceilings. The living-room is open to the shaded porch that flanks the patio. The dining-room is essentially the family room, with an enormous walnut highboy.

THE KITCHEN

The kitchen is medieval; towering walls smoked black with the cooking fires of many years. Adobe stoves, stone stoves, four or five going at once. A flock of women servants. One has three children hanging to her skirts as she pats tortillas; another pours melted cheese into an enchilada; a severe-looking cross-eyed woman bosses the place.

THE YARD

Back of the kitchen is a yard surrounded by a twenty-foot wall and a huge barred gate, through which a wagon could come on a dead run in time of revolution. In this are the chickens and ducks. In a far corner is a ramada where the laundresses are at work all the time. Wash day is every day in Mexico. Built into the kitchen wall is a bake oven stoked from the yard side, but tended from within the kitchen. It is an enormous establishment. The family never sits down without guests.

THE PATRON

The patron is Senor William Retes. He is a sweet old man with twinkling eyes. The senora, as always in these houses, runs the works as far as the house goes. She is witty, proud and overwhelming in her hospitality.

THE OTHER SIDE

"Yes," she says, "it is a lovely old house, but every time I go to Los Angeles I wish that I had one of those sweet, clean, neat little Hollywood cottages which would be easy to keep clean; and I could have just one servant."

CONFISCATION

A week ago the Mexican government exercised its confiscatory rights under the agrarian land laws and lifted 2000 acres out of the ranch to give to the peons. It wouldn't have been so

SINCLAIR LEWIS VISITS; "LYNCHING" FEAR MYTH

It was with some hesitance that he arrived in Los Angeles to renew his acquaintance with this city, Sinclair Lewis, novelist, said yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woodward, where he is visiting.

He confessed the situation smilingly, however, for he said it is founded on a threat that he never took seriously, but which irritated him nevertheless. Shortly after his novel, "Elmer Gantry," was published three years ago, he said, he received numerous press clippings concerning a sermon preached by a minister in this city in which the minister was quoted as saying that he would be pleased to head a lynching party to greet the author if he ever came to Los Angeles.

His present visit to the city, Lewis said, is the first he has made since that threat was supposed to have been uttered and he is wondering, he added, whether the ire of his ministerial foe is still at the boiling point.

The minister in question was informed yesterday that Lewis had come to town and was asked whether his sentiments concerning the author have changed. While admitting that he had severely criticized "Elmer Gantry," the minister denied that he had ever uttered the threat concerning the lynching and said that any newspaper clippings received by Lewis to this effect certainly had misquoted him.

When apprised of this denial, Lewis said good-naturedly that he is pleased to learn that his visit to Los Angeles is not being made at risk of life or limb, but added that he is disappointed to learn that the danger of ministerial vengeance that he had considered hanging over him for the past three years had apparently been founded on a misquotation.

While on the subject of "Elmer Gantry," Lewis denied that there

FINANCE PROGRAM SOUGHT

Metropolitan Water District Committee Named to Bring About Freedom in Money Matters

With the appointment of a committee at their meeting yesterday, the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water District took steps to set up a financial system for the district and to bring about a complete financial independence from the city of Los Angeles.

Ever since its organization more than a year ago, the district has been operating on a plan of using city men and materials in carrying on the preliminary aqueduct work with the understanding that there must be a reckoning in the end. The city has conducted a long program of preliminary surveying and other work in connection with the Colorado River aqueduct, payment being made out of the proceeds of $2,000,000 in bonds voted by Los Angeles taxpayers for that work. There is about $300,000 of that fund left.

The district will reimburse the city for whatever of the work is agreed upon as a justified charge against the district. It will be the function of the committee appointed yesterday to make the settlement and set up a financial system. Those on the committee include Chairman Whitsett, Franklin Thomas of Pasadena; S. H. Finley of Santa Ana; O. T. Johnson, Jr., of Los Angeles, and Paul E. Schwab of Beverly Hills.

The directors also re-employed J. M. Luney as assistant controller of the district at a salary of $7500 per year. He is a former Reclamation Service man, more recently connected with the Internal Revenue Department at Washington.

JULIAN SEXTET FACES JUDGE

Men Accused of Conspiracy to Violate State Securities Act Will Plead Friday

Seven defendants charged with conspiracy to violate the Corporate Securities Act in an indictment returned by the grand jury during the pending inquiry of the Julian Petroleum Corporation collapse will enter their pleas next Friday.

They were arraigned yesterday before Superior Judge Wood and were given one week in which to prepare to answer the charges.

Three other men accused, S. C. Lewis, Motley H. Flint and Ed H. Rosenberg, were not present. Flint is en route to California from Italy, and is expected here on the 20th inst. His plea in all indictments pending against him was set for the 21st inst., when Attorney Le Compte Davis told the court of his arrival date.

No attorney answered for Lewis. It was explained that Rosenberg is in San Quentin.

The seven defendants, appearing with their attorneys, were: I. L. Rouse, Adolph Ramish, Alvin Frank, Charles E. Reese, Raymond M. Reese, Henry S. MacKay, Jr., and Jacob Berman, also known as Jack Bennett.

David Rubin, one of the defendants named in an earlier indictment charging conspiracy to commit usury, who was not present at the arraignment Tuesday, appeared in court. His plea is set for Tuesday, the same time as the thirty-one others.

All defendants are at liberty on $5000 bail posted in other cases.

TAMPERING LAID TO RED SUSPECT

Juror Asserts Efforts Made to Influence Her

Venire Not Yet Selected at Trial of Fifteen

Pair Acting as Own Lawyers Make Trouble

Alfred J. Lucas, one of the fifteen defendants on trial before Municipal Judge Bogue for participation in the Communist demonstration of March 6 last, was questioned by the court yesterday following a statement by a prospective juror that he had attempted to influence her. She declared that Lucas had appealed for sympathy, telling her, "This is a bad case and I'm sorry I'm in it. I'm a war veteran, don't forget."

Judge Bogue told Lucas that addressing a prospective juror might be construed as contempt of court and added that, in his opinion, Lucas should be willing to take the consequences of acting on his convictions rather than appeal for sympathy when he gets into trouble. The juror later was excused by the defense.

TROUBLE WITH DEFENDANTS

The court had trouble during the entire session yesterday with Carl Sklar and Frank Waldron, the two defendants who are appearing for themselves, on account of their unfamiliarity with court procedure and their attempts to make Communist speeches to prospective jurors as the latter entered the box for examination. After several times ordering the two men not to tell talesmen that "there are different standards for the rich and poor under the capitalist system," and not to ask the question, "Do you believe in the right of workers to parade even if it is against the law?" Judge Bogue threatened to assign a public defender to represent them unless they discontinued their efforts to express their beliefs to the jury.

"This court has no concern with your beliefs," Judge Bogue told the two men. "The jury cannot be influenced by them without violating its oath. The only question in this case is whether you violated the law. Whether this law is a good law, whether it is or is not constitutional, cannot be determined here."

WARRIOR EXCUSED

Most of the jurors examined declared they have no prejudice against the defendants on account of their Communistic activities. One talesman, A. L. Barron, Indian War veteran from the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, was excused for cause when he declared that "Every Red in the country ought to be deported."

At the close of the second day of the trial yesterday there was no indication that a jury will be selected within the next two days. Leo Gallagher, representing thirteen of the defendants, has used fifteen of his peremptory challenges and has seventy remaining, while Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday has used only three of his eighty-five challenges. Five talesmen have been excused for cause. The trial will be resumed Monday.

Social Work Topic Chosen

Justin Miller, dean of the law school of the University of Southern California and president of the California Conference of Social Work, announced yesterday that social progress and the law has been chosen as the subject of the twenty-second annual meeting of the organization in Santa Barbara, May 13-17. Dean Miller explained that the California conference is held annually in different parts of the State.

The discussions are conducted under section chairmen. Warren H. Prescott, chief deputy probation officer for Los Angeles county, is chairman of the section on delinquency. Other chairmen include George B. Mangold, professor of sociology of the University of Southern California on education; Dr. John L. Pomeroy on health, and Emory S. Bogardus on racial and citizenship problems.

GIRLS WILL PRESENT PLAY

"The Ghost Bird" will be presented by the Business Girls' League today at 8 p.m. at the Jinnistan Grotto Building, 1500 South Figueroa street. Those in the cast are Irene Normandie, Louise Taubert, Charles Cary, Aurora Gagna, Rose Cuniberti, Gus Mack, Baron Davies and Marjorie Stevens. The play is being dramatized by members of the dramatic art class. The league is a self-governing organization of young business women which meets every Tuesday night at the Y.W.C.A.

BATTLE OF VICTORY PARK TO BE RESUMED MONDAY

After an extended session, the City Council yesterday continued until Thursday at 1:30 p.m. further hearing of appeals against acquisition of Victory Park No. 2, in the Arroyo Seco. Yesterday was the fourth day devoted to hearing appeals, and still they were not completed.

While 600 appeals have been filed, many contain several names, so that the total number of protestants, it is asserted, amount to 7000.

Before the hearing is completed, the Council plans a trip to inspect the property, which protestants assert is of small value as a park site. The estimated cost of the project is $867,014. Two protestants, in their statements, have charged there were "irregularities" in the proceedings, which should be investigated by the grand jury.

Art Club's Tea Tomorrow Will Hear Musicians

Twilight tea programs have become an established part of California Art Club activities.

MRS. GERTRUDE ROSS

Tomorrow at 4 p.m. Mrs. Gertrude Ross, Southern California composer of the musical setting of the Pilgrimage Play and numerous musical gems, will play some of her own compositions for the tea.

Both Miss Viola Yorba, in costume of the old Spanish family of which she is descendant, and Melville Avery, a First National Pictures baritone, will sing Mrs. Ross's songs. Avery also will add songs of the desert and the range.

The public is invited. Admission is 25 cents. The club is a semipublic institution in Barnsdall Park in Hollywood.

STAGECOACH TO HAUL MAYOR HERE FOR VISIT

Visions of fifty years ago when the stage coach pulled up in front of the postoffice and deposited sacks of mail and passengers will be stirred this morning at 10:30 o'clock when a four-horse stage coach will take the Mayor of Burbank to call upon Mayor Porter at the City Hall. Bearing an invitation from the citizens of Burbank to attend the first annual Elks' stampede at the Jeffries ranch on the 13th inst., Mayor Buree of Burbank, flanked by an escort of cowboys, will present Mayor Porter with a cowboy hat. In the vanguard of Burbank city officials accompanying the stage coach will be Chief of Police Bergh.

Changed School Method Planned

"Painless education" is the description given yesterday of the work she will develop here by Dr. Eleanore A. Field, who arrived from New York to become head of the Progressive School of Los Angeles, 2140 Highland avenue. Dr. Field finds everywhere a tendency to make less deadening the cut-to-pattern influence in education, she said.

DR. ELEANORE A. FIELD

She expressed astonishment at the growth of Los Angeles in the eleven years since she was here last. She holds degrees from Teachers' College, Columbia University, was Detroit's director of Kingergarten and primary education for ten years and later was State Superintendent of Elementary Training of Rhode Island. She organized and headed the Sunset School, Kansas City, and the Country Day School at Scranton, Pa. She studied educational methods abroad for many years.

Bandit Suspect Taken in East

Capt. Stensland, in charge of the Sheriff's robbery detail, received word yesterday from police of Hot Springs, Ark., of the arrest there of James Buchanan, wanted here as a suspect in connection with the hold-up February 18, last, of the Rosemead State Bank, Rosemead. A copy of the complaint naming Buchanan was telegraphed immediately to Hot Springs, pending preparation of extradition papers.

Buchanan and two other men, it is charged, executed the robbery by posing as bank examiners, as the manager opened the doors for the day's business. They then secured the executive with chains, it is asserted, forced a clerk to unlock a vault and escaped with $5112.

Court Grants Cut in Alimony

Malcolm Ferris Brown's alimony payments to his wife, Gracg Evangeline Brown, were reduced from $50 to $45 a week when he appeared in Superior Judge Guerin's court yesterday and complained that his salary of $125 a week is insufficient to meet his alimony demands.

Brown, assistant art director, in a motion-picture studio, asserted his wife is living at home and needs only about $90 a month. Her attorney protested that Brown is paying $80 a month for his apartment.

BANQUET PLANS SET FOR PHI DELTA THETA

Gov. Young and Chief Justice Waste of the California Supreme Court will be speakers at the annual founders' day banquet of Phi Delta Theta, on the 16th inst. at 6 p.m. at University Club. Other speakers will be Judge Willis and Marion P. Betty. One hundred and fifty Phi's from sixty college chapters of the fraternity in this country and Canada will attend. Vernon Day, secretary of the Los Angeles Alumni Club, 354 South Spring street, VAndike 8250, handles reservations.

SLAIN OFFICER PAID HONOR

Largest Cortege Ever Accorded Policeman Goes to Grave With James Costello

With the largest funeral cortege ever accorded a policeman, official Los Angeles yesterday paid final honor to Officer James Costello, who was slain early Monday by a man he tried to arrest. The impressive funeral procession was a mile-and-a-half long. Marching on foot after the hearse were Mayor Porter, all of the Police Commissioners, Police Chief Steckel, Assistant Chief Finlinson, Deputy Chief Cross and all of the division commanders.

Fullest police honors, on strict military lines, attended this funeral of a plain patrolman who had been slain on duty. The bier was accorded a police escort of three sergeants and twenty-four patrolmen, followed by the entire motorcycle squad of thirty officers, a large squad of county motorcicle officers and a color guard.

Father Reidy of Holy Cross Catholic Church, conducted services at Brown Brothers' mortuary, 935 West Washington street, and at Calvary Cemetery.

The Mayor and other high city officials walked in the cortege from the mortuary chapel to Figueroa and Washington streets, where they dropped out of line and returned to their duties. The escort and hundreds of brother-officers and other friends, in a procession a mile and a half long, continued to the cemetery.

During the burial services Officer B. C. Brewer of the Georgia-street division, a student aviator, flew above the cemetery at an altitude of 1500 feet and dropped flowers on the grave. As the casket was being lowered, the police escort lined up beside the grave and gave the departed comrade a hand salute.

So many floral pieces were sent to the officer's funeral that it was necessary to assign a truck to carry them to the cemetery.

Following the hearse were the mourners, the slain policeman's mother, Mrs. Annie Costello; a sister, Mrs. Rose Marion, and a brother from Montana.

Officer Costello was wounded fatally early Monday morning when he attempted to arrest a man in an automobile at Seventh and Lucas streets. Glenn Rogers, a discharged sailor, was arrested on charge of the killing, and, according to police, admitted shooting while in fear of arrest. Rogers was wounded by Costello's partner, Officer Elmer Hoffman.

LEWIS MAY GO TO PRISON SOON

allowed to appear for the purpose of a continuance.

Lewis's affidavit of prejudice against Judge Wilson was perhaps the most bitter instrument of its kind ever filed in the local Superior Court. It contained thirteen closely typewritten pages and was filed by Lewis personally. The charges summarized are:

(1.) By reason of bias and prejudice against the defendant and against Lewis's cause of defense Judge Wilson cannot give the defendant a fair and impartial trial.

(2.) That Judge Wilson is temperamentally unfit and morally weak in governing the conduct of trials.

(3.) That Judge Wilson is governed by the wishes and dictates of the District Attorney and the clamor of mob psychology.

(4.) That Judge Wilson had entered into an agreement with the District Attorney to prevent the defendant from obtaining a fair and legal trial.

(5.) The affidavits listed cases tried by Judge Wilson and reversed by the higher courts, which, Lewis contended, demonstrated "that the defendants therein were cynically and contumeliously denied the plain and primal rights of an accused person . . ."

(6.) That Judge Wilson had, in many instances, "painfully manifested by himself in public statements that professional and legal learning are wholly unnecessary to a judge who is called to preside over a criminal department of a court."

The balance of the affidavit took up in detail the history of the Lewis bribery case, since the returning of the original indictment two weeks ago, and listed other instances of asserted prejudice.

OUTCOME IN DOUBT

The filing of the affidavit of prejudice automatically removed Judge Wilson from further immediate jurisdiction in the case. The court has five days in which to file an answer to Lewis's assertions and then the District Attorney and Lewis or his representative must agree on an impartial judge to hold a hearing on the matter of prejudice. If they are unable to agree on an impartial judge it automatically becomes the duty of the president of the Judicial Counsel, Chief Justice Waste of the Supreme Court, to appoint one to decide the issue. In the present case it is expected that the matter will undoubtedly go to Justice Waste, although how far the proceedings will progress if Lewis is taken to McNeil's Island was a subject of debate last night.

Lewis, it was announced yesterday by the United States marshal, will be returned to Judge Tappaan's court today and again Monday to verify his depositions and also will be taken before the special intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Bureau. At the latter place, his 1928 income-tax return will be gone into. A lien of $2,090,733.11 has been filed against him by the government for that period and it is regarding this that the conference is being held.

GRADUATES TO MEET

Local alumni and alumnae of Colorado Teachers' College will have their fourth annual banquet this evening at the Mary Louise Tea Room, 2300 West Seventh street. About 100 graduates are expected to attend. Addresses will be given by Dr. Charles W. Waddell, University of California at Los Angeles, Mrs. G. R. Miller and Mrs. D. D. Hugh, all former members of the faculty. Alice Forsyth Mosher will sing.

SECRETARY TO COOLIDGE AIRS VERSION

J. Bascom Slemp Praises Los Angeles and Proves Self Political Optimist

Declaring that he never saw a city like Los Angeles, in that one can conduct his business and yet be in reach of the seashore, the mountains and health-giving sunshine always, J. Bascom Slemp, former secretary to ex-President Coolidge, gave this as the outstanding impression of his first visit here.

"No overcoat for me," he declared yesterday. "If this is a sample of California I am for it."

Mr. Slemp is staying at the Biltmore and will leave tomorrow for San Francisco and the East.

He believes that the latter half of 1930 will be one of the best and most prosperous periods in the history of the country. He said that in the East business men see this state of affairs rapidly assuming form.

"The political situation also has been clarified," he said. "I predict that we will see a more consistent national program than was thought possible four months ago. I believe that the tariff will be worked out in a manner that will satisfy everyone and that there will probably be one or two adjustments before the final law emerges.

"The naval conference has been worthwhile because of the world-wide attitude developed. This conference will be a guide to our international conduct, no matter what happens as regards reduction."

On the way to Los Angeles Mr. Slemp said that he was surprised to read that he had been nominated for Congress from the Ninth Virginia District. He said that he has not decided whether he will accept the nomination.

JULIAN SEXTET FACES COURT

has about completed its investigation of the overissue of stock of the Julian corporation as connected with the State Corporation Commissioner's office were apparent last night when the body adjourned to meet again next Tuesday.

Testimony of four witnesses was completed yesterday, all of whom are believed to have answered questions connected with the activities of the corporation office some sixty days before the Julian stock was taken off the market.

B. H. Whittaker, former chief auditor for the Corporation Commissioner, was the first witness, and was followed by T. W. Rorke, a former deputy commissioner.

In the afternoon Wray Bertholf, a former auditor for the A. C. Wagy & Co., brokers, testified for more than an hour. As he left the room Bertholf declined to discuss his testimony in detail. "I have told a story that I have been trying to tell for more than three years," he said, "and it concerns information that I placed before the Corporation Commissioner on March 18, 1927." Bertholf declined to go further into his revelations.

Bertholf was followed in the jury room by Attorney Ben S. Beery, his personal counsel. He is reported to have substantiated Bertholf, and explained that he composed a letter setting out beliefs for his client which was sent to the Corporation Commissioner.

No intimation of the schedule of the jury for its next meeting was given out, but routine matters will probably occupy the body on Tuesday, according to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hammon.

DEATH CRASH SUIT ON TRIAL

William Odetey, Japanese truck driver, is suing A. Yanaghiara, another truck driver, for damages asserted to have resulted from an accident April 20, 1928. William, Jr., Odetey's 13-year-old son, died as result of a collision between the two trucks. The case will be resumed Monday in Superior Judge Archbald's court.

DYING PHYSICIAN WRITES DIARY OF LAST MOMENTS

Seven concise, barely legible notes reposing in the safe of the Coroner's office yesterday bore testimony of how Dr. Walter Perry Guy, physician of 943 South Magnolia street, slipped from life into death while lying in his automobile in a park near Acton Thursday afternoon.

To settle beyond all doubt the cause of Dr. Guy's death, Chief Deputy Coroner MacDonald yesterday ordered an autopsy performed on the body.

The physician's body was found lying on two pillows on the rear seat of his expensive sedan in a city park camp grounds about one mile northeast of Acton shortly after 6 p.m. Thursday. Investigation by Deputy Sheriff Hutchison of the Sheriff's office homicide detail, disclosed the seven notes in a notebook in the left coat pocket of the dead man. The first note, timed at 10 a.m., complained of a severe pain. The second note, written at noon, read:

"Damned pain severe. Had quarrel with wife. Still love her. Pain bad. Took hypo. Never took one before. Feel better."

In order the notes follow:

"1 p.m. Got to get to Los Angeles. Very painful. Took quarter hypo morphine.

"2 p.m. Cannot get to L. A. Very painful. One-half grain of morphine.

"2:01 p.m. No funeral. Will in vaults. Key in pocket. Feel myself slipping. My love to you.

"Pain severe. Hypo. Bad. Pain very bad.

"2:30 p.m. Pain very bad. Cannot stand it. Love. By. Will in bank. Cremation. Bank handled resources."

Dr. Guy's body was discovered by E. E. Henick and Emil Diset, who at first believed the physician to be asleep and did not learn he was dead until some time later, according to a Sheriff's investigation. Word of the death was sent to deputies of the Newhall Sheriff's substation by J. J. Haistch, Acton storekeeper, who informed the officers that Dr. Guy had driven into the park at about 9 a.m., remarking to Diset that he intended to sleep for a while in his automobile.

Officers reported that about noon he was again seen by Diset near the automobile apparently all right. It was not until several hours later that he was found dead.

In the car officers found a medical kit containing various instruments, including a hypodermic needle lying loose in the bottom and a golf bag of clubs. Identification was made through papers found on the body, which gave the physician's office address as 4362 Melrose avenue.

Dr. Walter Perry Guy

In company with a nephew of Dr. Guy's Ralph E. Dayton, 1008 Santa Monica Boulevard, Beverly Hills, the widow of the dead doctor went to Acton a short while later. The body was first taken to a Lancaster undertaker's and then to the County Morgue pending the autopsy.

Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's homicide detail yesterday was awaiting the result of the Coroner's examination.

Hungarians Plan Karolyi Affairs

Hungarians living in Los Angeles will rally at three distinct events this month to honor Count Michael Karolyi, first President of the Hungarian republic, who is scheduled to arrive here on the 15th inst., for a limited visit.

The official reception committee yesterday announced a mass meeting at the Sons of Herman Hall, 120 East Twenty-fifth street, the 17th inst.; a banquet at the City Club, 833 South Spring street, the 19th inst., and a mass meeting at Music Arts Hall, the 20th inst. Count Karolyi is scheduled to speak at the City Club's open forum on the 21st inst.

The chairman of the reception committee is Emery Singer.

RUNAWAY HORSES PERIL FILM DIRECTOR

Nat Ross, film director, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday in being thrown from a fifteen-foot platform when a team of four horses became frightened and ran away, knocking over his camera perch. He was badly bruised and shaken when he rolled down an embankment at the side of the road. The accident occurred during the taking of scenes for a comedy featuring George Sidney and Charles Murray. Ross was directing sound scenes from the platform when the horses, attached to an old stage coach, became frightened and broke loose. The horses were not found in the hills of Killers' Canyon, Universal City, until late last night.

Boy Violinist Reaches City for Concert

Yehudi Menuhin, the boy wonder violinist, arrived from San Francisco yesterday morning with his father and Selby Oppenheimer, to see the town before his concert Monday night at the Shrine Auditorium. Yehudi is now quote advanced, having recently celebrated his thirteenth birthday and graduated into tuxedos for concert appearances and the use of a full-size violin.

YEHUDI MENUHIN

He has not, however, discarded his love for practical jokes and his traveling companions must be alert or suffer.

During the few days of play allotted him while he is in his home State of California, the youngster has been hiking in Yosemite, receiving a welcome from the Mayor, the Municipal Band and other dignitaries of San Francisco and listening to hi first Wagnerian opera. He has decided views about opera and, after hearing the "Rheingold" and "Don Giovanni," he cast his vote with Mozart and said, "Wagner did not write for singers."

The Civic Auditorium, seating 10,000, was sold out for Yehudi last week in San Francisco, and he is going back to play at the last concert of the Symphony Orchestra with Alfred Hertz conducting. After that he will return to his mother and sisters who are studying in Switzerland.

SINCLAIR LEWIS VISITS IN CITY

is any truth in the belief that one of the characters in this novel had been based on Aimee Semple McPherson. He said this would have been impossible because he not only has never met Mrs. McPherson but never attended her church and has never even heard her over the radio.

His visit at this time, Lewis said, is merely social and he intends to remain for a week or more as the guest of the Woodwards. He admitted that he has been working on a new novel, but he refused to divulge its nature.

He has no intention, he said, of going to work for any motion-picture studio, and he pointed out that virtually all of his novels, including "Main Street," "Babbitt" and "Mantrap," have already been made into motion pictures. "Elmer Gantry," although one of the most sensational best sellers in American literary history, was never sought as film material by any motion-picture company, and Lewis said he never expects it to be.

His host, W. E. Woodward, besides being the author of several novels, is also known for his two biographical works, "George Washington—the Man and the Image," and "Meet Gen. Grant." Woodward also denied that he came here with any intention of doing motion-picture writing. He has been here six weeks, he said, and intends to remain a considerable time doing literary work.

WIFE TELLS COURT ABOUT "LAST STRAW"

Bruce J. Smith offered the supreme connubial insult when he ordered his wife to buy his cigarettes, Mrs. Lucile V. Smith asserts in her divorce complaint, filed yesterday. Mrs. Smith said she worked to send her husband to school, but that he failed and refused to find work after he graduated. Finally he said he could get a job in Sacramento, so Mrs. Smith gave him the money. She hasn't seen him since, she asserts.

MISSING GIRL IN SAFE HANDS

Hitch Hiker Lost by Brothers Found in Douglas, Ariz.

Now Being Cared for There by Salvation Army

Los Angeles Sheriff Hunt Brought to End

Pauline Onufryk, 19-year-old Rochester (N. Y.) girl who became separated from her brother and half-brother while hitch-hiking here and whose disappearance spurred local Sheriff's officers to a search, is safe and sound in Douglas, Ariz., according to dispatches received yesterday. She is being cared for by the Salvation Army there, and will remain in their charge, the Sheriff's office here was informed, until the two brothers, Michael Onufryk, 20, and George Smith, 22, can enable her to join them.

The youths appeared at the San Dimas substation several days ago and asked help in locating the girl. They said a motorist had given the three a lift at Hope, N. M., and taken them to Phoenix. There he discharged the youths, stating he had room only for the girl. It was agreed that the trio would reunite in Riverside, but the girl was not there at the appointed time.

Dispatches from Douglas quote the girl as saying the motorist stole her purse and put her out of the car at Yuma, and that another man picked her up and took her to Douglas. Apart from being abandoned, she said, no harm had come to her.

San Dimas deputies yesterday obtained employment for the youths at Baldwin Park. Their first earnings will be sent to defray the girl's transportation to Los Angeles.

Wife of Sick Florida Man Sought Here

The Times yesterday was asked to locate the wife of Dr. Alexander McIvor Tyndall who was reported in a brief telegram to be dangerously ill at West Palm Beach, Fla. According to the message, Mrs. Tyndall is thought to live somewhere in Los Angeles and the address of her husband was given as the Lake Court Apartments, West Palm Beach.

Dr. Tyndall is said to be a well-known exponent of thought transference and according to the telegram collapsed during a demonstration of telepathy.

Both Dr. Tyndall and Washington Irving Bishop were known in Los Angeles about twenty years ago when they gave a number of mind-reading demonstrations by driving teams of horses through the city streets while blindfolded.

Liquor Plant Owners [illegible] be Town Officials

The inquiry into municipal conditions in Culver City [illegible] affairs took on new significance yesterday when officials of the District Attorney's office and investigators have questioned more than a dozen witnesses in connection with the death of Duane, who was killed in the explosion in the suburb on December 29, 1928.

Charges have been made that two former municipal officials of Culver City owned the property that was operated at 713 Venice Boulevard.

Blayney Matthews, chief deputy Atty. Fitts's bureau of investigation, declined to discuss the case, but to admit that a murder investigation is now under way.

District Attorney's investigators also have been questioning various Culver City Officials during the last fortnight concerning alleged graft conditions asserted to exist in four present city officials and one former official.

The entire matter is expected to be placed before the county grand jury as soon as it completes investigation into the Julian petroleum overissue and usury [illegible]

Truck Driver's Wife Shot

After Mrs. Hallie Opel [illegible] testified at her divorce hearing that her husband, Everett Opel, truck driver, has a violent temper and has used her all kinds of names, Superior Judge Yankwich asked:

"What does your husband do?"

"He is a truck driver," she replied.

"That explains the language," replied the judge. "Decree granted."

WOMAN BOOKED IN FRAUD PLOT

Accused of Aiding Asserted Advertising Swindle

Arrested While Visiting Husband at Jail

Unauthorized Use of Church Name Charged

Arrested while visiting her husband in the County Jail, Mrs. Elizabeth Senness, 27 years of age, yesterday was turned over to Riverside authorities on a warrant charging her with complicity in an asserted conspiracy to defraud merchants and others in an advertising scheme.

MRS. ELIZABETH SENNESS

With Mrs. Senness when she was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Kelley was her 6-year-old son, Bobby, who was placed in the care of friends. He denied being involved in the asserted fraud.

Mrs. Senness, her husband, K. S. Senness, and J. B. Yellon, now awaiting trial in Superior Court, were arrested in El Paso several days ago and returned here. At the preliminary hearing Mrs. Senness was released. She took up her residence in Hollywood, where she was living at the time of her second arrest.

Senness and Yellon, according to Deputy Sheriffs Cook and Morley, are accused of having obtained several hundred dollars in an advertising scheme through use of the name of a West Hollywood church.

BOY NAMED IN FATALITY COMPLAINT

John O. Moroney Accused of Manslaughter as Sequel to Death of Little Girl

John O. Moroney, 17-year-old high school boy, yesterday was named with manslaughter in a complaint issued by William McKay, chief of the District Attorney's complaint department, for the death of Phyllis Nelson, 5, who was run down and killed while crossing Vermont street at Seventeenth and Burlington streets on March 25, last.

The complaint charges that Moroney drove through a pedestrian zone at thirty miles an hour striking the girl when she was in the middle of the street. She died a few hours later in the Hollywood Receiving Hospital.

Moroney lives at 1907 West Twenty-second street.

Film Man Shot in 'Civil War' Sham Battle

Wounded in a motion-picture war battle in Violin Canyon near Cahuenga Thursday, Jack Haynes, 3111 Melrose avenue, yesterday was reported to be recovering from a gunshot wound in the groin.

Haynes, an extra, was working in the filming of a picture by United Artists depicting a Civil War battle scene, when he was struck by a small piece of metal which embedded itself in his body.

The wounded man, according to investigators of the Sheriff's office, stated that he believed he had been shot accidentally by some person participating in the scene and whom he does not know. Following an operation at a San Fernando hospital, he was removed to the Newhall Emergency Hospital, where the wound is said not to be serious.

Dahlberg Says Year Will be 'Stem Winder'

Optimistic over the business prospects for 1930, Bruce G. Dahlberg, head of the Dahlberg Corporation of America and manufacturer of Grotex, declared, yesterday that the last six months of the year will be "stem-winders."

"America is rapidly regaining its confidence," Dahlberg said at the Ambassador, and is beginning to realize that business cannot be held back by such a thing as a stock-market flurry.

"Nothing, at present," said Dahlberg, "is a little slack, but immense construction is just around the corner. In anticipation of a good year, we are planning on spending $1,000,000 to advertise this year and on doubling one or two more mills, probably in Florida."

Looking into the more distant future, Dahlberg predicted four and five-day weeks, and, as a consequence, a "back to the home" movement, with more leisure, Dahlberg declared, people will not be content unless they have homes of their own.

Dahlberg flew to Los Angeles on a business trip and left last night for Chicago, again traveling by airplane.

TRUCK DRIVER LOSES CRASH DAMAGE SUIT

A jury returned a judgment for the defendants in the suit of Robert Peterson, driver of a glass company delivery truck, for $10,670 damages against the Hollywood Railway Service, Inc., for injuries received in a truck collision. The verdict was returned late yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Edmonds. The accident occurred on May 23, 1929, at the intersection of Ninth and Grand streets.

ACTRESS DIVORCES CORRIGAN

Mollie Ilene Mack Says Actor Told Her to Go Her Way and He'd Go His

Following a heated argument over money matters, Anthony N. Zilles, known on the stage and in motion pictures as Emmett Corrigan, told his wife, Ilene Corrigan, actress, whose stage name is Mollie Ilene Mack, to go her way and he would go his.

This was Mrs. Corrigan's testimony yesterday before Superior Judge Moncur when granted a divorce on the grounds of desertion. Her testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Robert North, a friend.

Corrigan did not appear to contest the suit. The wife was represented in court by Attorney Patrick J. Cooney, who said a property settlement had been agreed upon out of court.

The couple married at New York June 10, 1913, and separated October 20, 1924.

Following the divorce hearing yesterday Mrs. Corrigan said she is going bac kto work in pictures.

Prices Put on Lost Loves in Court Actions

One $50,000 love and two $10,000 ones were priced in County Clerk Lampton's heart-balm market yesterday, as two breach-of-promise and one alienation suit were filed in Superior Court.

Mrs. May Sophia Hafley asked $50,000 from Mrs. Mary E. Taylor, who, it is asserted, usurped Mrs. Hafley's place in the affections of Oliver Henry Hafley.

Eugene Hornstra, it is contended, promised to marry Cecilia Rose, and then failed to go to the License Bureau. Miss Rose asks $10,000 for consolation.

Miss Barbara McCarter brought a similar suit against Al Baker, automobile man, who, it is asserted, jilted his fiancee so abruptly that she asks $10,000 for her grief.

Jewish Relief Plans Concert

A concert and mass meeting will be held tomorrow evening at Trinity Auditorium under the auspices of the Palestine Labor Committee, Judge Elias V. Rosenkranz, chairman. Funds raised through this affair will be forwarded to Palestine by the committee to aid cultural, agricultural and educational projects in the Holy Land.

JOSEF CHERNIAVSKY

Owing to the industrial crisis in the entire Orient, people of Palestine are this year facing an unemployment problem that has already caused great distress. The National Palestine Labor Committee has, therefore, undertaken to raise $300,000 this year for the amelioration of the Palestine workers.

Among the artists booked are Josef Borisoff, violinist; Mme. Nina Lissauer, soprano; Josef Cherniavsky, violoncellist; Lora Cherniavsky, pianist, and others.

ALAMEDA MAN GETS WESTERN AIR POST

An announcement last night by Western Air Express said that A. R. Linn, former manager of the Chamber of Commerce of Alameda, has joined the company as assistant traffic manager as a result of the acquisition of the Standard Air Lines by W.A.E. recently. He will divide his time between the various cities served by the air line.

TERROR-stricken residents of the countryside from Calabasas to Santa Paula received with a sigh of relief yesterday the news that a hail of bullets, shortly before dawn, had removed the menace of a young African lioness which escaped from Gobel's Lion Farm in the Malibu hills last Tuesday. The beast had been prowling for three days in the vicinity of their homes.

The lioness, which weighed 250 pounds, measured seven feet from tip to tip and had a value of $5000, was brought down about 3 a.m. by Clifford Snyder of Burbank. Snyder killed the beast in the hills about four miles from Burbank, rather than rik the loss of three hunting dogs with which he and Martin Longo had followed the telltale tracks for twelve hours through the brush.

Brought to bay by the hounds, the hungry lioness struck viciously at them when cornered in a small canyon. Eager to take their quarry alive, Snyder and Longo made repeated efforts to catch it with a long iron rod equipped with a noose. With a swipe of its paw the beast knocked the rod from their hands and again attacked the dogs. Snyder fired a shot. The lion leaped clear of the dogs and scrambled up the canyon side. As it gained the top the hunter let go a volley which brought the beast to earth, fatally wounded.

The pelt is on exhibition at a service station on San Fernando Road near Orange Grove avenue.

His Curiosity Now Ought to be Satisfied

Officers of the Sheriff's office yesterday agreed that Robert Henry Vincent, 25 years of age, literally walked into trouble.

Curious to know whether there was a warrant out for him for failure to provide Vincent, who is the father of a small child, went to the Sheriff's office record bureau to find out. There was and he was forthwith detained by Deputy Sheriff Heine and placed in the County Jail.

To make matters more complicated, Vincent's peculiar fingerprint classification drew the immediate attention of E. M. Renfro of the identification bureau, who found that he was wanted by San Jose authorities on a check charge. He will be held for the northern authorities after the disposition of the local charge against him, it was stated yesterday.

Conclusion of Boat Show Set for Tomorrow

Following the longest run of any of the recent expositions in Ambassador Auditorium, preparations were under way at the Los Angeles Boat Show yesterday for bringing the event to a climax tomorrow night. First planned as an eight-day event, public interest prompted the Civic Regatta Association to continue it for an extra day. By the time the show closes, officials say, considerably more than 150,000 persons will have passed through the gates.

Santa Monica and Ventura day was observed yesterday, chambers of commerce of both cities being in charge. In the evening Dolores Del Rio and other film stars dedicated the "Savoia Marchetti," flagship of the International Air Transport, which is to operate between here and Ensenada.

Tuberculosis Decline Told

That children have been the greatest gainers from autituberculosis campaigns was revealed in a report mad epublic by Miss Sidney M. Maguire, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association, now conducting a diagnostic campaign to prevent tuberculosis among children from infancy to 16 years of age.

The report indicates that for the ten-year period, 1915-1925, the tuberculosis death rate for the country as a whole declined 40 per cent, while the rate for children under 5 declined 59 per cent.

WIDENING PROTESTS REJECTED

Council Orders Plans Be Drawn for Second Street Improvement Project

Protests were denied by the City Council yesterday against the widening and laying out of Second street from Figueroa street to Glendale Boulevard. The City Attorney and City Engineer were instructed to prepare the plans and ordinances. This is a part of the project designed to rectify the cramped conditions in the First street, Second street, Beverly Boulevard and lendale Boulevard area.

The Council also denied protests against the improvement of Two Hundred Fifty-seventh street from Belle Porte avenue to Governor avenue. Protests against the improvement of streets in the Crestmaven Drive and Rosswood Terrace district were continued for hearing until the 22nd inst.

The Council confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Banning Boulevard from J to Anaheim street, the improvement of Klump avenue from Burbank Boulevard to Cumpston street, the improvement of Lyric avenue from Griffith Park Boulevard to Hyperion avenue, and the improvement of Male avenue from Ninety-second to Ninety-ninth street.

CONTRACTS SIGNED FOR PARK BORES

H. W. Rohl Company Gets Job of Building Tunnels for Figueroa Extension

The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded the contract for the construction of the tunnels through Elysian Park in connection with the North Figueroa-street extension. The contract went to H. W. Rohl Company for $652,789.20. The City Council has allocated $685,000 toward the project.

There are to be three single-bore tunnels, totaling 996 feet, 46½ feet wide, with a 40-foot roadway and a 5-foot sidewalk. The project also includes paving Solano avenue from North Broadway to Figueroa, and the roadway north from the tunnels to Riverside Drive and along the face of the hills.

The contractor is permitted 450 days to complete the job. The date of commencement of the work was not announced.

CENSUS PLANS SMOOTHED OUT

a frame of mind where they will not see the census enumerator. There is a penalty on that kind of activity and the practice has been stopped. There is only one type of genuine census enumerator and he carries government credentials which he will show on request.

OTHER CITIES ALERT

Other cities are working tooth and nail to get all of their people counted and it is up to Los Angeles and Southern California to keep alive on this proposition, it was said. For instance, a letter and census blank were exhibited, having been sent out to Los Angeles by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. San Francisco, it was said, is leaving no stone unturned to get a full count.

"It is up to us in Los Angeles county to do everything within our power to get a full count of our people here," is the way Harry Baskerville, chairman of the citizens' committee, stated it at the meeting yesterday.

Finally, the public was urged not to get nervous about when the enumerator will call. It only adds to the work at headquarters to have to answer thousands of telephone calls from people wanting to know just when the enumerator will call. He will call in due time. If people are not at home he will leave a blank. If a person is going away on a trip—that's different. Then he should call up the nearest headquarters and tell them about it.

Supervisors Fix Title for Dam

The Hansen Dam unit of Los Angeles county flood control disappeared officially yesterday when the Board of Supervisors cleared a point of discussion as to the dam's name by giving it the legal title of Big Tujunga Dam.

The dam, which is one of four flood-control projects proposed for the Big Tujunga Canyon, is now under construction. It has been widely publicised in the past as the Hansen Dam, but is listed in Flood-Control Engineer Eaton's reports as Big Tujunga Dam.

PLANNERS TO MEET

Members of the Association of City Planners will meet for their monthly luncheon on the 12th inst., at the Pasadena Golf Club, Altadena, it is announced by J. A. Mellen, secretary. L. D. Tilton, Santa Barbara, and Arthur Bent will speak. The executive and advisory committees will meet at 11:15 a.m. Luncheon is at 12:15 p.m.

TWENTY-SEVEN-YEAR-OLD MURDER CASE HAS ECHO

Stating that he worked as an undercover operative for the Los Angeles Police Department for four years and one month, beginning in 1903, at $100 a month and has received only $45, E. Frank Campbell of 123 North Broadway, yesterday presented a bill for $4855 to the Police Commission, which he held should be paid out of the secret service fund.

Campbell's communication states he was employed by the department at the request of the late Capt. A. J. Bradish when there was a city-wide hunt for the murderer of George L. Mills, a Los Angeles business man, whose body was found locked in a bedroom at 827 West Sixteenth street. His employment was continued in other lines of work but there was no fund with which to pay him. The secret service fund of $1200 annually at that time was all taken for pay by another secret operator, he said.

President Thorpe said that the board now will find out how the secret service fund is spent. Commissioner Drake held that it isn't spent, that Campbell simply wants it.

The claim was referred to Chief Steckel to take up with the City Attorney.

STUDENTS SEEK CLASH LEADERS

They May be Made to Pay Damages on Car

Police Declare S.C. Co-eds Acted "Lady-Like"

Stopping of Girl Motorist Cause of Near-Riot

Aided by co-operation of the student body, members of the faculty of University of Southern California yesterday launched an investigation in the hope of fixing responsibility for the near-riot in which a crowd of Trojans clashed with police Thursday following a traffic violation by one of the co-eds.

The inquiry, according to President Von KleinSmid, is directed to ascertain the names of students who committed overt acts; and this is taken by police to mean that such students, if their identities are determined, will be compelled to pay for damages inflicted on the automobile of Patrolman Thomas Jensen of University station. Capt. Combes, in charge of University division, stated the officer's car was damaged to an extent of about $40.

CLOSED INCIDENT

Apart from awaiting results of the university's investigation, the affair is a "closed incident" as far as the police are concerned, Capt. Combes said. No arrests have been made nor will be made, the officer declared, police grievance being concerned now only with reparations. Capt. Combes also said he wishes to emphasize the fact that, Miss Joanne Sanger, when Officer Jensen stopped her for the traffic violation of a minor traffic rule, which precipitated the near-riot, acted at all times "in a perfectly lady-like manner." He paid the same compliment to Miss Sanger's co-ed companion. Neither had anything to do with the ensuing trouble, he said.

WOULD FIX BLAME

President Von KleinSmid said the students are as interested in ferreting out the ringleaders as are the faculty members. They have given their assurance, he said, that adequate reparation will be made to Officer Jensen.

The fracas Thursday grew out of a youthful "razzing" of Officer Jensen after he had stopped Miss Sanger for neglecting to give a proper signal as she turned her car into Thirty-fifth street. Booing led to the throwing of a tomato and then to an assault on the policeman's car. Keys were hidden, ignition wires disconnected and air released from the tires. When the crowd closed in and Jensen's hat was knocked off, the officer drew his revolver. Then the reserves arrived and dispersed the crowd.

G. F. Kanowsky Funeral Service Will Be Today

Funeral services for Charles F. Kanowsky, who died at Santa Monica Hospital Wednesday, following a long illness, will be conducted at 9 a.m. today at St. Joseph's Church, Twelfth and Los Angeles streets. Interment will be in a mausoleum at Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Kanowsky, who was 70 years of age, and who lived at Packard street and Hauser Boulevard, was a native of Berlin, and lived in America since 1880. Settling first at Evansville, Ind., he became well known as a manufacturer of furniture, a trade he had learned in Germany.

Coming to Los Angeles in 1915, Mr. Kanowsky established the Western Upholstering Company of which he was president until illness necessitated his retirement from business life.

Besides his widow, Mr. Kanowsky leaves his sons, John, Carl, Walter and Arthur Kanowsky, and his daughters, Adelaide Kanowsky and Mrs. Norma Davis and Mrs. Frances Foster.

'Missing' Mother of Boy Receives Suspended Term

Located by police in the County Jail where she had been arrested on a morals charge under the name of Mary Brown, Mrs. Mary Thomas of 625 Ferris avenue, Belvedere, reported missing since last Monday by her son, John Thomas, Jr., 4 years of age, who visited the police station for the purpose, was given a thirty-day suspended sentence yesterday by Municipal Judge Bullock on condition that she return to her husband and help him care for her son.

The woman pleaded guilty. Judge Bullock suspended her sentence when her husband and the boy pleaded for her.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE IN INJURED CHILD SUIT

After listening to evidence for three days the jury in the $10,000 damage suit of Alden McLellan, Jr., 12 years of age, against the Hollywood Securities Corporation for injuries asserted to have been received in an automobile elevator, failed to agree yesterday. The trial was held in the court of Superior Judge Keetch.

Here is the best kind of news! At the Otto Steiner Co., 210 W. 3rd St. (VA. 8791) you can now buy in time for Easter the finest stainless table knives at the special price of $4 a set—regular $6.50 value they are. Why don't you make yourself a present of a set while the sale is on?

From the picturesque groves of sunny Italy which produce olives of superlative quality the choicest of these olives are selected and thence by the Italian genius and century-old process of refining is produced the famous Castruccio Extra Virgin Sublime Olive Oil. BUY A CAN the next time you call at your grocer's! It will add flavor to your favorite dishes and salads.

Did you know you can get the very best Filipino cook, houseboy, chauffeur or man to do house cleaning by the day at the Filipino Employment Agency, 110 E. First St. (MUtual 1608.)

Orange cocoanut trifle.—Peel four large oranges, remove sections of pulp and arrange in a glass bowl. Sprinkle with one-fourth cupful of powdered sugar and cover with one cupful of whipped cream combined with one cupful of shredded cocoanut.

Plant fertilizer.—Dissolve two ounces sulphate of ammonium and one ounce nitrate of potash in one-half pint boiling water; bottle and cork tightly. Use a teaspoonful to three quarts lukewarm water.

At no other shop in Los Angeles can you have finer plating and repairing of your silver than the Peerless Platers of 239½ S. Spring st. (upstairs) do. Have you not some family heirlooms which you would like to use again? Take them to this concern and have them put in perfect repair at an infinitesimal cost.

A pleasing centerpiece for the table at the children's party is a large imitation pie made of cardboard; place inside the pie a toy or game for each child with a string or ribbon attached leading to the child's place at the table. At a given signal the strings are pulled and the favors come into view.

Cinnamon apples—Make a syrup of one cupful of water and two cupfuls of sugar; when it begins to thicken, add one-fourth pound of old-fashioned cinnamon drops. Peel, core and quarter six or seven apples and drop them into the spicy syrup and cook them awhile. Take the apples out when tender but not too soft. Serve with plain cookies or a dab of whipped cream.

Does your husband need any new shirts—are his old ones in need of repairing? If so, have him see Arthur M. Werner, the custom shirt maker, 111 S. Spring. (MU. 1589.)

Molding clay for children—Take one cupful of flour, one cupful of salt and one teaspoonful of powdered alum and mix them with enough water to mold easily; this makes a very satisfactory and simple molding clay which may be used again and again if it is wrapped in a damp cloth after the children tire of playing with it.

When thousands of people have the same experience with, and acclaim the benefits from the use of a certain product, it is time for those who have not yet discovered this product to break away from old methods and habits and take advantage of modern scientific research.

There are certain objectionable substances in coffee which when taken into the system with the regularity of the daily indulgence in coffee, cause distressing symptoms, which lead to more serious complications.

Science has developed a new coffee and developed a method of preparation by which our most delicious national beverage can be prepared with a more delicious flavor than ever and with these objectionable substances practically eliminated.

There is a reason why thousands are writing letters similaf to the following to the Ben-Hur Coffee Company. Read this letter and be convinced:

Joannes Corporation:
Gentlemen:

I have made the supreme test of your claim that Ben-Hur Drip Coffee, scientifically made in your Filco Healthful Coffee Maker, does not release the poisonous substances. Just to be sure that I was not deceiving myself, I left off coffee Monday and Tuesday of this week, after having drunk it daily for six months, and I didn't have a particle of either headache or dizziness.

Did anybody ever know of anyone, who, after six months' indulgence in unscientifically made coffee could leave it off for forty-eight hours without a splitting headache? I never did. Why I have seen people, under such circumstances, half-crazy! Couldn't concentrate sufficiently to even do physical work, much less mental. After making this test for myself, I shall certainly still more enthusiastically boost for Ben-Hur Drip.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. C. R. WRIGHT.

All the women clients of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association will find Miss Grace S. Stoermer on the first floor of the bank. From Miss Stoermer you may have the same advice and counsel on investments, budget systems and even travel service you were wont to receive on the second floor. To frost glass, electric bulbs, etc.—Take enough white shellac to cover a bulb when dipped in it and make it very thin with alcohol; dip the bulbs in this or brush it over glass to give a thin, even coat. If color is desired, dissolve some egg dye of the desired tint in a little alcohol and mix it with the shellac.

After you have eaten your first Laura C. Scudder famous "Mayflower" Potato Chips you will wonder how in the world you have been able to do without them in the past! So delightfully fresh they are, always of such superior quality besides and, taken all in all, you will want to serve frequently the Mayflower Potato Chips which are sold at all better stores. Don't accept a substitute, however.

To make paste that will keep, dissolve one-half ounce of alum in one pint of hot water; when cold, add enough flour to make the mixture the consistency of cream; then boil, stirring constantly till paste thickens, and add a clove and a little powdered resin.

A novelty swing for the children: Take an old auto tire, the larger the better, and hang it from the top by a strong rope or chain at just the right height from the ground or floor for the children to sit in; it will provide much amusement, even for tiny tots, as it needs no board and the inside rims provide excellent hand holds, besides being noiseless and safe from injury to the children.

One more week left to help you with suggestions for Lent! However, you will find the recipe I am going to give you so delicious that you will want to use it often throughout the entire year. You might be sure it would call for Guasti Cooking Sherry—for what viand is complete without this product given us by our own Italian Vineyard Company?

CREOLE SHRIMPS
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon curry powder
Dash of paprika
Dash of cayenne
1½ cups of milk
3 tablespoons catsup
1-4 cup Guasti Cooking Sherry
1½ cups of shrimp
Toast or rice
Chopped parsley.

Melt butter; add flour, curry powder, salt, paprika and cayenne. Stir in milk gradually. When thick and smooth add catsup, cooking sherry and shrimps. Serve on toast or cooked rice. Sprinkle with paprika or chopped parsley. (Six servings.)

With spring here and the joy of living surging through our blood why not put good use to the enthusiasm which is ours and paint in the most up-to-date manner that old-fashioned furniture which has long been an eyesore to you? It's mere child's play—the decorating and what a thrill to see the disliked articles so vastly improved. Now the first thing you must do is to make for one of Mathews Paint Company's three stores and secure the necessary number of cans of Pratt & Lambert's "61" Lacquer Paint, and the brushes to bring about the transformation. Remember, this particular brand of paint goes on, oh, so smooth and dries while you are talking about it! Here are Mathews' three addresses for you to choose from: There is one at 1245 S. Hill, another at 1539 N. Vine, and a third at 740 E. Green in Pasadena.

An interesting experiment—A pane of window glass can be cut with an ordinary pair of scissors if both the glass and scissors are held level under enough water to entirely cover them. Accurate cutting cannot be obtained by this method, being merely an interesting experiment.

You don't know what splendid floor coverings Fluff rugs (made from your old carpets) make until you use them. Now why not get some right away by calling the Hoffman Rug Works, 2914 W. Jefferson st. (EMpire 2048.) They do such work beautifully and inexpensively as well. Yes, they make colonial rugs from rags.

For the children's party—A novel way of serving ice cream is in the form of a clown's head: place an empty ice-cream cone jauntily on the top of a ball of vanilla cream; mark the features with melted chocolate; or small chocolate candies may be used for the eyes, a piece of candied cherry for the mouth and a strip of date for the nose.

You won't forget, will you, to send all the clothes you no longer need and articles you do not want to the Children's Hospital Salvage Department, 712 Maple ave. (TUcker 1203)? In this way you are contributing to such a worthy charity! Couldn't you send them a bundle this coming week?

You can get those lovely Italian hand-carved stools and chairs which everyone wants to own at H. E. Simank, 725 W. 9th. (TUcker 2462.) Mr. Simank does exceptionally fine upholstering, so why don't you give him a call this next week?

To frost light bulbs—Make a strong solution of alum in water and dip the bulbs into it, allowing the alum to crystallize on the glass; the solution may be colored with various dyes to give a more pleasing effect.

Girl Who Left Babe in Hotel Will be Tried

Geraldine Watson, 23-year-old mother who arrived here Monday to search for her baby, abandoned three months ago in a downtown hotel, was ordered held for trial by Superior Court on a charge of abandoning the 2-weeks-old infant, following her preliminary hearing before Municipal Judge Wood. The court released the girl without bail pending trial.

She was identified by hotel employees as the girl who rented a room in which the baby later was found. It was turned over to police and later legally adopted by a Portland (Or.) woman, records show. The girl said she had abandoned the baby because she was out of work but that she is now working in Phoenix, Ariz., and can take care of it if given the opportunity.

One Motorist Jailed and Two Will be Tried

One motorist was jailed for two days and two others must face Superior Court trial on drunk-driving charges as a result of action against them in Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Valentine imposed the jail sentence on A. P. Donnelly of 3538 West Seventy-first street when he pleaded guilty to running through a traffic signal at Sunset Boulevard and Alvarado street. It was his fifth traffic conviction, records showed.

Judge Turney held Charles F. Taylor, 38 years of age, for trial for drunk driving after witnesses said his car collided with another automobile at 1565 East One Hundredth street. Judge Russill bound over W. B. Johnson, 48, 102 Paloma street, Venice, on the same charge after witnesses described a collision at Washington street and Washington Boulevard, Venice. Both men were drunk when examined, police surgeons reported.

Chamber Group to Tour Harbor

Under the direction of Harbor Commissioner Spear, 100 members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and friends will make a tour of Los Angeles Harbor this afternoon, according to Clifford Rawson, secretary-manager of the Junior Chamber. The trip includes inspection of dockage facilities, warehouses, shipbuilding plants, passenger and freight terminals of both Long Beach and Los Angeles channels, and the proposed outer-harbor pleasure craft anchorage.

Harbor Commission boats will leave Fifth-street landing, San Pedro, at 2 p.m.

HIGH-SOUNDING DISEASES

After reading the program of the Southern California Medical Association to be held at Santa Ana we can understand the doctors' side of the controversy over large fees.

FOR THE "SECRET SIX"

If Chicago means business and is willing to spend the dough, why not import the Shanghai police force? The gangland "terror" is afraid more of a good stiff punch than he is of a bullet.

KISS ONLY BLOWN

It would seem from the explanation of William Allen White about that black kiss at Port au Prince that even news about editors is apt to be distorted. And they can't kick very hard.

ACCIDENT, OR WHAT?

"Large brain needless," Dr. Dandy informs us. After interviewing a few of our forty odd thousand millionaires we suspected the truth of the theory long before the Johns Hopkins announcement.

ALL TOGETHER

Marion Talley at least was consistent. She left all of her old life behind her when she decided to lead the simple life on a Missouri farm. She didn't even care to store those books in the barn.

POOR BOSSY

Tied up in stalls during the milking period, Brandon (La.) cows will have to listen to radio music in an experiment to induce better production. They can't turn the darned thing off, but they can kick over the pails.

DOESN'T HIT HOME

Many a man who votes for moderation in a country-wide straw ballot that will carry no weight, would hesitate to vote against prohibition in a legal election, when he considers the effect repeal may have on his own home.

WERE KIDDING US

Just when we were beginning to believe that Chicago meant its reform ballyhoo a retired gangster spills the beans by letting it be known he has been awarded the contract to supply coal for Central Police Station. Why not pension these fellows, so that they may live in their $100,000 homes in ease?

SATURATION POINT

The crime cycle in plays and stories seems to be going the way of the short skirt. While they are still in vogue, New York's biggest theatrical hits are being turned in by comedies and extravaganzas. Chicago's penchant for crime evidently is robbing the authors of new thrills to picture.

THE THREE-POWER PACT

The conclusion of a three-power pact at London is, as Senator Reed remarks, no victory for any nation. It represents a common-sense agreement among the three powers concerned, in which no essential national interest is sacrificed. But it is, nevertheless, a victory—a victory for all the people of the United States, of Great Britain and of Japan; and of the world, too, for that matter, since it may well exercise a powerful influence on all other nations. Whether or not it leads to the five-power agreement which was the object of the London Conference, it is a distinct step in the direction of reduced and limited armament, and sets an example which world public opinion will tend to enforce.

In the face of such an agreement, it is unlikely that either Italy or France, though they may refuse it formal acceptance, will violate its spirit and proceed to naval expansion on any serious scale. But formal acceptance by both Italy and France is by no means hopeless. The Italian demand for paper parity with France is still a sticking point, but the French requirements for a Mediterranean security pact seem likely to be modified so that they can be met. The latest indications are that France will accept assurance from Britain alone, and will not ask the United States to enter even a consultative pact.

The objections to a consultative pact raised by some of the isolationist Senators are supremely silly. Thus Senator Borah is quoted as complaining that "in a consultative pact you conceal what you are going to do after you have consulted, but you will be forced by the logic of the hour to do precisely what you would have expressly agreed to do in a security pact." As the New York World points out, if the "logic of the hour" will compel action, it makes no difference whether there is a treaty or not, and failure to sign will not save the nation from entanglement.

A similar muddle is disclosed by Senator Shipstead, who insists that "to agree to consult is to agree to decide; to agree to decide is to agree to act; to agree to act is to agree we are going into the next war." Following out such a logical chain, Senator Shipstead would find himself compelled to vote on every question precisely as, for example, Senator Grundy does. To agree to sit in the Senate with the well-known Pennsylvanian is to agree to debate with him; to agree to debate with him is to agree to be convinced by him; to agree to be convinced by him is to agree to become Senator Grundy's rubber stamp. One of these sets of contentions is not more absurd than the other.

But with Senators offering such stuff in the guise of reasoning, it is plain that not even the most innocuous consultative pact could get through the Senate without a deal of trouble, and that the disarmament treaty itself might be put in jeopardy if it were coupled with consultation. President Hoover is right in wishing to avoid such a situation.

If war clouds threaten the peace of the Atlantic, there will be consultation, pact or no pact. An American administration which did not make every effort to stop a war would be universally condemned.

Under the tripower agreement as outlined in dispatches, it appears that the United States and Great Britain will reduce battleship strength at once, Japan within a short time; there will be a minimum of new construction; Japan, to keep shipyards busy, will be allowed to replace some cruisers and destroyers, but no submarines, and in compensation will scrap some warships before their due date; Japan will accept, temporarily at least, a lower cruiser ratio than she has asked for. The principle of parity between the United States and Great Britain will be maintained. Some details remain to be worked out, but are not expected to raise obstacles.

It is also announced that a general agreement limiting submarines to cruiser warfare has been reached. This is the next best thing to abolishing them. It is not to be confined to the three powers, but is agreed to by both France and Italy.

Even if the London Conference does no more, it has achieved very substantial results and has completely justified its convocation. It may be pointed out that if the Hearst campaign which started a couple of weeks ago to compel the American delegates to return, had been successful, the world would have been balked of this very considerable achievement in the reduction of war implements. Fortunately, no more attention than usual was paid to the Hearstian edicts.

STUDENT RIOTS

Thursday's affair at U.S.C., which one or two local papers attempted to magnify into a student riot, had, fortunately, no serious consequence, but it illustrates one of the difficulties of conducting a large university and a large city in the same area. It takes a good deal of tactfulness, forbearance and good judgment, at times, to prevent clashes between students and police. It is questionable if officers who drew their guns in Thursday's affair demonstrated any of these qualities. The action may not have been a technical violation either of law or of police regulations, but it was something worse, an offense against common sense.

A similar display of bad headwork was in evidence last fall at the Coliseum, when sap-sticks were wielded in an effort to protect a set of $10 goal posts. Only officers with good self-control and a sense of proportion—a sense of humor is also a valuable asset—ought to be assigned to duty in the vicinity of collegiate institutions.

Not that all the fault was on the part of the officers. Students, of course, must conform to the law as must other citizens. They owe the community the duty of being orderly and of respecting traffic and other rules. But student disorder, in this country at least, rarely consists in more than noise and is customarily good-natured; it has no genuinely criminal element and will automatically keep itself within bounds. Students are not entitled to be considered a privileged class; but on the other hand their ebullitions of spirit need not be taken too seriously.

The college authorities and the self-governing student body have taken steps in the present case to prevent recurrence of such incidents. It might be well for Chief Steckel, on his part, to consider if some changes of personnel at University Station are not advisable, with a view of having more harmonious relations maintained.

GOOD NEWS FROM IRELAND

News of the re-election of William T. Cosgrave to the Presidency of the Irish Free State will be hailed with joy by most Irishmen and their friends in other countries, interested in the continued prosperity of the Green Isle. For eight years this capable executive has managed the affairs of the Free State, turning it from the rocky road of salvation by bloodshed and rebellion to the highway that leads to a surer footing through developing native arts and commerce.

At a time when the Free State has traveled so far along this new highway, it would have been a disaster to have substituted for this constructive statesman, the irresponsible, hot-headed, wandering Eamonn De Valera. Eight years of steady progress and peaceful relations with their old enemies across the Irish Channel have practically obliterated the animosity engendered through the long struggle. Both contestants are now satisfied with the result.

De Valera's only reason for attempting a comeback is to rekindle the old flames and disturb the present harmonious conditions of Great Britain and Ireland. Having won their freedom the Irish of the Free State evidently are willing to let bygones be bygones. It is noticeable that the fulminations still directed against the government at Westminster by Irish scribes emanate from Chicago and not from Dublin. The Irishmen at home realize that John Bull is their best customer and they are too wise to be led into a quarrel with so large a part of their bread and butter.

The short interregnum of five days and the decisive majority by which the Dail Eireann re-elected William Cosgrave is the best index of the true sentiments of the Irish people.

RECALL IN PORTLAND

Those patent medicines, the initiative, the referendum and the recall, seem to work about equally dissatisfactorily everywhere, but a proposal to recall the entire Portland city government, consisting of a Mayor and four Commissioners, has brought to light a new kind of dilemma, according to the Oregonian.

It appears that when members of the City Council are recalled, the places are to be filled in the same manner as other vacancies. This the charter provides. The charter also provides that vacancies in the City Council shall be filled by appointment by the City Council; easy enough when only one or two Commissioners leave office at once—but how about when all five are ousted at the same time?

Then, Portland will either have no government, or the retiring Commissioners will appoint their own successors, or on the theory that they continue to hold office until their successors are duly chosen, they will keep on just as if there had been no recall!

It looks as though the architects of the Los Angeles city charter must have exchanged notes—in view of the troubles the Bell cement-plant referendum is experiencing.

RELATIVITY

By James J. Montague

The caveman's life was rough and hard,
With many woes to sour him;
He always had to be on guard
Lest hungry bears devour him;
But had he any sense or tact
He might have said, "What of it?"
Because the lucky caveman lacked
So many things to covet.

Though born beneath an evil star,
His lot was quite a sad one;
He did not wish he had a car
Because his neighbor had one.
Nor did he look with envy at—
He had no cause for malice—
The leading local plutocrat
Who had a massive palace.

Nobody had a car to drive;
Nobody had succeeded;
There was not any soul alive
Who had more wealth than he did.
His wife could never sulk and pout,
Or tear her raven tresses
Because some other dame turned out
In costly Paris dresses.

It irks us quite a bit today
That many folk we see are (Or we believe so, anyway)
Far happier than we are.
The caveman, in his clothes of fur,
Was seldom fussed or daunted,
Because in that far time there were
Not many things he wanted.

WELL, we do hope women drivers of airplanes aren't going to be quite as changeable of mind as women drivers of automobiles.

For the ladies are going in for aviation. The Women's Aeronautic Association of California has several hundred members. And the other day a junior division of it was organized in Los Angeles with Bobbie Trout as chairman and thirty-two members, all girls between the ages of 16 and 25. They are going to buy a glider and, among other things, make it possible for girls who cannot afford to own planes to learn to fly.

And Long Beach is ahead of us in that. Long Beach has a junior division with forty-seven members, headed by Virginia Blue, a licensed pilot.

The Women's Aeronautic Association meets the first Wednesday evening of every month at the Biltmore. It is said to be the largest local women's aeronautic association in the world.

Solo Flights

Sometimes we think people who take flights of fancy, as well as aviators, should first be compelled to take tests and secure a license.

A woman announces that while living in Reno long enough to establish legal residence she will write a book. That may explain the way a lot of books are written.

Looks as if We're Doing It

The Blythe Times assumes that Los Angeles will respond to President Hoover's plea to build and create prosperity by erecting 20,000 more filling stations.

How Good Is Your Memory?

There are many wonderful people in Los Angeles. But the most wonderful, to a forgetful chap like us, is David M. Roth.

Roth is internationally known as a memory expert. He can teach you how never to forget your wife's birthday or even your wife's letters. He can teach you how to remember the names of all the people you meet at a party. He can, in fact, accomplish the impossible.

At one banquet at the Biltmore Roth gave a demonstration none of those present will ever forget—showing how he improves one's memory. Three hundred and fifty persons were present. Roth had each of them write his name on a numbered slip, retaining the stub with a corresponding number. Then while a speaker was entertaining the crowd he looked over the slips, fixing the names and the numbers in his mind. After that, as soon as anyone anywhere in the room called out his number, Roth responded with the name, without a single mistake.

Another miracle Roth is fond of performing in public is that of writing down, from memory, a whole column of figures which has been called to him.

Says Anyone Can Remember

"I got interested in memory training when a young man, because I had a very poor memory," Roth says. "I studied all the courses I heard recommended. I found that most of them hinged on association of ideas. Of course you know the famous story about association of ideas—the story of the man who met a Mr. Rummick and thought he could remember that because it rhymed with 'stummick.' So next time he met that man, in a crowded room, he recalled that his name rhymed with a nickname for stomach and stepped up confidently, exclaiming: 'How are you, Mr. Kelly!'

"But I developed methods which have pretty well avoided such mistakes, and at a meeting in New York, called by the Editor and Publisher, I had some 250 persons introduced to me and then called them by name, starting with the first of them, after the introductions were completed. I failed to remember the names of two or three, but recalled all the others all right. That caused considerable stir at the time and shortly afterward resulted in the organization of a movement to forward my courses in memory training."

"Addison Sims of Seattle"

Everyone who read the magazines about a dozen years ago became familiar with the advertisements of that enterprise, which was fostered by the publishers of the Independent. The advertisement most used began: "Of course I place you. Mr. Addison Sims of Seattle. If I remember correctly—and I do remember correctly—Mr. Burroughs, the lumberman, introduced me to you at the luncheon of the Seattle Rotary Club three years ago in May." The Independent published a book for Roth and in the next year his royalties on it amounted to $100,000. And Addison Sims became perhaps the best-known name in American mythology.

Roth has been living in Los Angeles for a number of years and, though he has retired from business, continues to lecture continually. Business houses and corporations get him to lecture before their employees, as do business colleges and other schools. He believes that in two lessons he can teach anyone to make proper use of his memory.

But we, alas, never took his course. And as it has been a week since we interviewed him; we've lost our notes, and we don't dare write any more about him.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Under the Direction of Dean Rockwell Hunt

XIV

THE SUMMER SESSIONS

BY DEAN LESTER B. ROGERS

The summer schools, or summer sessions, of American universities have within a single generation come to hold a very significant place in the field of higher education. Springing from very modest beginnings, the summer session of the University of Southern California has become one of the most striking illustrations of the remarkable growth of the university as a whole. Without doubt it now occupies a high place among the best recognized institutions of its kind throughout the country.

In response to the requests of the teachers in the public schools for an opportunity to pursue work that would advance them in their profession and lead toward a degree, certain members of the faculty united in announcing a limited program for the summer of 1905. Courses were offered in biology, Latin, philosophy, mathematics, physical education and oratory. The total enrollment for the opening summer session was probably not more than 100, but it was sufficient to encourage these faculty members to repeat their program during subsequent summers.

Like many new enterprises the summer session was organized and administered, not as an integral part of the university, but as a private undertaking under the control of the members of the faculty giving work. The university granted the use of the buildings without charge, but the promoters had to defray all operating expenses. At the close of each session expenses were prorated among the faculty according to the number of students enrolled in their classes and to the extent of the use made of the university facilities.

During this period when the summer session was under private control the fees and tuition were not uniform. The compensation of each instructor depended upon the number of students enrolled. In 1911 one instructor received $49.50 while another received $410.28 for the six-weeks period. Briefly, each instructor selected the courses to be offered, the amount of credit and the tuition charged.

According to the bureau of statistics the number of students enrolled and the number of professors offering courses during the period of private control ranged from six professors and approximately 100 students to fourteen professors and 157 students.

Due to the differences in credit given, tuition charged and remuneration of instructors and the fact that the summer session had established itself sufficiently to warrant the university in taking it over, the summer session of 1912 and all sessions thereafter have been organized and administered under the administration of the university. In the year 1911 the university had been officially accredited by the State Board of Education to train secondary teachers. This increased the demand for work in the summer and made necessary the standardization of admission requirements, fees, credit, etc. Dr. Thomas Blanchard Stowell, head of the department of education, was appointed dean and served in this capacity until his retirement from the university at the close of the summer session, 1919. Dr. Rockwell D. Hunt, now dean of the graduate school, was appointed dean of the 1920 summer session. Since that date Dr. Lester B. Rogers, dean of the school of education, has served in this capacity.

From 1912-1915, inclusive, the summer-session staff was made up entirely of appointments from the regular university faculty. In 1916 a number of visiting instructors were added, including Dr. E. C. Moore, professor of education at Harvard University (now director of the University of California at Los Angeles.)

It appears that teachers and others in Southern California were pressing the University of California to organize and maintain a summer session in Los Angeles. To meet this request President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California suggested to President George F. Bovard of the University of Southern California that arrangements be effected whereby there would be an exchange of instructors during the summer and a common acceptance of the work completed. A Los Angeles newspaper, under date of September 22, 1916, published the following statement:

"The University of Southern California and the University of California will co-operate next year in their summer sessions, according to President G. F. Bovard of the University of Southern California, and Dr. Walter M. Hart, dean of the summer session at the Berkeley institution.

"Several of the strongest men from the University of California will come to Los Angeles for the summer, while some of the men from the big Los Angeles institution will go north for the same period.

"An arrangement will also be perfected whereby prominent eastern educators will come to the Pacific Coast to give lectures at both universities."

The program referred to seems to have been more of an informal understanding than an official agreement, but was an influencing factor in the organization of the 1917 summer session. The staff for this year included, among the visiting and exchange professors, the following from the University of California: Dr. Richard G. Boone, professor of education; Dr. Charles Edward Chapman, assistant professor of history; Mr. Perhan Nahl, instructor in drawing and art anatomy, and Dr. Granz Schneider, instructor in German.

This co-operative plan, worked out by President Wheeler and President Bovard, was in effect only one year. At a meeting of the regents of the University of California held April 10, 1917, the following recommendation of the finance committee of the regents was approved and confirmed: "That the university declare it its purpose to hold a summer session in Southern California in 1918 under its sole management and control, the place for holding the Southern California summer session to be a matter of immediate investigation and decision."

The administration of the University of Southern California, however, decided to continue its policy of maintaining the regular summer session. The wisdom of this decision has been shown by the continued and substantial development since that date. Since 1921 there has been a substantial increase in the enrollment each year over that of the preceding year, even during the summers when other institutions in the State suffered a decrease. In 1929 the enrollment in the regular summer session alone reached a total of 3710.

The new requirements for certain State credentials and the demands of students for larger opportunities for study during the summer led to the expansion of the summer-session program in 1924. The program was organized in two divisions, an eight-weeks division opening the third week in June and a six-weeks division opening the first week in July. The first division met the needs more particularly of teachers outside the city and State, while the six-weeks division accommodated teachers in public schools which did not close until the last week in June. There also was organized a "post-session" of four weeks, thus making it possible for teachers and students to complete a maximum of twelve semester units in one summer.

The announcement of the City Board of Education that the Los Angeles public schools in 1930-31 will begin and close one week earlier than usual will make possible further revision of the summer-session organization. The eight-weeks division will be discontinued and the twelve-weeks summer-session program will be divided into two equal parts. The first, consisting of six weeks, will begin some time during the third week in June followed by a five-weeks session, six days per week, closing the Saturday before Labor Day. This new schedule will become effective for the summer of 1931.

The policy initiated in 1916 of supplementing the regular faculty with a number of men from other institutions, who have attained prominence in their respective fields, has become an established policy. In 1929 the summer-session staff consisted of seventy-three resident and sixty-five visiting faculty instructors. This practice has been made necessary by the increased enrollment and especially the remarkable demand for instruction on the part of graduate students. Approximately one-third of the 5000 students enrolled in the combined summer sessions of 1929 were college graduates. Each year the States of the Southwest and the Middle West supply increasing numbers of students—the majority of them being teachers—eager to avail themselves of the superior academic opportunities while spending the summer vacation in Southern California. This is but another of the many attractions of the Southland as a great cultural and artistic center of ever-increasing importance.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Television and Talking Pictures?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

The technique of television and talking pictures will be taught in a very simple course, which nevertheless will cover all of the essentials of the subject. The course will be given on Monday and Wednesday evenings, 7 to 9, at the Manual Arts Evening High School, Forty-second and Vermont. There is no charge of any kind and people of all ages are admitted without examination.

At present the class is reviewing the elements of electricity especially direct and alternating currents. The next lessons will be on different radio circuits, television and broadcasting pictures by wireless, and talking pictures, including explanations of how sound is filmed and reproduced and how it is projected to the screen.

The instructor is D. M. Morandini, who formerly lectured in Budapest on Einstein's theory of relativity. After coming to Los Angeles he planned the first three sound-proof stages which the Universal Picture Corporation used.

Auto Tires in Color

The craze for color has taken the form of a demand for automobile tires to match the car. In Great Britain and on the continent automobile manufacturers are offering vehicles on which the tires match the body of the car perfectly. The claim is made that the tires thus treated with the special material designed for the purpose, are preserved and, therefore, last much longer, but the principal object is the harmonious color effect.

PEN POINTS

We are a brave people and press ourselves frankly on questions if we have nothing to lose by it.

If only this seal for the protection of navies, crops, and could have some effect on man.

Now the scientists say that ignorant people live longer than others, but they don't know what others.

History leaves so many blanks. It doesn't tell whether timers lived long because spinach or tooth paste.

The best way to preserve der memories of an old heart is to move away and won't see her at 40.

Poverty doesn't cause crime. It just seems that way when the poor criminal can't employ a mistrial.

Perhaps statesmen seem slow at times, but do you like what you think regardless of effect on your job?

Americanism: Giving the dependent your sympathy because he's the underdog; patronizing the monopoly your patronizing because it sells cheaper.

If censors are to judge a book as a whole, instead of selecting isolated passages, why not judge a man that way, too.

Evils cure themselves. In time, soon the government will raise wheat and cotton acreage by renting surplus land to store surplus crops.

With all its faults, a lighter is better than matches. Matches may wear thin, but they don't split when you stoop over.

Man may be superior in many ways, but he can't smile only twice and make somebody else to pay for his lunch.

And many a girl who starts out to be free succeeds only in being cheap.

There's always a detour. On streets where there are no traffic cops, children are so thick you can't do seventy without danger of bending a fender.

Why shouldn't a boy go in debt for a ring his girl can show proudly? He might as well do his part of his training before marriage.

Correct this sentence: "I saw the new neighbors moving in," said she, "but I didn't notice what kind of furniture they had."

The man who blows his own horn is always a soloist ready to respond to an encore.

It's a well-trained conscience that can be taught to speak up when it is spoken to.

A girl isn't getting a bargain just because she marries a man who isn't rated very high.

To a wife a husband is worth twice as much where he is employed as he is bothering around home.

Now Gentle Annie is here and we welcome her with much delight, and hang some garland on her neck, and bless her by the name of Heck. The winter has been wild and long; the elements all got in wrong; the north winds roared across the flats and frose our whiskers and our hats, and if we looked out doors to see what happened to the mercury, unless we were fleet back in a trice, we were converted into ice. The winter made us stand aghast, we suffered in the bitter blast, we jogged around, with many groans, to borrow temperature fourteen bones so we might buy a ton of slate or coal to fill the empty grate. Our anguish were most intense; the winter seemed to have no sense; the snow was heaped against the wall where there should be no snow at all, and everywhere it fell no useful turn, and people broke their slats, and walked three blocks and said "Rats!" Now Gentle Annie comes along, with smiles and becks and cheer-up songs, with hints of pleasant zephyrs balmy and singing birds and babbling brooks, and happy flies and bumble bees and all such pleasant things as these. Now Gentle Annie brings us skies as blue and cloudless as her eyes, the light of moonlight on the snow we forget the frozen nose, the chilblains and the smarting stings that every bitter wind brings. While yet the cold was used to fret we thought we never would forget the snow and the pain and dole, the constant shoveling of coal, the groaning and the grief of plumbers and the butcher's bill; but Gentle Annie comes, she smiles, she beams in fragrant styles, and lo, our troubles fade, we gambol in the glade.

this spring, and here's a foundation that does the trick perfectly. It gives a softly moulded bust, a waistline that does justice to belted frocks and smoothly swathed hips.

Bring yourself and your corsetry problems to us. We've a BIEN JOLIE line of spring foundations designed to smooth down obstreperous curves and give lines of such flowing loveliness that you'll find yourself quite a different person. Our new garments are designed by BIEN JOLIE and you know what that means for fit.

SAM WOOD WILL DIRECT GILBERT

Milton Sills Signing Long Contract With Fox Films; Roy J. Pomeroy Will Direct R.-K.-O. Feature; Television for Tiffany's Show

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer gets hold of a good man, he usually sticks.

So we aren't at all surprised to learn that that astute organization has signed Sam Wood again on a long-term contract.

JOHN GILBERT

Not only this, but the word is forthcoming that Wood is to direct Gilbert in his next starring picture, "Way for a Sailor."

"Way for a Sailor," was written by Albert Richard Wetjen as a novel. Now it has been put into talking film form by Laurence Stallings. Most of the picture will be filmed at sea, and it is understood that many distant nautical points, including the sea coast of Hawaii and possibly of Havana and Alaska, will furnish background for the story.

Wood plans to go into production with the Gilbert picture next week, following on the heels of "Father's Day" and "The Girl Said No."

MILTON SILLS GETS CONTRACT WITH FOX

As predicted in this column a while back, Milton Sills is signing a long-term contract with Fox Films.

Though out of films due to illness for more than a year, Sills staged such an excellent comeback in Fox's "A Very Practical Joker," just completed, that the organization decided not to let him go.

MILTON SILLS

Sills's first picture for Fox under his new contract will be a talking film version of "The Sea Wolf," which Hobart Bosworth, you may remember, starred in, both as vaudeville playlet and silent picture, a few years ago.

Al Santell is scheduled to direct "The Sea Wolf," which is to be made one of the big Fox specials.

Pomeroy's First for R.-K.-O.

Now that that artist and genius among mechanics, Roy J. Pomeroy, is all set with R.-K.-O., it is interesting to learn that the first story under his contract has been set.

ROY POMEROY

The story will be adapted from the war play, "Inside the Lines," and Betty Compson will play the feminine lead, with actual camera work scheduled to start within ten days.

Much of the plot is laid in Gibraltar, a locality with which Pomeroy is thoroughly familiar, he being an Englishman by birth and having spent some time in that locality.

Television at Home

If all goes well, Tiffany will broadcast 200 feet of Tiffany's classic, "Journey's End," from New York City Monday via television.

Definite details of the hour, wave length, power and other factors in the broadcast are not yet settled upon. However, Hans Wecren is preparing a set for Tiffany by which to attempt to receive the broadcast in Los Angeles, probably at the Mayan Theater, where "Journey's End" will open Thursday.

Alice White Film Picked

Alice White hardly finishes one picture before she is assigned another one over at First National studios.

ALICE WHITE

Miss White's next vehicle, we learn, is to be entitled "The Chicago Widow." No director is yet assigned, I believe.

At present the star is busy finishing up "Man Crazy," with Eddie Kline directing.

The star is hoping for a few weeks in which to take a trip to New York before she begins work on the new story.

Dorothy Mackaill May Join Fox

Dorothy Mackaill, we learn, is very likely to cast her lot with Fox Films within the next few weeks.

Miss Mackaill's contract with First National will expire on July 1, and it is understood that star and film concern have already agreed to part. Miss Mackaill has appeared in a number of First National's most successful pictures.

Writer Is Proud Dad

F. Hugh Herbert, scenario writer at First National, was proud as Punch yesterday. And all because he is dad to a baby daughter, born yesterday morning at the Hollywood Hospital, where mother and child are doing well.

Nugent's Fine Role

Elliott Nugent, the youthful stage actor and playwright, who recently scored in several talking-picture hits, was yesterday given one of the best roles of the season. He is to play Hector, the romantic lead in Lon Chaney's first talking picture, "The Unholy Three," which Jack Conway will direct for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The young actor was co-author with his father, J. C. Nugent, of the play "Kempy," which scored so heavily in New York a few years ago. He has appeared in a number of M.-G.-M. pictures.

Robert Armstrong at R.-K.-O.

That very excellent actor, Robert Armstrong, has, we learn, been signed by R.-K.-O. to play the leading role in "The Railroad Man," to go into filming soon.

Louis Wolheim will also be in the cast, which renews an association between leading man and heavy which began in "Shady Lady," over at Pathe.

Armstrong recently completed a long-term contract with Pathe, and has been free-lancing. He played leading roles in "Dumb-Bells in Ermine" for Warners, and "Be Yourself" for United Artists.

Star and Director Leave

Bound for New York, where they will work together as star and director in "The Sap from Syracuse," to be made at Paramount's Long Island Studios, Jack Oakie and Edward Sutherland have left Los Angeles on the Santa Fe Chief.

This will be Oakie's first visit to New York, the city where he attended high school and got his stage start, since he came to Hollywood a little more than two years ago to enter the films.

Universal Short Comedies

Now watch out for something good. Charles Murray and George Sidney are to be teamed by Universal in a series of short subjects, the stories of which are to be written by Nat Carr, while Nat Ross will direct.

Orpheum Plans Gala Midnight Performance

Announcement of a midnight show, with personal appearances of stars, noted vaudeville headliners, lights and all the regular trimmings, has been made by the Orpheum Theater. Plans call for the personal appearance of Joe Cook, well-known comedian, as the headline attraction. Cook is here to make a talking picture.

Taylor Holmes, local Duffy favorite, will appear through the courtesy of the Henry Duffy organization, in conjunction with the showing at the Orpheum of his comedy, "Dad Knows Best." Barbara Stanwyck, Ralph Graves, Lowell Sherman, Nance O'Neil, George Fawcett, Juliette Compton and Johnny Walker, members of the cast of "Ladies of Leisure," current fil mat the Orpheum, will also make personal appearances.

In addition to this, the Orpheum has arranged a complete vaudeville program.

UPTOWN HONORS SCOUTS

Seven hundred and fifty Girl Scouts of Los Angeles will be guests of the Uptown Theater today, honoring the birthday anniversary of Mme. Gerna, noted city welfare worker. Mme. Gerna will accompany the Girl Scouts to the theater. Through the courtesy of the Pathe studio, the Uptown guests will witness "His First Command," starring William Boyd. Tonight, "Street of Chance," starring William Powell, will be shown.

ROLE COMPLETED

Betty Compson has completed her starring role in "Hawk Island" for R.-K.-O. and will take a vacation of ten days before beginning work in "Inside the Lines," her second vehicle under the contract she signed with that company a few weeks ago.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

ANDY WRIGHT, who is presenting the political play, "Philadelphia," at the Vine-street Theater, yesterday threw his hat into the local drama ring for keeps, with the announcement that he had taken a five-year lease on the theater.

Furthermore, he said, the producing activities of the Wright office in New York will be immediately transferred to Hollywood. And "Philadelphia" will run ten weeks, which is quite a run in this town.

That isn't all. Mr. Wright's next production will be a new original musical comedy, "Souvenir Sadie." Following that will be an original drama, "Color Blind," by Samuel John Park, which is described as a tragedy of the South.

The entire front of the Vine-street is going to be revamped to look like a brand new playhouse. Hollywood playgoers won't recognise it except as the Andy Wright theater. An addition will be built on the roof to house the general offices. And to top this all off, there will be some new electric signs.

New Musical Starts in North

Just for a change, a new musical is starting its way in San Francisco instead of Los Angeles. It is "Hi There," sponsored by Paul Bissinger, a wealthy San Francisco resident and Stanford graduate. Alexander Leftwich, for a number of years connected with the Shuberts, is staging the show.

Ken Murray and Odette Myrtil, both of whom have been seen locally in vaudeville, head the cast of principals. Others who will perform are Lester Vail, Teddy Walters, Frank Beason, Billy Griffith, Helen Charleston, Milton Charleston, Foster, Fagan and Fox, Williams and Spaulding. The show will be built on the lines of "The Little Show," with which Leftwich was identified in New York.

Pichel in Santa Barbara

"Wings Over Europe," the Theater Guild play, is being shown for the first time on the Pacific Coast in Santa Barbara this week, according to a message from Irving Pichel. This is the drama that the Pasadena Playhouse promises to do in the next six weeks with Maurice Wells.

Miss Greenwood to Chicago

Some folks may be surprised to learn that Charlotte Greenwood is on her way to Chicago with a play called "Mebbe," and further that Miss Greenwood has been performing in this in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Well, "Mebbe" is none other than our old friend "She Couldn't Say No." Henry Duffy decided to change the title because of the motion picture which used the same name, but not the same plot. "Mebbe" opens in Chicago at the Erlanger Theater on Easter Sunday.

"Children of Darkness"

Up in San Francisco, Charles L. Wagner, who is producing "Paris Bound" with Madge Kennedy, says he has the rights to "Children of Darkness," the poetical drama of seventeenth century London in which Basil Sydney and Mary Ellis are now appearing in New York. Mr. Wagner is talking about this or "The Tyrant," the Rafael Sabatini drama with Joseph Schildkraut, as his next effort in the West. He probably won't do either until he makes a trip to New York, he says.

"In Dalarna and Jerusalem" is Lengthy Narrative on Sons of Soil

BY ELENA BOLAND

A long and divided narrative pictures for Filmarte audiences of the week Dr. Selma Lagerlof's novel, "In Dalarna and Jerusalem."

It was directed in Sweden and in the Holy Land by Gustav Molander, who has in his cast such talent as Lars Hanson, Conrad Veidt, Mona Morthenson and Ivan Hedquist.

It is a tale of village life, acquainting one with the many inhabitants, all living in that degree of superstition that is always present among those who grow up with the soil.

In the midst of a storm portentous with ancestral curses, appears the Stranger, an eternal wanderer who tries to leave behind him, on his travels, faith and peace. For the few who will believe, there are many who resent, and strife and unhappiness reign about him.

There is the story of Gertrud and Ingmar Ingmarsson, who are to be married, but to get back the farm of his people, which is the only thing that matters to him, Ingmar marries another whose father buys back the place for them.

Here it is that Gertrud, under the Wanderer's influence, forsakes all earthly love and goes with the little band of believers to Jerusalem. Everywhere she sees a figure whom she thinks is Christ and word travels home that she is mad. In love with his wife by this time, Ingmar nevertheless sets out to find Gertrud and restore the wrong for which he holds himself responsible.

He does find her and also this man who, it turns out, bears only a resemblance and is nothing more than a whirling dervish. Gertrud's reason is restored and she takes Ingmar back to his wife and politely fades into inconsequence.

There are too many side plots to mention here, but they add to the deeper significance of the film and stress the religious message. Although the picture is too long and too involved to be widely popular, it still has a number of attractions.

The performances are all good even though they carry that European intensity which seems to us at times to be out of place.

The scenery is of especial interest. Molander has been generous in giving the maximum of outdoor shots and his choice of Sweden's beauties is appreciated. The Holy Land sequences were also photographed in the exact locale and add an unusual atmosphere. Village costumes and ceremonies lend color and a picturesque quality.

"Hit the Deck" Seen on Screen

Supplies appeal and talent in the film version of the noted stage musical comedy. The picture is on display at the Fox Palace Theater.

Neuhaus Group Presents Play by Karl Capek

BY JACOB COOPER

There was not much opportunity to flatter ability in the vehicle with which Ulrich Haupt chose to exhibit his prowess as a director. Nor was "Das Makropoulous Geheimnis," presented last night by the Neuhaus German group at the Windsor Square Theater, representative of the capabilities of Karl Capek, whose "R.U.R." and "The World We Live In" brought him out to advantage.

As presented, the story of the Makropoulous secret was a combination thriller-melodrama, with the accent on the latter half. Besides the quest for the eternal lost, strayed or stolen document, there was thrown in the eerie element of the century-old prima donna who held on to life and youth through the elixir prescribed in the "secret," and whose love-life ran on even unto the third and fourth generation.

It was by no means in the class of plays which the Neuhaus group has heretofore presented. It gave no great opportunity to its actors who, in many instances last night, were not as good as they could have been. The lines lacked brilliancy and even freshness and in their trend brought action and gesture to the point of overobviousness. There was a decided feeling throughout that the actors either did not get into sympathy with the play or else had overworked it to the point of becoming jaded. In the work they have done before they have shown themselves consummate and highly talented.

At any rate, one not-so-successful play cannot be held to their discredit. The way they began their season with Schiller's "Kabbale und Liebe" indicated potentialities which should win them a warm and hearty audience, and with their lighter moments now over, it is to be expected that their next group of plays will bring fulfillment.

Comedian Will Play New Role

The regular midnight matinee of "Hold Everything" at Warner Brothers' Hollywood Theater tonight will find Joe E. Brown, star of the presentation, selling tickets at the box-office. Patrons will also receive autographed photographs of the noted comedian.

DESERT MUSICAL PROVING POPULAR

Perry Askam

Lillian Albertson's new production of "The Desert Song," starring Perry Askam and Josephine Houston at the Majestic Theater, will end its run in a week. The popular musical is replete with pleasing melodies and colorful costuming. Most of the original cast are to be seen in the revival.

Perry Askam portrays his old role as the Red Shadow. Miss Houston, who scored in "The New Moon," reaches a new height of popularity, it is said. Following "The Desert Song," Miss Albertson will open "New Moon" in San Francisco.

'Journey's End' Contains Novel Love Interest

Although "Journey's End," stage success, which will be presented in talking-picture form at the Mayan Theater beginning Thursday night, is generally referred to as a story without a single woman in the cast, the fact remains that it has perhaps the most peculiarly presented love interest attempted in a motion picture. The girl, however, is never seen.

Secondary to the hero worship of the schoolboy, Raleigh, for his idol, Stanhope, and the study of manhood under war conditions, is the interest of Stanhope in Raleigh's sister, back home. This love interest motivates many of Stanhope's actions toward the boy, yet his character is so warped by trench life that the girl is no more than a memory.

SINGING OF SCHIPA IS APPLAUDED

Varied Program Presented to Large and Appreciative Auditorium Audience

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Schipa, popular idol, sang to a crowded Philharmonic Auditorium last night and his public was satisfied. The program was largely operatic with the addition of all the expected encores. Frederick Longas, the astute accompanist and pianist, contributed his share to the success of the concert. Caressing, lovely tenor tones charmed the lovers of romance in music and even the occasional commonplace songs were glossed over by the great beauty of Schipa's voice.

Debussy's "Mandoline" and "Il mio tesoro" from Mozart's "Don Giovanni" were outstanding on the concert list, but after hearing this marvelous voice again I am convinced that the disturbing sameness of his songs is not due to his selections (last night they were widely varied enough) but is attributable to the similarity of mental approach he manifests toward each one. There is so little variation. Always, there is beauty of voice, tenuous phrase, exact intonation and a gracious generosity, but never does he lose himself in the story of his song. He does not bring you a message, he brings you himself.

Schipa uses songs for his own purposes. One does not feel that he consecrates his art, for his singing is fine art, to the composer. His is not the "lonely task of the passionate seeker of perfection." His part is to be feted by the multitude and the crowd of Los Angeles paid its tribute with hearty applause until a late hour last night.

Smallman to Present Bach Mass Tonight

The musically judicious have awarded the palm for might and sublimity to Johann Sebastian Bach's "Mass in B Minor," it is claimed. The work will be performed tonight at the Shrine Auditorium by the Los Angeles Oratorio Society's chorus of 250 voices, John Smallman, conductor.

The work was given last year, for the first time west of Chicago. Sixteen singers, the majority of whom took similar parts in last year's performance, will be heard in solo groups tonight. All have been selected from the oratorio chorus and have been working on the mass during the last three years.

CHURCH PLANS CELEBRATION

Disciples of Christ Honor Dr. Brown Tomorrow; Other Religious Services Announced

Musical and speaking programs of exceptional interest will feature the services at South Park Christian Church tomorrow, in celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of the pastorate of Dr. Bruce Brown. Dr. Brown will preach in the morning and evening and at 5 p.m. he will give a lecture over KGEF.

Friday evening the brotherhoods of all Disciples of Christ churches in Los Angeles will give a reception to Dr. Brown at his church. Mayor Porter will be the principal speaker. Thirteen years ago the church had only sixty-two members and the congregation worshiped in an unfinished basement. Hearing that there was talk of disorganizing the church, Dr. Brown volunteered to try to guide the stranded members into the harbor of success. Within the pastorate of Dr. Brown 2500 persons have joined the church and the congregation now worships in a handsome temple which is free of indebtedness.

HIS PLANE WILL BE FLYING GAS TANKER

Col. Pablo Sidar

An Emsco high-winged monoplane capable of carrying 1000 gallons of gasoline—the greatest capacity of an airplane ever constructed in Southern California—will be completed within three weeks at the Downey plant of Emsco for Col. Pablo Sidar, chief of the Mexican Air Forces.

Sidar plans a series of good-will flights this summer to connect the United States, Latin America and South America.

The tremendous tankage will allow the pilot to travel approximately 5000 miles without landing.

A 425-horsepower Pratt-Whitney Wasp motor is being installed in the nose of the craft. When Sidar takes delivery on his ship it is reported he will start off with a nonstop flight from Los Angeles to Mexico City.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Test Way to Health"

PEAS, BEANS AND LENTILS

Beans have been regarded by some of the old schools of dieticians as one of the finest substitutes for meat because they contain a large amount of protein. When I first experimented with dietetics I soon discovered that while beans undoubtedly contain a large amount of protein, it is a form that is not readily digested and causes flatulence even when eaten by healthy people, and, of course, naturally a great deal more gas with one who has a disturbed digestion. This seems to be because of the large amount of starch contained throughout the bean, and because of a peculiar cellular construction which makes it difficult for the digestive ferments to penetrate into the protein of the bean.

There are a few exceptions to these general remarks about beans. The first is the string bean which, when taken young, before the beans have fully formed, makes an excellent nonstarchy vegetable that can be used in combination with any other food, even by sick people. Another exception is the soy bean which contains so little starch as to place it in the nonstarchy group, and for this reason it has been used for a numbers of years in diabetic diets. It is extensively used as a food in China and Japan and undoubtedly furnishes the principal protein of these nations. It has not yet become popular in the United States or Canada. Its protein is a little more difficult to digest than meat, but because of its small starch content, it is quite superior to the ordinary navy beans, and may be used in the same way that you would combine any other protein food. The soy bean has the advantage that one can grind it into a flour and use it for making biscuits, gravies and as a breakfast cereal for those who must remain on a nonstarchy diet. Another good bean which is distinctly in the advance of the remaining legumes is the lima. This is because lima beans are exceedingly rich in alkaline elements, and consequently a very valuable addition to the menu in cases of acidosis. The lima bean is slightly gas forming unless one has a strong digestion, but not nearly as much as some of the other dry beans. Lima beans may also be ground into a flour and used in biscuits if one desires, although it must be remembered that they contain quite a large amount of starch. When eaten they should be soaked overnight and well cooked so that the particles of cellulose are thoroughly softened to permit the penetrating of the digestive fluids. Lima beans may also be used in the green state in which case they need not be soaked overnight, but used as a fresh, starchy vegetable at a non-protein meal. There are no other beans which I would recommend for the average diet.

Other legumes closely related to beans are peas, grabanzos and lentils. Peas are a wholesome food if used in the green state and are not as gas-forming as beans. They are a starchy food and when used should only be combined as you would starches. If you like, the green pods may be cooked with the peas. Lentils are one of the most ancient of foods used by man, but they are somewhat like beans, difficult to digest unless they are finely ground or mashed. Grabanzos contain a large amount of protein and as much as 6 per cent of fat. They are the principal protein food in Spain and North Africa. They are, like beans, difficult to digest, and should not be used by those with weak digestions when other better forms of protein are available. They are, however, quite alkaline-forming.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

CHICKEN AND PEAS IN CASSEROLE

One tablespoonful of butter, one tablespoonful of flour, three-fourths of a cupful of milk, a seasoning of salt, paprika, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, one cupful of cold, cooked chicken, one-half a cupful of cooked peas, and three-fourths of a cupful of bread crumbs. Melt the butter, add the flour, and slowly pour in the milk, and stir until thick. Add the salt, paprika and parsley. Place a layer of the chicken in an oiled baking dish, on top of it a layer of the peas, and then pour over some of the sauce. Continue until the amount has been used, sprinkle with the bread crumbs, dot with bits of butter and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

EGGS WITH TOMATO CATSUP

Take individual ramekins, butter them well, and sprinkle with a layer of bread crumbs, over this sprinkle a layer of grated cheese, break two eggs on top of the mixture, season with salt and paprika, and mix together one tablespoonful of cream and two tablespoonfuls of catsup for each egg. Cover with a few buttered bread crumbs, that have been mixed with a little finely chopped parsley. Place in the oven and bake until the whites of the eggs have set, and the crumbs are brown.

BAKED CHOCOLATE CUSTARD

Two cupfuls of milk, one-inch piece of stick cinnamon, three tablespoonfuls of ground chocolate, three eggs, one tablespoonful of boiling water, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, five tablespoonfuls of sugar, scald the milk with the cinnamon, and as soon as scalded remove the stick of cinnamon. Mix the chocolate with the sugar, and boiling water, mix until smooth, then add to the scalded milk. Beat the eggs slightly add the salt to them, and combine the two mixtures. Strain into slightly buttered cups, set in a pan of hot water, and bake in a slow oven until firm, which may be determined by testing them with a silver knife. If the knife comes out clean, the custard is baked.

PINEAPPLE AND BEET SALAD

One cupful of small cooked, beet cubes. One cupful of pineapple, cut in cubes. Combine the beets and pineapple, and add enough pineapple juice to cover. To each cupful of pineapple juice, add one tablespoonful of lemon juice, allow the mixture to stand in the ice box overnight. Drain, serve on shredded lettuce, with a spoonful of mayonnaise.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to baby and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 3 weeks to 2 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, abnormal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, part of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, rupture, adenoids, colds and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these topics, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not listed, write the doctor. Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

IF YOUR BABY IS NERVOUS, CHECK UP ON YOURSELF

Nervousness is one of those words which is badly misused. The adult sometimes knows when she is nervous but she is not so accurate in recognizing the condition in her baby or child. The tiny baby is certain to jump at loud noises or loud voices, and later on may add strange faces to his list of aversions. But as all babies have these peculiarities they are hardly fair criteria of nervousness.

The small runabout is deemed nervous because he can't sit still. This does not indicate nervousness, but abounding health and energy which explodes all day long into activity.

When baby's feeding cannot be blamed for extraordinary irritability, unusual sensitiveness to all kinds of sounds, to the ordinary handling baby receives, to an inability to sleep for any length of time, we may rightfully call him a "nervous baby."

To root out the possible reason for such exhibitions of nervousness we must then turn a critical eye upon the person taking care of baby. We are apt to discover that baby is a victim of the nervous and erratic handling of a nervous mother or nurse.

NERVOUS BABY REFLECTS HANDLING

Adults need not be told that some persons by their very presence cause them to feel nervous. "I'm just a wreck after a visit with Mrs. Wilson," one is wont to remark. "She makes me so nervous!" Put that type of an individual in care of almost any baby and very soon he will be in a state which surpasses that of the adult. Baby can protest in only one way. He can show his nervousness only by crying and fretting and failing to sleep. He cannot refuse to countenance the unwelcome caretaker, so he has to put up with being handled too much or too roughly or too excitedly, to being stimulated by too much talking and laughing about him, to constant movement and excited demonstrations of affection. Watch a nervous mother. She is never quiet. Instead of holding baby calmly on her lap, even if he is motionless, she keeps up an almost constant up-and-down movement of her knee. If he so much as turns sideways, she is ready to forestall a cry, by shaking a toy in front of him, or holding him on his poor little crumpled up legs and pushing him up and down in the air.

"Look at mama, darling. Cheechee-chee! Up and down goes baby. Up-se-daisy."

A few moments of this treatment and baby begins to cry. Then it goes on at an even madder pace. Everything on earth except quiet and composure. Movement, sound, tossing about. It exhausts one to watch such a mother, and the baby whose body responds so sensitively to touch and whose ears are thrilled by sound, has to react constantly to these various stimuli, all more exaggerated to him than they would be to an adult. And an adult couldn't stand such treatment for five minutes! Picture for yourself the result on a young, tender baby. It is quite beyond the point to say a baby is born nervous because his mother is, for that is not an accurate statement, but certainly a nervous mother can make the baby nervous in a few short weeks of such treatment.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

MRS. QUACK GETS HER CORN

Judge not all men by just a few;
'Twould be unfair this thing to do.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

Peter Rabbit would like to have talked all night with Mrs. Quack at the Smiling Pool, but Mrs. Quack was tired and presently she rejoined the other Ducks and Peter was left alone. Now, Peter is a good-hearted little fellow. He remembered what Mrs. Quack had said about wishing that she might have a dinner of corn. He remembered it and he wished with all his might that he could tell Farmer Brown's Boy that Mr. and Mrs. Quack and their friends had arrived and wanted some corn. But he couldn't. Of course not. There wasn't any way for him to tell Farmer Brown's Boy.

Peter was so excited by the return of the Quacks that he decided not to go home that night. Of course, he should have been home by daylight. He should have been over in the dear Old Briar-patch. But he wasn't. He was still over there in the alder swamp on the edge of the Smiling Pool where the Laughing Brook comes in. Mr. and Mrs. Quack and their six friends were awake very early in the morning. Peter could hear them talking together in low tones. He couldn't hear what they were saying, but he could tell that they were deciding on something very important.

After a while Mrs. Quack swam over near Peter. "Good morning, Peter," said she. "I have some news for you."

"What is it?" cried Peter eagerly.

"We have decided to stay here to rest for another day," replied Mrs. Quack. "We were going on, but Mr. Quack and I are very fond of the Smiling Pool, so we have decided to stay another day. You see, it is very quiet and nice here, and then, too, we can easily get to the Big River where the wild rice grows."

"I am glad you are going to stay," cried Peter. "I do wish Farmer Brown's Boy would bring some corn over here for you."

Suddenly Mrs. Quack lifted her head high and sat very still listening. "I hear a dog," said she. "I hear a dog barking. I have never heard that dog before when I have been here."

Peter cocked his ears and listened. Then he grinned. "That's a new dog," said he. "That's a new dog living at Farmer Brown's. He isn't a bit like Bowser the Hound. He's little and quick. I have to watch out when he's around. If you'll excuse me, I guess I'll go and see where he is."

"I hear a dog," said she. "I hear a dog barking"

So Peter Rabbit hopped along up through the alders and finally poked his head out where he could look across the Green Meadows. Flip the Terrier was racing about just for the fun of running and all the time barking. Back of him was Farmer Brown's Boy and at the heels of Farmer Brown's Boy trotted Bowser the Hound.

"I wish," thought Peter, "that I could get Farmer Brown's Boy over here to the Smiling Pool. If he could once see those Ducks, I know he would get some corn for them. I know what I'll do. I'll go back and tell Mrs. Quack to fly over to the Big River. If she and her friends will do that, Farmer Brown's Boy will be sure to see them."

So Peter hurried back to the Smiling Pool. "Farmer Brown's Boy and that dog I told you about and Bowser the Hound are coming!" cried Peter. He hadn't intended to frighten Mrs. Quack, but this is just what he did do. Mrs. Quack at once gave the alarm signal and took to the air. All the other Ducks followed. They headed straight for the Big River.

Peter stared after them for a moment. Then he scampered back to a hiding place in the alder swamp. For a long time nothing happened. Then Farmer Brown's Boy suddenly appeared on the bank of the Smiling Pool. He began throwing corn out into the water. Peter grinned. He knew then that Farmer Brown's Boy had seen Mrs. Quack and her friends when they flew to the Big River. So it was that when they returned at dusk that night they had their dinner of corn.

LIQUOR PARTIES DISTURB WIFE

She Gets Divorce Decree On Story of Attempts to go With Husband

Mrs. Mildred M. Carlin gave up church work so as to go more with her husband, Charles V. Carlin, but he took her to drunken parties she could not tolerate, she declared yesterday when asking Superior Judge Yankwich to grant her a divorce.

"Once, too, I found a girl's handkerchief in his pocket and when I asked him about it he told me to mind my own business," Mrs. Carlin said.

DO YOU WANT SIZE OR SOAP?

WHEN you buy soap, the only way you can tell how much you're getting for your money is by the weight of the package. Size means nothing. A large carton full of soap flakes or bubbles can contain actually less soap than a carton of White King Granulated Soap half its size!

That's because White King Granulated Soap is condensed. It packs closely in the carton, like powdered sugar. And it's absolutely pure and safe . . . for blankets, dishes or lingerie.

White King Granulated Soap is not only the safest but the most economical soap you can buy. A little of it goes a long way. A teaspoonful to the basin of water, or a capful to the tub—no more! Your grocer has it.

LUMBER FIGHT WILL GO HIGHER

Hammond Company Asks for Supreme Court Hearing

Case Will Go to Washington if State Plea Fails

Assessments of Leasehold Interests Involved

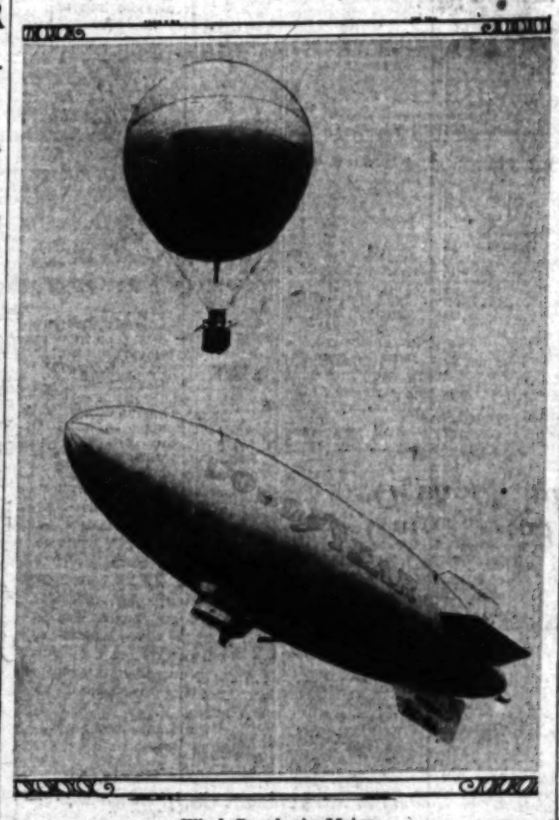
With the announced intention of carrying the case to the United States Supreme Court in the event he fails to obtain a favorable decision from the California Supreme Court, Attorney R. L. Horton, representing the Hammond Lumber Company, filed a petition with the State's highest tribunal yesterday seeking a hearing of a suit against Los Angeles county over the valuations and assessments of leasehold interests in the Los Angeles Harbor District.

The case has been argued before the Board of Equalization, Superior Judge Collier and the District Court of Appeal. The Appellate Court found against the lumber concern in a lengthy decision and denied a petition for a rehearing.

Attorney Horton contends that the assessor should have assessed the appellant's limited possessory interest at its market value. Instead, he asserts, the assessor adopted the "capitalization method," an arbitrary system not based, he maintains, upon any statute or recognized practice. The method, he said, was to take as a basis the value of the fee, which he declared was entirely erroneous and not contemplated in the law relating to assessments of leasehold interests; then, he continued, the assessor capitalized the rent at an arbitrary sum, $5000 an acre, deducted this from the fee value and multiplied the result by the number of acres.

The attorney asserts that the county would profit considerably from the "overvaluing of limited possessory interests." Moreover, he says, the system of assessing harbor leases will have the effect of driving industries from the harbor district.

Training Pilots for Ocean Flights



Wind Supplants Motor

Goodyear free balloon making test of valve and ballast control, accompanied by blimp Volunteer.

BALLOON RIDES SEA WINDS

Successful Test Made of Controlling Course by Valving Gas and Dropping Ballast

Using winds for power instead of motors a Goodyear racing, training free balloon with five men aboard shot up from the Goodyear airship dock at Sixty-seventh street and Central avenue yesterday afternoon, sailed out over the ocean, was blown back again and landed in a field near the Baldwin Hills on South Western avenue.

Then to demonstrate that the rudderless and motorless gas bag can be directed by valving out gas and dropping ballast, Lieutenant-Commander Karl Lange took off again and landed in the same field an hour later within fifty feet of the first stop.

ACCOMPANIED BY BLIMP

While the training bag was in the air the Goodyear blimp Volunteer, equipped with motors and control surfaces, hovered around the balloon, Bud Campbell, pilot of the blimp, carrying on a conversation with Lange and the four student pilots in the balloon's basket.

The balloon at one time reached an altitude of 6000 feet during the two hours aloft. Students in the basket were C. F. Hill, A. T. Hunt, Richard Colburn and Fred Lueders.

PURPOSE OF TRAINING

They are four of the six men being trained by the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation to form the nucleus of crews expected to man the proposed trans-Pacific airliners, scheduled to be placed in operation in 1932.

Each student will be required to spend six hours in a free balloon and make at least one solo flight before being awarded a lighter-than-air craft pilot's license.

NEW POLICY ANNOUNCED IN CHARITIES

County Cases in Private Sanatoriums Put Under General Hospital Staff

Marking an important change in the charity policy of the county, Supervisor Shaw yesterday instructed Superintendent of Charities Holland to place all county charity patients who are in private sanatoriums under the supervision of the General Hospital medical staff.

Under the new policy, according to Shaw, greater efficiency will be obtained and it is hoped there will be a decrease in the number of long-term cases dependent upon the county charities department.

A number of patients have been maintained recently in private sanatoriums and hospitals due to the overcrowded conditions prevailing at county institutions.

Under the new plan county patients in private institutions will be visited regularly by physicians from the General Hospital and will be removed to a county institution as soon as room is available.

Bootleg Blaze at Bay City in "Times" Film

Flames destroying $500,000 worth of bootleg liquor at San Francisco furnished a thrill in the latest issue of the Times - Universal news reel to be shown at local theaters. Dry agents spilled the seized liquor on the Bay City's dump and set fire to it. This and other subjects are described by Graham McNamee, talking reporter of the news reel.

Other news in this issue of the Times-Universal news reel includes Commander Eckener of the Graf Zeppelin receiving a gold medal in Washington, a Chicago dog show, a military review at Prague, a devil dance in Bengal and many others.

JURY LAUDS POLICEMEN IN SLAYING

Shooting of Bank Bandit Declared Justifiable in Verdict at Inquest

Justifiable homicide was the verdict returned yesterday by a Coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Louis McKenzie, alias Joe Luby, bank bandit who was killed while resisting arrest Thursday. The jury commended Police Sergeants A. A. Campbell and Z. Y. Gruey and Officer Brown for their bravery under fire in recognition of their determined pursuit of the bandit who fired back at them continuously during a five-mile chase after he had held up the Security-First National Bank branch at Hollywood Boulevard and Normandie avenue.

The bandit's body will be shipped to his brother, Robert McKenzie of Chicago, police announced after the inquest.

Police department records reveal that the three policemen have been under fire before. Five years ago Campbell and Gruey answered a burglary call from the home of Mileaway Thomas in Beverly Hills. When the officers approached Thomas and his men mistook them for hijackers and opened fire on them. Brown, while detailed to the Wilshire division seven years ago, responded to a call from an Ivoio-street address, where a burglar was in the house. The burglar killed Brown's partner, Officer McGee, and traded shots with Brown.

Fight Started to Gain Custody of Orphan Child

A fight for the legal custody of Arlene Woods, 5-year-old orphan girl, was precipitated yesterday in Superior Judge Scott's court when Mrs. Rose Woods of 1136 West First street, brought a writ of habeas corpus in court asking for custody of the child.

Mrs. Woods charged through her attorney, S. S. Hahn, that Vivian Marks, the child's mother, had returned after five years and had taken possession of the girl whom she averred had been given in her charge by Mrs. Marks when but 10 days old.

Judge Scott denied the habeas corpus writ and remanded the child to custody of the Juvenile Court pending the filing of proper adoption papers by the foster mother and a hearing of the mother's claims.

TEACHER'S FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral rites will be conducted at the Little Church of the Flowers at 2 p.m. today for Miss Marguerite Featheringill, school-teacher, who died Wednesday. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Mausoleum, Glendale. Miss Featheringill was 24 years of age and a native of Los Angeles. Her home was at 1761 Phillips Way. She leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Featheringill.

CONTEST FIELD NARROWS DOWN

Eliminations Fast Decimate High School Ranks

Arizona and Nevada Report Finalists' Lists

Banning Girls in A-9 Grade Champions There

Schools which yesterday filed certificates of prize winning orators, with Times Oratorical Contest bureau:

Burbank Senior High, Eleanor Jones, first; Charles Smith, second.

Huntington Beach High, Velma Wentzell, first; Dorothy Hamren, second.

Phoenix (Ariz.) High, Alfred Baughn, first; Charmion Middleton, second.

Point Loma High, Tom Pepler, first; Sylvia Atkinson, second.

San Diego Army and Navy Academy, Robinson E. Stevenson, first; Howard L. Butler, second.

Simi Valley, Thomas Connell, first; Arthur Harrington, second.

Brawley Union, Ray Bohannan, first; Pauline Kilgore, second.

Bishop Union, Lloyd Burke, first; Jim Powell, second.

Returns from Arizona and Nevada are being received by the office of the contest manager for the Pacific Southwest zone in such large numbers as to indicate a more general participation in the National Oratorical Contest on the Constitution than ever before; in harmony, in this respect, with all other divisions of the zone.

The Arizona Republican gives an extended illustrated account of the contest held at Phoenix by the high school of that city in which nine orators participated. Alfred Baughn was awarded first place in the contest and Charmion Middleton second. Baughn's poise, the pleasant naturalness of his voice and the logic of his oration won the judges. Baughn was winner of the school contest on the Constitution last year and placed third in the State finals. The extemporaneous feature was adopted by the Phoenix contest management, and in this also Baughn excelled.

ONE HUNDRED COMPETE

Lyle Brewer was first at the Mesa (Ariz.) Union High over eight other contestants, and Dorothy Peterson second. One hundred and ten orations were written, representing 20 per cent of the school enrollment. The contest was so spirited and the orations were of such uniform excellence that Lyle Brewer, Dorothy Peterson and Grant Levins were recalled to the stage and requested by the judges to repeat their orations.

RICHARD FRASER

Metropolitan High, Los Angeles, at a spirited contest yesterday, named Joe Maguire to represent the school in the district meeting, with Harold Cone second. There were more than a score of entrants, all of whom were wage earners. Metropolitan High School co-operates with the United States Department of Labor and Employment Bureau of the government, and the winner from this school will be watched with considerable interest.

CALEXICO CHAMPION

Sparks (Nev.) High School held its finals yesterday and Paul Fontana was placed first, Donald Butler second and Mary Williams third. There were seven contestants in the finals of twenty who started.

Richard Fraser, 16 years of age, senior in Calexico High, won the right to represent his school in the Imperial Valley finals yesterday when he was awarded first place in a group of seven contestants. The second place was given to Marion Tweedy. Fraser's oration was on the subject, "Sentries of the Night," and compared the Constitution to a silent watchman standing guard constantly, over the destinies of the American people. Judges of the contest were Rev. R. L. Lewis, Mrs. Norman Folkinhorn and J. M. Ostrey. The Imperial Valley finals are to be held at Calexico on the night of the 11th inst.

JOE MAGUIRE Board Prize

At the contest at Eagle Rock High yesterday Barbara Major, speaking on "Women and the Constitution," was awarded first honors, while Mary Watkins, with "The Constitution and Its Origin," placed second.

GROSSMONT WINNER

Burton Bailey was the winner at Grossmont, San Diego county, yesterday. Grossmont has always taken a keen interest in the contest and though not a large school, had twenty-seven in the elimination contests. The surviving eight contested for the right to represent their school in the district finals at the San Diego Military and Naval Academy at Pacific Beach on the 11th inst. The subject of Bailey's oration was "Freedom of the Individual Under the Constitution." Edward Gibbs was second with an oration entitled, "The Citizen, His Rights and Duties under the Constitution." Nancy Godwin, speaking on "The Launching and Development of the Constitution," was placed third. Others participating were Margaret Bair, Harriet Merrick, Charles Hettrick, Betty McLean and Helen Brunson. The judges were six members of the faculty. In addition to the prizes awarded by The Times of $10 to the first and $5 to the second, the Associated Student Body gave gold, silver and bronze medals to the three winners.

CATHOLIC GIRLS COMPETE

The Catholic Girls' High School, in a contest held yesterday, chose Ethel Waters for first place and Mary Beatrice Arne, second. Miss Waters spoke on "Taft and the Constitution," and Miss Arne on "Genealogy of the Constitution." Mrs. R. T. Taylor presided, and Mrs. Albert Higgins, Mrs. J. A. Fink and Miss C. McGee acted as judges.

Margaret Pierce, a member of A9 class, was awarded first place in the Banning Junior High School and Bonnie Burns received second honors. Other participants were Helen Snyder, Evelyn Hansen and Margaret Stevens. The judges were Charlotte Sultan, Esther Swart and Edgar Hansen, all of the faculty. Mrs. Weiss presided.

FRENCH LEGION PRISONER MAY BE LOST ANGELENO

Languishing in the Orleansville military prison of the French Foreign Legion in far-away Algeria, there is a mystery soldier whose identity the State Department at Washington is trying to determine.

Is he Merlin Pritchard of Vincennes, Ind., as the latter's mother, Mrs. E. J. Pritchard, who is now living in Cushing, Okla., has insisted to government authorities? Or is he James Carroll Grove of Los Angeles? John E. Nattress of 1614 South Wilton Place believes the man is Grove, his nephew.

After weighing all the known circumstances surrounding the mystery soldier who stirred up an official investigation recently, when he was reported as having announced himself to be Pritchard, a supposedly long-dead and buried veteran, Nattress yesterday expressed firm belief that the prisoner will prove to be Grove.

Grove, a mentally incompetent veteran of the World War and ward of the government, disappeared from the Nattress home in August, 1926, when he was 40 years of age. His uncle immediately distributed thousands of bulletins, in which he offered a reward of $500 for information leading to whereabouts of the missing man.

Several months ago dispatches from Vincennes, Ind., told of American Legion officials receiving a letter from a soldier in the Orleansville prison, who represented himself as Merlin Pritchard of that city. War records showed, however, that Merlin Pritchard was killed by machine gun fire in 1918 and was buried later in Vincennes.

Indiana Legionnaires subsequently received from Algeria one of the bulletins advertising Grove's disappearance. It bore cryptic scribblings, evidently written by one of the prisoners of Orleansville, in which the names of Merlin Pritchard, James Grove, Frank De Brukers, Roy Robeson and others were mentioned as being inmates of the bastile.

Since the investigation was launched dispatches from Algiers have stated the mystery soldier enrolled in the Foreign Legion as "Frank O'Brien" and that he was incarcerated in July, 1928. They declared the man "talks constantly of Indian life and writes scores of letters;" and, according to Nattress, these are outstanding characteristics of the missing Grove. In describing his nephew in the bulletins, Nattress wrote in part: "His chief topic of conversation probably will be in regard to the Sioux Indian wars and stories of the Wild West."

Nattress said yesterday he is confident that fingerprints, asked of the French government by the State Department will establish the mysterious prisoner as his long-missing nephew.

TEMPLE OF BEAUTY SITE DESIGNATED

Incorporators of Unique Institution Will Break Ground in August

Within the year Los Angeles is to have the world's first temple dedicated exclusively to the restoration and preservation of feminine beauty, it was announced yesterday when the State Corporation Commissioner authorized a group of local capitalists to establish the Hollywood Institute of Beauty, Inc. A site in the metropolitan area commanding a view of the ocean has been selected and ground will be broken on or about August 1, next, with completion of the first building units scheduled for fall.

Alexander Swan II is president of the organization and a member of the board of directors, which includes Joseph B. Comstock and Mildred J. Caldwell of Hollywood and R. A. Stapleton, E. D. Bates and Carl Z. Jackson of Pasadena. The latter is president of the Pasadena Board of Education.

The institute, Swan announced, will be devoted to the practice of all rejuvenation treatments known to beauty culture and although not a hospital it will have a house surgeon at the service of patrons. All departments will be in charge of recognized experts, who now are being recruited from beauty salons of the country.

Son Gets Bulk of Blackstone $160,000 Estate

Nathaniel B. Blackstone, pioneer merchant, left the bulk of his $160,000 estate to his son, Henry Winthrop Blackstone, 1228 West Twenty-eighth street, according to the terms of the will filed for probate yesterday.

Bequests of $250 to $1500 each were made to nine nephews and nieces, and $10,000 was put in trust to provide an income for Mrs. Cordana Blackstone, a sister-in-law.

The testator's son will serve as executor.

Memorial Day Meeting Called

Members of the 1930 Memorial Day general committee yesterday were notified by E. R. Cheeseman, chairman, to meet at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday in Patriotic Hall, 1816 Figueroa street. Reports of the various committees will be received, and plans will be perfected for Memorial Day observance, the chairman announced.

Harry J. L. Atwood, secretary, requested all delegates to attend the meeting.

Police Praised For Riot Work

Commendation for the manner in which Lieut. William Hynes of the Red squad handled the recent demonstration of radicals in front of the City Hall early in March is contained in a communication received by the Police Commission yesterday from the Philanthropy and Civics Clubs of 1419 South Wilton Place. It was signed by Bessie D. Hopkins, corresponding secretary, who stated she wished to add to the many commendations given Lieut. Hynes and his squad.

CATALINA AIRPLANE TERMINAL CHANGED

Flights to Catalina in Western Air Express planes hereafter will start from the airport of the Aero Corporation of California instead of from the Western Air Express field on Valley Boulevard, it was announced yesterday. The base has been changed to speed up the service through avoidance of congested traffic en route to the Valley Boulevard field.

CLUB GROUP SUPPORTING BOND ISSUE

Civic Bodies Federation in Western Area Urges Need of More Water

Drawing attention to the fact that the city's Water Bureau is a self-supporting utility and further emphasizing the city's need for additional domestic water supplies, the West Los Angeles Federation of Civic Clubs, representing nine separate business and property owners' organizations, yesterday adopted resolutions approving the $38,900,000 water bond issue on the May 20 election ballot.

According to Lewis H. Fixen, secretary of the federation, the organization voted unanimously to support the water bond issue and to work actively for the bonds.

In its resolutions, the federation draws attention to the fact that the tremendous growth of Los Angeles in recent years has been made possible, in a large measure, because of the water made available from distant sources. These water supplies must be augmented, it is pointed out, if Los Angeles is to continue to grow and present property values are to be protected and safeguarded.

Unanimous approval of the water bonds also was voted yesterday by the Ames Luncheon Club, composed of alumni of Iowa State College now residents of Los Angeles.

Film Lion Made Club Member

Leo, the M.-G.-M. lion, was made honorary member of the local Lions' Club at the Biltmore yesterday noon.

Leo did not make the usual entrance to the Lions' luncheon but was parked in his cage at the Grand avenue entrance of the Biltmore and the Lions adjourned to that spot, where President Clem Glass and Secretary Harry Stevens duly conducted the induction ceremonies. The studio was presented a bronze plate testifying to Leo's new honor.

The noonday speaker was Judge Valentine, who made a plea that the decent drivers be extra careful in observing the traffic laws, so that the reckless and defiant may be the more readily weeded out and suppressed.

INSTITUTION SEEKS PICTURES OF RELICS

The Smithsonian Institution has requested Bruce Bryan, Los Angeles archeologist, to supply it with photographs of the artifacts unearthed by him recently during excavation of the ancient Indian burial ground at Carpinteria, Bryan announced yesterday. Relics taken from the field include a fishhook of steatite, or soapstone, a conical steatite pendant, a bone flute, an incised grave-marker, a stone maul, a grooved fishline striker and numerous other articles of stone and shell. Bryan is seeking to establish relationship of these Chumash remains to the Channel Island Indians and also to the better known Pueblo tribes of the Southwest.

Scribe Observes Date of Wedding

Wallace Smith, novelist and scenarist, celebrated his sixth wedding anniversary yesterday by completing the last chapter of his new novel, soon to be published. Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained a group of friends at their home, 3312 North Knoll Drive, in celebration of the event.

Smith is now engaged in the scenario department of the RKO studios. He was formerly a war correspondent and at one time served as a colonel in Villa's army.

PERMIT REVOKED FOR KINDERGARTEN

On the ground that she failed to co-operate with the Los Angeles Health Department in the maintenance of health regulations, the Health Commission yesterday voted to revoke the permit of Mrs. Wilhelmina Mann to conduct a private kindergarten school at 1585 West Adams street, the order to take effect in two months. The action was taken after a second hearing, which was attended by W. L. Stevens, the new commissioner appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of former Commissioner Larsen.
